

WHICH CLASS SHALL I TAKE????

REGISTRATION

NNCC Fall Registration is underway

7-21-93
EDFP

Registration for Fall Semester 1993 begins this week at Northern Nevada Community College. Residents of Northeastern Nevada can expect copies of the Announcements and Course Roster, NNCC's class schedule, at their home mailboxes shortly after July 19. Residents who receive mail only at a post office box and not through home delivery will need to pick up a copy of the schedule at Student Services, Berg Hall.

Students who will be attending NNCC for the first time will need to fill out an application for admission available at Student Services. They should also plan to take advantage of the special services available at NNCC including placement testing, counseling, orientation, and financial aid.

Director of Admissions and Records Lynn Mahlberg states, "Students may register from the comfort of their home or office by utilizing NNCC's TOUCH or telephone registration system. The TOUCH system is in operation Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturdays, 12 p.m. to 10 p.m., and Sundays 12 p.m. to 6 p.m. Instructions for the use of TOUCH are detailed in the class schedule. Any individuals who are uncomfortable using the TOUCH system or who experience difficulties may receive help at Student Services. This year, TOUCH has a couple of new features. The "shop" feature will help enrollers find open sections of courses with multiple listings and TOUCH will now accept payment by credit card."

Returning students are encouraged to review the new grading policy that was implemented by the Board of Regents for use in Fall, 1993 and the new Student Right-to-Know policy. Information on both may be found in the schedule.

Community Calendar items deadline is Friday

COOL!

The NNCC
Fall 1993
Announcements and Course Roster will arrive in your mailbox
the week of July 19.
"Zero" in on it.

EDFP 6/29/93

NORTHERN NEVADA COMMUNITY COLLEGE
901 Elm Street - 738-8493

Who's who: UCCSN contacts 1993-94

UCCSN Faculty Senate Chairs

Alan Balboni, CCSN	3200 E. Cheyenne Ave., North Las Vegas 89030	643-8060
Phillip C. Boardman, UNR	University of Nevada, Reno, Reno 89557	784-4025
Diane Dietrich, Unit	4505 Maryland Parkway, Las Vegas 89154	895-4558
Scott Hawkins, NNCC	901 Elm St., Elko 89801	753-2259
Dan McClure, TMCC	7000 Dandini Blvd., Reno 89512	673-7104
Alan McKay, DRI	P.O. Box 60220, Reno 89506	673-7384
Mark Melrose, WNCC	2201 W. Nye Lane, Carson City 89703	887-3090
John Swetnam, UNLV	4505 Maryland Parkway, Las Vegas 89154	895-3689

UCCSN Student Body Presidents

Melody Carlyle, NNCC	901 Elm St., Elko 89801	753-8493
Angel Chipman, CCSN	3200 E. Cheyenne Ave., North Las Vegas 89030	643-8060
Jim Grogan, UNR	University of Nevada, Reno, Reno 89557	784-6589
Don Isler, TMCC	7000 Dandini Blvd., Reno 89512	673-7203
Joel Kostman, UNLV	4505 Maryland Parkway, Las Vegas 89154	895-3477
Mary Anne Lavelle, WNCC	2201 W. Nye Lane, Carson City 89703	887-3085

82 12-29- 93 NNCC offers orientation

New and returning students can find out more about Northern Nevada Community College during orientation and advisement sessions scheduled over the next few weeks. Counselors Debbie Heaton-Lamp and Phil Smith will conduct campus tours, tell about campus activities and discuss topics which will enhance college success. Students are required to attend one session, unless they are taking less than six credits, have already completed more than 45 credits, or enrolled in Community Service classes only.

Topics for the sessions include enrollment procedures, placement testing, academic advisement, degree requirements, financial aid, the transfer center, tuition and fees. The full array of support of services on campus will be discussed.

Admission to NNCC is kept as open as possible, although some courses often have prerequisites and some courses may be limited by their nature. NNCC provides a wide range of college and university transfer courses, vocational technical courses, developmental or basic skills classes, and community service classes.

Orientation sessions will be held in Berg Hall on January 4 from Noon to 1:30 p.m., January 5 from 6:00 to 7:30 p.m. and January 10 and 13 from 9:00 to 10:30 a.m. Registration for classes ends January 14 and instruction begins January 18. For more information or to sign up for orientation sessions, please call Student Services at 753-2102.

12-8-93 NNCC announces Spring Registration

Registration for Spring Semester 1994 is currently underway at Northern Nevada Community College. The class schedule titled Announcements and Course Roster should be in the hands of Elko County residents by the end of this week. Postal customers who do not receive a schedule at their residential address may pick up a copy of the Student Services in Berg Hall. Returning students may enroll for classes using the TOUCH (phone registration) system now through January 12. Hours of operation for the 753-2100 number are Monday through Friday (8 a.m. - 9 p.m.), Saturdays (12 p.m. - 10 p.m.), and Sundays, (12 p.m. - 6 p.m.). A registration worksheet is provided in the class schedules that should be completed before registration is attempted. Telephone registration is a very simple process provided students take the time to complete the worksheet. Another benefit of completing the worksheet is that the student has a complete personal schedule at his disposal for quick future reference. Students who register by TOUCH must pay their fees in the Controller's Office, Lundberg Hall, by 5 p.m. on January 12.

Students may also use the TOUCH system to drop classes during the time it is in operation. After that time, students must formally withdraw at Student Services. Students are financially obligated for a course in which they are enrolled and a formal withdrawal is the only release from the obligation.

Walk-in registration will be available from January 12 through 14 at Student Services, Berg Hall. Fees are due and payable at the time of walk-in registration.

Students who have never attended NNCC must complete an application for admission available at Student Services prior to enrolling. New students must also attend one of the orientation sessions scheduled for January 4 (12-1:30 p.m.), January 5 (6-7:30 p.m.), January 10 (9 a.m.-10:30 a.m.), or January 13 (9 a.m.-10:30 a.m.). For more information regarding counseling, advisement, and financial aid services, prospective students should consult the Student Survival Kit on page 4 of the Announcements and Course Roster or visit Student Services, Berg Hall.

The Public Information Office of NNCC also suggests that members of the community consider "a gift of class." The Controller's Office in Lundberg Hall has available gift certificates that may be the answer to the most difficult of gift-giving challenges. A gift certificate from NNCC can be used to provide practical training, college transfer courses, or unusual and interesting community service courses for entertainment as well as learning experiences. Call 753-2269 for more information.

Spring registration under way at NNCC

Registration for the spring semester continues at Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC) through Jan. 12.

Class schedules have been mailed out to residents, and are available at NNCC's Berg Hall, 901 Elm St.

Returning students may register using the TOUCH telephone system by calling 753-2100 between 8 a.m. and 9 p.m. Monday through Friday, 12 to 10 p.m. Saturday and 12 to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Students also may use the TOUCH system to drop classes until Jan. 12, but after then they must formally withdraw at Student Services. Students are financially obligated for a course and a formal withdrawal is the only release, according to NNCC. Worksheets are included in class schedules and should be filled out prior to registration. Students who register by TOUCH must pay their fees by 5 p.m. Jan. 12 in the controller's office in Lundberg Hall.

Walk-in registration will be available from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Jan. 12-14 at Student Services in Berg Hall. Fees are due at time of registration.

Students who have never attended NNCC must complete an admissions application, which are available at Student Services. New students also must attend one of the orientation sessions scheduled from 12 to 1:30 p.m. Jan. 4, 6 to 7:30 p.m. Jan. 5, 9 to 10:30 a.m. Jan. 10 and 9 to 10:30 a.m. Jan. 13.

Gift certificates for NNCC classes are available in the controller's office.

12-10-92 FF

WHY NOT SEE FOR YOURSELF?

GOOD NEWS!

NNCC registration continues until January 14

Encl 12/29/93

Registration for Spring semester continues at NNCC through January 14. From now until January 12, students may register by phone via Touch Registration. Students need only to consult their course rosters for registration information and instructions. Anyone needing a course roster should come into Student Services or call 753-2102.

For students interested in the occupational and technical areas, the college has a full array of automotive, diesel, welding, electrical maintenance, and mining courses. NNCC's automotive program has been designated a Ford Motor Company Regional Training Center for fleet owners. Likewise, the diesel program was one of three schools chosen nationally to become an outreach facility for Caterpillar, Inc. and Cashman

Equipment. Just last year, the Mechanical Technical Training Program, a special program created with the mining industry, was selected as an "exemplary" program by the American Association of Community Colleges and the National Council of Instructional Administrators.

Students in the business area have a variety of courses from which to choose. A new "Business Marketing Series" is being offered, as well as a whole slate of Office Administration classes ranging from "Typing" to "WordPerfect Graphics."

Humanities students may choose from the traditional array of courses along with new one in "Introduction to Poetry" and "Vocabulary and Meaning." The college will also be offering special lectures, including "Native American Voices," "Navajo song: A World of Music," "Asian Nevadans: The Asian American Experience in the Silver State."

For those individuals interested in math, science, computing, students are encouraged to consider these new offerings: "Man and the Environment," "Control of Environmental Pollution" and several new computer on-line classes.

The college's Community Service and Continuing Education Division has a full roster of special interest classes, including "Ground School and Flight Training" and the "Bobby Ingersoll Working Cow Horse Clinic."

Students are urged to register now. Classes are beginning to fill. Instruction for the Spring semester begins January 18.

WANTED STUDENTS

SIMPLE AS

A B C

HOMER
 SOPHOCLES
 THUCYDIDES
 HERODOTUS
 ARISTOPHANES
 PLATO
 ARISTOTLE
 EUCLID
 APOLLONIUS
 VIRGIL
 PTOLEMY
 AUGUSTINE
 AQUINAS
 CERVANTES
 GALILEO
 HOBBS
 MILTON
 SPINOZA
 LOCKE
 NEWTON
 SWIFT
 HUME
 ROUSSEAU
 KANT
 AUSTEN
 MELVILLE
 MOLIERE
 GOETHE
 TOCQUEVILLE
 DANTE
 CHAUCER
 MACHIARELLI
 COPERNICUS
 LUTHER

Returning
 Spring Semester
 1994 to NNCC

*Great Teachers
 Terrific Classes Timely Degrees*

Unlimited Learning

CALVIN
 PALESTRINA
 MONTAIGNE
 BACON
 JUNG
 KEPLER
 DESCARTES
 PASCAL
 BACH
 MOZART
 BEETHOVEN
 SCHUBERT
 DARWIN
 VERDI
 MENDEL
 STRAVINSKY
 LINCOLN
 KIERKEGAARD
 WAGNER
 THOREAU
 MARX
 DOSTOEVSKI
 TOLSTOY
 TWAIN
 NIETZSCHE
 FREUD
 KAFKA
 YEATS
 HEIDEGGER
 MILLIKAN
 T.S. ELIOT
 BAUDELAIRE
 FARADAY
 EINSTEIN

REGISTER NOW!

By TOUCH (Telephone) 753-2100 through January 12

Fees payable by 5 p.m., January 12 in the Controller's Office

Walk-In Student Services, Berg Hall January 12-14

Fees payable at the time of registration in the Controller's Office

NORTHERN NEVADA COMMUNITY COLLEGE ■ 901 ELM STREET ■ 738-8493

FOLLOW DIRECTIONS

LATE STARTING CLASSES — MARCH-MAY 1994

DEPARTMENT	CALL	DEPT	CRSE	SECT	COURSE TITLE	CREDITS	TIME	DAY	INSTRUCTOR	ROOM	TTL FEE
ADULT BASIC EDUCATION	01214	ABE	111B	ES6	Employability Planning for Youth	3-6	Self-Paced		Collins, P.		$88.20-178.40
	01215	ABE	111B	ES9	Employability Planning for Pre-Entry Participants	3-6	Self-Paced		Collins, P.		$88.20-178.40
ART	00000	ART	0000	000	Open Lab/Studio	0	9 a.m.-12 p.m.	W	Fox	GTA 122-3	—
	00000	ART	0000	000	Open Lab/Studio	0	7-10 p.m.	Th	Foley	GTA 121	—
AUTOMOTIVE TECHNOLOGY	00000	AUTO	0000	000	Auto Lab/Open Lab	0	9 a.m.-12 p.m.	F	Cook, C.	GTA 112-14	—
BIOLOGY	01024	BIOL	120	ED1	Spring Flora of Northeastern Nevada ($15 Lab Fee) (4 Wks. Beg. 4/4)	2	7-8:30 p.m.	M,W	White	LUND 2	$73.80
BUSINESS	01272	BUS	290B	ED1	Cooperative Work Experience	1-4	Self-Paced		Popeck	TBA	$29.40-117.80
	01031	BUS	299B	ED1	Business Marketing Series ($90 Lab Fee, Dates TBA)	1	TBA		Echeverria	TBA	$99.40
CHLD DEVELOPMENT	01225	CD	156	ED1	Music in the Preschool Curriculum ($5 Lab Fee, 4/22-23)	1	5-10 p.m.	F	Harper	MCML 18	$34.40
COMMUNITY SERVICES	01040	CD	295	ES9	Supervised Work Experience	1-4	8 a.m.-5 p.m.	Set	Harper		$34.40
	*	0000	0000	000	Allocating Your Assets: Risk vs. Rewards (TBA)	0	TBA		Fonda	TBA	$5
	*	0000	0000	000	Dressage and Jumping Clinic (5/7BA)	0	10 a.m.-5 p.m.	TBA	Herrmann	SCA	$60/private
	*	0000	0000	000	Flight Training for Private Pilots	0	8 a.m.-4 p.m.	Sun			$100/group of 4
	*	0000	0000	000	Home Repair and Improvement for the Do-It-Yourselfer (5 Wks. Beg. 4/7)	0	Self-Paced		Jarvis	MCML 20	$3,550
	*	0000	0000	000	Horse Conditioning, Feeding, and Nutrition (4/21)	0	6-9 p.m.	Th	Dunham		$45
	*	0000	0000	000	Mixing Concretes (Series) at the Supermarket (4/18)	0	7-8 p.m.	Th	Civell	CCC SR	$5
	*	0000	0000	000	Motorcycle Rider Course: Riding and Street Skills	0	9 a.m.-1 p.m.	Set	Foley	CCC SR	$10
	*	0000	0000	000	Date TBA	0	7-10 p.m.	F	Young	TBA	$10
	*	0000	0000	000	Real Estate Contracts (4/13)	0	8 a.m.-5 p.m.	Set			$30
	*	0000	0000	000	Rick on Any Income (4/27)	0	9 a.m.-5 p.m.	W	Robinson	CCC SR	$30
	*	0000	0000	000	Secretaries Day Luncheon (4/27)	0	7-10 p.m.	W	Morton	CCC SR	$80
	*	0000	0000	000	Secretaries Day Luncheon (4/27)	0	11:30-1:30 p.m.	W	Warren/	CCC SR/	$20
	*	0000	0000	000	Vision of the Mountain Man (4/21)	0	7-10 p.m.	Th	Echeverria	DINING ROOM	$45
		0000	0000	000	Beginning Wood/Paper (4/16)	0	8 a.m.-6 p.m.	Set	Glover	GTA 120	$5
		0000	0000	000	Elko Community Orchestra	0	7-9 p.m.	T	Wright	GTA 118	$45
									Free	EJHS	—
* TOUCH Registration is not available.  Registration not required.
Register at the College Community Center Reception Area or contact Gail McClure at 763-2301 for registration information.
COMPUTER INFORMATION SYSTEMS	01045	CIS	198B	E02	Beginning Database Using Paradox ($5 Lab Fee, 5 Wks. Beg. 4/7)	1	7-10 p.m.	Th	Hyslop	GTA 118	$34.40
	01048	CIS	198B	E05	Introduction to Lotus for Windows ($5 Lab Fee, 5 Wks. Beg. 4/11)	1	7-10 p.m.	M	Tempel, K.	GTA 119	$34.40
	01050	CIS	198B	E07	Introduction to Windows 3.1 ($5 Lab Fee, 5 Wks. Beg. 4/11)	1	1-4 p.m.	M	Tempel, K.	GTA 119	$34.40
	01051	CIS	198B	E08	Introduction to Pagemaker 4.0 ($5 Lab Fee, 5 Wks. Beg. 4/8)	1	7-10 p.m.	W	Tempel, K.	GTA 119	$34.40
	01052	CIS	198B	E09	Introduction to LIND-Part I ($5 Lab Fee, 5 Wks. Beg. 4/8)	1	7-10 p.m.	W	McCarty, R.	LUND 5	$34.40
	01233	CIS	198B	E11	Introduction to Excel 4.0 ($5 Lab Fee, 4/8-9)	1	4-10 p.m.	F	McCarty, R.	GTA 119	$34.40
	01054	CIS	198B	ES9	Online — Accessing Coyote Telegraph ($5 Lab Fee)	.5	8 a.m.-6 p.m.	Set			$18.70
	01055	CIS	198B	ES8	Online — Beginning DCS 8.0 ($5 Lab Fee)	1	Self-Paced		Hyslop		$34.40
	01056	CIS	198B	ES7	Online — Beginning Windows 3.1 ($5 Lab Fee)	1	Self-Paced		Hyslop		$34.40
		01057	CIS	198B	ES6	Online — Beginning Lotus ($5 Lab Fee)	1	Self-Paced		Hyslop
	01058	CIS	198B	ES5	Online — Beginning Lotus for Windows ($5 Lab Fee)	1	Self-Paced		Tempel, K.		$34.40
Online classes have a prerequisite or corequisite of Accessing Coyote Telegraph (CIS 198B ES9)
COOPERATIVE EDUCATION	01257	CE	290B	ED1	Cooperative Education — Nursing	1-6	Self-Paced		Popeck		$29.40-178.40
	01294	CE	290B	ED2	Cooperative Education — Criminal Justice	1-6	Self-Paced		Popeck		$29.40-178.40
	01288	CE	290B	ED3	Cooperative Education — EMS	1-4	Self-Paced		Popeck		$29.40-117.80
DIESEL MECHANICS	01302	DM	209B	ED1	Shop Management (10 Wks. Beg. 4/25)	1	11 a.m.-12 p.m.	T,Th	Murphy	GTA 111,113	$29.40
	01303	DM	208B	ED1	Heavy Equipment Power Trains ($25 Lab Fee, 10 Wks. Beg. 4/25)	4	8-10 a.m.	M-Th	Murphy	GTA 111,113	$142.80
	01304	DM	210B	ED1	Diesel Engines ($25 Lab Fee, 10 Wks. Beg. 4/25)	3	10 a.m.-12 p.m.	M,W,F	Murphy	GTA 111,113	$113.20
ELECTRICAL MAINTENANCE	01087	ELM	127B	ED1	Introduction to AC Controls ($15 Lab Fee, 4 Wks. Beg. 3/22)	2	1-2:50 p.m.	M-F	Tempel, L.	CONS 1	$73.80
	01088	ELM	128B	ED1	Transformers and Industrial Lighting ($15 Lab Fee, 4 Wks. Beg. 3/22)	3	9-11:50 a.m.	M-F	Tempel, L.	CONS 1	$103.20
	01294	ELM	131B	ED1	National Electrical Code ($15 Lab Fee, 3 Wks. Beg. 4/27)	1.5	1-2:50 p.m.	M-F	Tempel, L.	CONS 1	$39.10
	01295	ELM	132B	ED1	Digital Concepts ($15 Lab Fee, 3 Wks. Beg. 4/27)	2	9-11:35 a.m.	M-F	Tempel, L.	CONS 1	$73.80
INDUSTRIAL TECHNOLOGY	01305	IT	102B	ED1	Principles of Pipefitting ($30 Lab Fee, 10 Wks. Beg. 4/25)	4	10-11:45 a.m.	M-Th	Siler	MILL SHOP	$147.80
	01306	IT	0103B	ED1	Mill Pump Technology ($30 Lab Fee, 10 Wks. Beg. 4/25)	4	8-8:45 a.m.	M-Th	Siler	MILL SHOP	$147.80
	01307	IT	209B	ED1	Principles of Rigging ($25 Lab Fee, 10 Wks. Beg. 4/25)	2	1-2:30 p.m.	M,W	Siler	MILL SHOP	$83.80
MINING	01151	MINE	101B	ED1	Introduction to Mining (4 Wks. Beg. 4/11)	1	7-10 p.m.	M	McFarlane	LUND 1A	$29.40
NURSING	01188	NURS	140	ED1	Medical Terminology ($10 Audiocourse)	2	Self-Paced		Smith, G.		$68.80
	01163	NURS	273	ED1	Role of the Associate Degree Nurse Manager (4 Wks. Beg. 4/11)	2	10 a.m.-12 p.m.	M	Fenger	LUND 7A	$58.80
REAL ESTATE	01184	RE	101	ET9	Real Estate Principles I ($10 Telecourse Fee)	3	Independent Study		Pryor	BERG CR	$98.20
	01185	RE	103	ET9	Real Estate Principles II ($10 Telecourse Fee)	3	Independent Study		Pryor	BERG CR	$98.20
	01216	RE	299B	ED1	Real Estate Relicensing Package (Lab Fee $30, 4/13-15)	1	9 a.m.-5 p.m.	W,Th	Robinson	CCC SR	$79.40
RECREATION AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION	01220	RPED	120	ED1	Beginning Golf (4/25-5/1)	1	4-6 p.m.	M-F	Smith, P.	RUBY VIEW	$29.40
	01300	RPED	120	ED2	Beginning Golf (4/18-24)	1	4-6 p.m.	Set, Sun	Smith, P.	GOLF COURSE	$29.40
	01297	RPED	199B	ED7	Hath Yoga ($5 Lab Fee, 5 Wks. Beg. 4/5)	1	10 a.m.-1 p.m.	Set, Sun	Fleming	RUBY VIEW	$29.40

Summer registration concludes Wednesday

Registration for Northern Nevada Community College's summer session continues from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow and Wednesday at Student Services.

NNCC will offer a variety of summer courses, including computer classes, a five-week certified nursing assistant course, and introductory classes in psychology, sociology, math and chemistry.

Several short courses leading to teachers' recertification will be offered, including those in children's literature and classroom ecology. There also will be substitute teaching workshops.

A course co-sponsored by the Nevada Humanities Committee, "Fault Line Poetry: A Shock of Words," also will be available.

Classes for children ages five to 18 will be available, including sewing, karate and computer courses. Teachers Nancy Remington and Patty Fox will offer a writing workshop to teach kids how to illustrate their own stories with computer animated art.

An eight-week three-credit course entitled, "Cinema as Art and Communication," will be offered from 6 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays beginning June 7. Students will examine such films as "Birth of a Nation," "Gone with the Wind" and "A Clockwork Orange." Instructor Jack Smith will discuss how such films of ten serve as "cultural documents of their time." The fee is $99.

Reg. 4

NAEA REGISTRATION

Northern Nevada Community College
welcomes members of the

NEVADA ADULT EDUCATION ASSOCIATION
5th Annual Conference

FINANCIAL AID SCHOLARSHIPS

Financial Aid, Scholarships

1994 - 95

NNCC SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATIONS

AVAILABLE NOW!!!

Pick up your application form now at the Financial Aid Office in
Berg Hall.

Application Deadline:

Tuesday, March 1, 1994

CEEC ABRAHAMS MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

Scholarship Amount: $ 1,000

Eligibility Criteria:

Transfer student at junior standing
Enrollment in accredited institution
Female from Sierra Nevada Region
Majoring in a field related to Women's Studies

Scholarship Deadline: February 28, 1994

Applications available at the Financial Aid Office in
Berg Hall

NNCC scholarships for mining careers

EJDFP 3-18-94

Northern Nevada Community College has 34 scholarships available for the Mechanical Technology Training Program for the 1994-95 school year.

The program, sponsored by Manpower Training Cooperative, Barrick Goldstrike, Newmont Gold and Round Mountain Gold, offers career opportunities for individuals interested in mining or mine-related careers.

The 45-week course combines laboratory and classroom work leading to an associate degree in mill maintenance, diesel technology or electrical maintenance.

"Although employment is not guaranteed, completion of the Mechanical Technology Training Program will qualify graduates for employment in a field with a future, provide training for a job with good pay and teach job skills useful for the rest of an individual's life," said NNCC Occupational Education Director Stan Popeck in a press release.

Interested high school seniors should contact their guidance counselors. Others should contact Pompeck at 753-2303 as soon as possible to arrange interviews and testing.

Newmont Gold Company Public Relations Representative Michelle Gonzalez, standing, recently presented a $1,000 check to Northern Nevada Community College Foundation Joseph W. Murray Scholarship Fund Director Peggy Anne Duffy.

Newmont gives $1,000 to Murray scholarship

Newmont Gold Company recently donated $1,000 to Northern Nevada Community College Foundation's Joseph W. Murray Scholarship Fund.

The first scholarship, which amounts to $1,000 per year and is renewable for four years, will be awarded during Star Night at 7 p.m. April 26 at NNCC's Berg Hall.

The scholarship is awarded to an Elko County resident who is accepted by the University of Nevada as an undergraduate or graduate student. The winner also has to have a high school diploma or general equivalency degree and completed at least 12 credits, six of which must have been taken at NNCC. High school seniors are not eligible.

Candidates for the scholarship are chosen based on academic achievement, citizenship, need and two letters addressing the student's academic potential. Completion of 20 undergraduate or 18 graduate credits per year and maintaining a 2.5 grade average are required to renew the scholarship.

Scholarship applications are available in NNCC's Financial Aid office and the scholarship offices at the University of Nevada in Reno and Las Vegas. Applications must be submitted by April 15.

Joseph W. Murray, a former executive with Independence Mining Company, was killed last year in a fall at his home in Fountain Hills, Ariz. He was 63.

Scholarship Fund Director Peggy Anne Duffy, a former co-worker of Murray's, wanted to create a memorial to her friend. Aware of Murray's respect for young people and education, she started the scholarship fund in his memory.

His family requested the scholarship be awarded to any Elko County resident interested in pursuing a higher education.

Through individual and corporate contributions, Duffy raised over $28,000, and in December, the scholarship was officially adopted by the NNCC Foundation.

Duffy, Gail Barr and Donna Lahti, members of the scholarship selection committee, designed the scholarship criteria and application.

EJ 3-17-94

Scholarship — Adrienne Hall, center, is the recipient of a $500 scholarship from the Training Awards Program of Soroptimist International Northeastern Nevada and SI Elko. Hall is a single mother of three who is currently working as a substitute teacher for the Elko County School District and is working towards her Bachelor's of Arts degree in English at North Nevada Community College and taking University of Nevada Reno extension classes. She has also worked as a literary coordinator at the Elko County Library in teaching Elko residents how to read. Pictured, from left with Hall, are Nancy Durrell, SINN president, and Beth Smith, SI of Elko vice president.

Star Night

You Are Cordially Invited To Attend
Star Night.

an evening honoring those individuals and colleges who have contributed to the success of Northern Nevada Community College with generosity, support, and academic excellence.

Please plan to join us!

April 26, 1994
William J. Berg Hall

Formal recognition ceremonies begin at 7:00 p.m.
Reception following

Please RSVP by calling 753-7537
by April 22

Stars: Northern Nevada Community College
nized scholarship annual Star Night. More than 40
Student Departmental Awards

Scholarship applications available at NNCC office

EDFP 4-5-94

Northern Nevada Community College is now taking applications for the Joseph W. Murray scholarship, which will be awarded to an Elko County resident accepted by a state university as an undergraduate or graduate student.

Scholarship applicants must have completed high school or have a general equivalency degree and taken 12 or more college credits, six of which must have been taken at NNCC. High school seniors are not eligible.

Applicants will be considered on their academic ability, community involvement, need and two letters of recommendation "addressing the student's academic potential." The scholarship amounts to $1,000 per year and is renewable for four years. Recipients must complete 20 undergraduate or 18 graduate credits with a 2.5 grade point average for the scholastic year to be eligible to renew the scholarship.

Applications are available at NNCC's scholarship office, 801 Elm St. and at University of Nevada scholarship offices in Reno and Las Vegas. The deadline is April 15. The first scholarship will be awarded at NNCC Star Night April 26.

Scholarships: More than 350 scholarships and awards were handed out last night during Elko High School's Scholarship and Awards Convocation at the Elko Convention Center. Parents, donors, friends and other well-wishers packed the auditorium to applaud members of the EHS Class of '94. "The students are very deserving of these awards," said EHS Principal Moyal Kump. "We have some good programs and some great teachers and these are the kids that excelled." Northern Nevada Community College Admissions Director Lynn Mahlberg, left, presented scholarships to several students. From left, with Mahlberg are: Lacie Hansen (Alltel scholarship), Christina Lawson (Elko Lions Club), Kristine Wahlstrom (Margaret Macbeth) and Darci Lattin (NNCC Foundation).

ART DEPARTMENT

Northern Nevada Community College
 901 Elm Street
 Elko, Nevada 89801

Presents student art work

- ☼ Drawing
- ☼ Painting
- ☼ Computer Graphics
- ☼ Ceramics
- ☼ Sculpture
- ☼ Photography
- ☼ Jewelry

Displayed in N. N. C. C.'s
Great Basin Gallery
 April 20th - May 6th ☼ 1994

Reception
 Thursday April 21st
 5:30 - 7:30 p.m.
 Refreshments

"3" ART Scholarships

available before October 15th

Ariel
Glenn

requires one work of Art to be considered.

A Painting, drawing, or sculpture

get Applications from the Financial Aid Office

Jesse Dewar

requires a complete portfolio for consideration

Questions?

Ask Sarah Sweetwater for details

93-94

NNCC '93

Student Art Exhibition

NNCC Elko, NV
STUDENT EXHIBITION

Fall 1993

Opening reception Dec. 1 from 6-8 pm
Greenhaw Technical Arts Bldg.

Featuring NNCC Art Students of:

- Drawing
- Art History
- Ceramics
- Jewelry
- Calligraphy
- Ideas and the Creative Process
- Graphic Design

First exhibit in the new gallery space.
(Donated by Builders Mart)

Designed by: Tammy Mikovic, Brian Shaw & Brian Anderson

IT'S A GALLERY!
Builders Mart and Sarah Sweetwater are pleased to announce the birth of a new gallery space for the NNCC Art Department in the Greenhaw Technical Arts Hallway

Date 12-1-93

6:00 p.m.

Weight 395 lbs.

Length 96 feet

Come help us celebrate at an Opening Reception for the '93 Fall Student Show

Refreshments

Those students assisting with these 130 hours labor of love:

Greg Martin
Bonnie & Don Upshaw
Don Unruh
Vickie Dickie
Connie Besel
Cheryl Hachquet
Carol Rybicki
Brian Shaw
Kevin Lopez
Collen Bradshaw
Pauline Taugher
Dawn Balstad
James Eidemiller
Michelle Hewett
Tina McCorkle
Sam Payne
Stan Popeck
Annette Armstrong

Venny Byers
Eugene Manning
Chris Pendleton
Tammy Micklovic
Will Whitaker
Jack Simonsen
Tammy Colyer
Melanie Ogler
Jennifer Chaffin
Kristy Christensen
Marcia Barker
Heidi Crum,
Rhonda Jueschke
Mike Gillespe
Sylvia McEvers
Marty Heath
and Sarah Special Thanks to Builders Mart for the donation of all the materials to make this possible

12-4-93 EDP

NNCC art show opens

The first official evening "opening" of an art show, complete with refreshments, at Northern Nevada Community College was a big success last Wednesday, according to Sarah Sweetwater, chairman of the art department. The Fall Art Students' Exhibit will hang in the Greenhaw Technical Arts Building until Saturday.

Sweetwater said the halls, where permanent gallery space is now available, were crammed with people admiring drawings, paintings, pastels, games and three-dimensional art created during the fall semester.

"Builders Mart donated enough material for 72 running feet of bulletin boards," she noted. With the materials, the students, who volunteered more than 200 hours of their time, built permanent gallery space. They also hung the material for the show and served refreshments at the opening.

"The new bulletin boards — and the display case where three-dimensional work is being shown at the building's entrance — make a good exhibit area for the department," Sweetwater noted.

James Linnehan recently put the finishing touches on a new permanent bulletin board finished just in time for the opening of the Fall Art Students' Exhibit last Wednesday in the halls of the Greenhaw Technical Arts Building at Northern Nevada Community College. Student Heidi Crum is in the background.

EDFP 4-21-94

Art show: Northern Nevada Community College Art Department will open its "Shine" student art exhibit with a reception from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. tonight in the new Great Basin Art Gallery located in NNCC's Greenhaw Technical Arts Building. The exhibit will feature a variety of artwork, including drawings, paintings, sculptures, ceramics, photography, jewelry and computer graphics.

Refreshments will be served. The exhibit will remain open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Fridays through May 6. Pictured setting up the show, from left, are: NNCC art students Georgia Hammond, Jenny Wilton, Jennifer Anderson, Ricardo Saragoza, Joe Johnston, Kerry Hendershot and art teacher Patty Fox.

ASSOCIATED

STUDENT

BODY

Free
Food

Free
Food

ASB Turkey
Feed

everyone invited

11-2 Wed

Rm 7+8 Berg Hall

BE there

93-94

93-94 ASB-1

Free

ASB

Free

Turkey Feed
Wed. 11-1pm

Come pig out

93-94

Berg Hall Rm 7+8

COME JOIN THE ASB FOR COW PIE BINGO
AND BBQ

LUNCH

THURSDAY

MARCH 10th

11:00 - 2:00pm

FOR LESS !

BURGER, CHIPS, & DRINK...

$1.00

ASB Officer Elections

April 25th and 26th

Information and Petitions available in LRC McMullen Hall, Student Services and Community Center Reception Desk

Return completed petitions to Phil Smith
in Berg Hall

For more information contact the ASB Office at 753-2234

Get your election information out ASAP !!!!!

Interested In Rodeo?

Organizational Meeting in V.P. Aiazzi's office Student Services

Berg Hall

Thursday 5:00 pm, November 18

Everyone welcome

Team Results

Four members of the NNCC Rodeo team traveled to Twin Falls, Idaho, on March 25 and 26 for the College of Southern Idaho Rodeo.

Stacie Kincheloe placed 12th in the Barrel Racing. Will Whitaker placed 5th in the Saddle Bronc Riding. Troy Van Norman placed 4th in the 1st Go-Round in the Saddle Bronc Riding and along with Jeff Garijo of Boise St., Van Norman placed 3rd in the Team Roping.

On April 8th and 9th the team traveled to Lehi, Utah, for the regional college rodeo. Team members, Joe Slagowski, Troy Van Norman, and Will Whitaker, all placed in the Saddle Bronc Ridings Top 10 with Whitaker placing 4th in the Average. Van Norman and Garijo also were 4th in the team roping average.

On April 15 and 16th, the team went to Rexburg, Idaho, for the Rick's College Rodeo. Will Whitaker won the Saddle Bronc riding average with Troy Van Norman placing in the Top 10.

At the Boise State Rodeo held April 22nd and 23rd in Caldwell, Idaho, Troy Van Norman placed in the top 10 in the Team Roping and Saddle Bronc. Will Whitaker won the 1st Go Round with a 68, won the End Go Round with a 75 and also won the average, in the Saddle Bronc.

The team will compete on April 29 and 30 in Lehi, Utah at the Utah Valley Rodeo.

2-5-94
E DFP

NNCC rodeo team results

Northern Nevada Community College's rodeo team recently participated in the annual rodeo at the Golden Spike Arena in Ogden, Utah.

Joe Slagowski scored 67 points the first night and placed third in saddle bronc. Will Whitaker took third in the short round and third in the average.

Troy Van Norman won fourth in the short round and fourth in the average. He also teamed up with Boise State University's Jeff Garijo to win third in the short round and third in the average for team roping.

E DFP 4-21-94

NNCC rodeo club results

Four Northern Nevada Community College students competed for the NNCC rodeo team at three recent rodeos.

On March 25-26, the team was in Twin Falls for the CSI College Rodeo.

Stacie Kincheloe placed 12th in the barrel racing. Will Whitaker was fifth in two rounds in the saddle bronc riding and ended up fifth in the average.

Troy Van Norman was fourth in the first go-around of the saddle bronc competition. He also was third in the first two rounds and third in the average for the team roping with partner Jeff Garijo, formerly of Winnemucca, from Boise State University.

On April 8-9, the NNCC team attended the College Regional Rodeo in Lehi, Utah. Saddle bronc riders Joe Slagowski, Van Norman and Whitaker all made it to the second round by placing in the top 10. Whitaker won the second round, and ended up fourth in the average. Van Norman was fourth in the team roping average.

Last weekend, the team went to the Ricks College Rodeo in Rexburg, Idaho. Whitaker won the first round in saddle bronc, tied for second in the second round and topped the average. Van Norman finished in the top 10 in the event.

The team's next event is the BSU College Rodeo this weekend in Boise.

E DFP 4-26-94

Whitaker tops Idaho rodeo with NNCC

Will Whitaker of the Northern Nevada Community College rodeo team took first place in the saddle bronc average last weekend at the Boise State University Rodeo. The event was held Friday and Saturday in Caldwell, Idaho.

Whitaker won the first round in the saddle bronc with a 68 score and took the second as well with a 75. Troy Van Norman made it to the short go in both the team roping and saddle bronc.

Also competing for the NNCC team were Joe Slagowski and Stacie Kincheloe.

The team is scheduled to compete this Friday and Saturday at the Utah Valley State College Rodeo in Lehi, Utah.

World champion saddle bronc rider Joe Marvel, left, talks with Northern Nevada Community College rodeo team member Joe Slagowski during last weekend's college rodeo school.

NNCC Rodeo Team holds school

The NNCC Rodeo Team held a Bareback and Saddle Bronc school on February 12 & 13 at the Spring Creek Horse Palace.

The participants were schooled on the basics of riding and on the safety involved in the sport on Saturday. On Sunday each student took turns riding livestock. The teachers are all from the Elko area and are PRCA Cowboys. The Bareback instructors were Jerry Jones, Pat Laughlin and Rocky Roa. Joe Marvel, Mike Marvel and Bill Wines instructed the Saddle Bronc riders. Joe Marvel is the 1978 World Champion Saddle Bronc rider.

The NNCC club put together the school to help raise funds for its members to go to upcoming rodeos. The NNCC Rodeo team consists of Troy Van Norman, Will Whitaker, Joe Slagowski, and Shawn Robblee. They plan on competing in Moab, Utah on March 4 & 5 and in Twin Falls, Idaho on March 25 & 26.

Bareback student Chaz Mitchell, left, listens intently to instructor Jerry Jones on Saturday at the Northern Nevada Community College rodeo school.

5-7-94 F P

NNCC's rodeo team competes

Three saddlebronc riders — Joe Slagowski, Troy Van Norman and Will Whitaker — of the Northern Nevada Community College Rodeo Team competed at the Utah Valley State College Rodeo last weekend. The rodeo was held in Lehi, Utah.

All three placed among the top 10 in preliminaries to reach Saturday's short go around.

Whitaker ended up third in the average for the weekend, and Slagowski finished fourth.

The team's final rodeo of the season is set May 13-14 in Logan, Utah.

CHILD

CENTER

NNCC CHILD CENTER

MEMORANDUM

DATE: October 18, 1993
TO: FACULTY AND STAFF
FROM: Marilee Harper-Harrison, Child Center Director
RE: "TRICK OR TREATING" on Campus by Students of Child Center

We will be taking our students "trick or treating" around the campus on the following dates:

Wednesday October 27
from 9:30 a.m to 11:00 a.m.

Thursday October 28
from 10:00 a.m. to 11:15 a.m.

Thursday October 28
from 1:30 p.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Friday October 29
from 1:30 p.m. to 3:00 p.m.

If you would like us to stop at your office or class, please check the appropriate box below and sign your name. We will provide nutritional treats for you to pass out. These treats will be brought to you before the "trick or treaters" arrive.

Thank you for participating in our program in this way.

I, _____, would like to participating in our program this way

Wednesday October 27
from 9:30 a.m to 11:00 a.m. ____

Thursday October 28
from 10:00 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. ____

Thursday October 28
from 1:30 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. ____

Friday October 29
from 1:30 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. ____

Please return the bottom half of this sheet to our mailbox by Friday October 23. Thank you!

Wooley visit: Students in Pat Schindler's pre-school class at Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC) Child Development Center got a special treat last week when Tuscarora rancher Connie Satterthwaite (holding sign) brought her sheep Oops! for a visit. Daughter-in-law, Kathy Satterthwaite (holding Oops!) and grandson Colby (center) came along for the visit. The sheep got the special name when it surprised everyone by being born in August, instead of spring when sheep normally arrive, Connie Satterthwaite said. Schindler's class chose the sheep as its class mascot at the first of the year, and have since been learning about sheep through stories and class projects. "They get to see them and touch them," said teacher Patricia Agard-Haye. "We're working on senses, and this way they get to feel the wool and hear the sound of a sheep." Oops! had a busy day. After the NNCC visit, it made a tour of elementary schools.

Grandpa Al: For almost a decade, Alfred Warmouth, affectionately known as "Grandpa Al," has been bringing smiles to the faces of preschool children and the staff at Northern Nevada Community College's Child Development Center thanks to the college's Foster Grandparent Program. The retired head chef is a master in the art of storytelling and enjoys helping the children memorize rhymes. The staff says Grandpa Al brings a lot of joy to the center, but he says the program works both ways. "There's no love like that of a child." Pictured with Grandpa Al, from left, are J.J. Carter, Zachary Matheson and Justin Savage.

EDFP 11/13/93

Fire prevention: A highlight for preschool children at Northern Nevada Community College last Thursday was a visit, during Fire Prevention Week, from Elko Fire Department's "telesquirt" aerial fire truck with its 75-foot long ladder and a pumping capacity of 1,750 gallons a minute. Teacher Pat Schindler said during the week the children practiced fire drills, read firemen stories, made fire hats and played fireman on the playground. They also learned techniques such as to "drop and roll" if their clothes caught fire and listened to a talk delivered by Verle Jarvie of Elko Fire Department.

Albertson's Donation — Albertson's recently donated three turkeys and one ham to the NNCC Child Center's Fish Class for their Thanksgiving Feast. Teachers Becky Ker-na (pictured) and Lyn Hebdon planned the feast, and the children cooked. The children's families attended and there was a total of 84 people. The children, All Hull, 4; Ashley Ker-na, Eric Vance, 5; Johnathan Blair 5, are pictured with the Store Director Ted Renk and their thank you poster to Albertsons. (staff photo)

*I can't understand it
I won't even try
As deep as an ocean
That never runs dry
But I still believe it
I know that it's true
Everything is our teacher
Reaching me and you*

☪ from Stony Walls

Grandpa Al celebrates birthday

For over 10 years, Al Warmouth, better known as "Grandpa Al," has brought joy, love and friendship to the children and staff at Northern Nevada Community College's Child Development Center.

Recently, everyone celebrated Grandpa Al's 90th birthday, which featured a homemade cake as well as candles the kids made from egg cartons, tissue paper, cardboard rolls, paint and glue.

Grandpa Al says his secret for a long life is keeping active, and living by one of the rhymes he often recites to the children:

*"Don't be grouchy,
What's the use
Though you're lonesome as a deuce.*

*Keep on smiling, that's the way,
Tis a smile that will win your day."*

Children at Northern Nevada Community College's Child Development Center recently celebrated Al Warmouth's 90th birthday. Pictured, from left, front row, are: Jason Heitt, Dani Walker, Gabriel Lara, Jessica Wallace, J.J. Carter, Adrienne Parks and "Grandpa Al" Warmouth; second row, Jerry Jones, Gregory Dobak, Domingo Leonis, Collin Taylor, Aaron Holcomb, Derek Preece and Alicia Faust; third row, Felicia Lara, Nikki David, Mateo Franzoia, Jordan Miller, Kelsie Hall, David Morris, Zachary Matheson and Justin Savage; and back row, Alicia Galloway, Sebastian Areitio, Race Warburton, Bryce Pollock, Katlin Peer and Chelsea Carter. Behind Warmouth are teachers Pat Schindler, holding Leah Torvinen, and Patti Agard-Haye.

FP 5-21-94

and other language activities for children

- Learn ideas for improving children's language skills
- Participate in a fast paced interactive workshop
- Language activities for children 0-10 years
- Earn three hours of approved In-Service Training

DATE: Tuesday June 28, 1994
TIME: 6:30 P.M. TO 9:30 P.M.
PLACE: NNCC McMullen Hall - Room 12
 901 Elm Street
 Elko, Nevada

REGISTRATION DEADLINE: June 27, 1994
Register by phone: (702) 753-2225

This free program is provided by Marilee Harper-Harrison with Northern Nevada Community College.
 Sponsored by University of Nevada Cooperative Extension and the State Licensing Bureau.

UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA
 RENO

The University of Nevada, Reno is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, creed, national origin, veteran status, physical or mental disability, and in accordance with University policy, sexual orientation, in any program or activity it operates. The University of Nevada employs only United States citizens and aliens lawfully authorized to work in the United States.

I am a child.
I have come into your world.

Welcome To My World!

NNCC Child Center Jubilee
Tuesday, May 11, 1993
7:00 O'Clock in the Evening
Berg Hall Multipurpose Room

Free Books for Schools

To Faculty and Staff,

The N.N.C.C. Child Center will be participating for the third year in the Raley's "Free Books for Schools" program. Last year our center received 43 good quality childrens books.

If you, relatives, neighbors and friends do any shopping at Raleys, please consider saving the Gold Cash Register

Receipts for our Center.

Yellow posters with pockets will be placed on various bulletin boards on campus.

Thank you very much! We appreciate your assistance.

N.N. C. C. Child Center

FACULTY

AND

STAFF

CHANCELLOR'S UPDATE
University and Community College System of Nevada
Office of the Chancellor
September 22, 1993

John A. Richardson, Interim Chancellor
Volume 3, Number 1

HEALTH CARE IN MEETING AT TMCC

Faculty

Staff

Faculty + Staff

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

- Alazzi, Stanley 1971
Vice President for Student Services
BS, MS - University of Nevada, Reno
- Bloch, Jeanne 1993
Executive Director, NNCC Foundation
BS - University of San Francisco
- Bonaudi, Bill 1992
Vice President for Academic Affairs
BA - Central Washington University
MS - Wayne State University
EDD - University of Southern California
- Brogan, Timothy 1992
Computer Technician
- Carpenter, John 1993
English
BA, MA - University of Idaho
- Collins, Pat 1989
Coordinator, Re-entry Center
BA - University of South Dakota
MA - University of Nevada, Reno
- Cook, Carl 1987
Automotive Technology
Certification - Billings Automotive
Technical School
BS, MS - Brigham Young University
- Diekhans, Carl 1980
Vice President for Administrative Services
BA - College of Great Falls
MS - Montana State University
- Dimick, Kathy 1994
Job Placement Specialist
BS - Utah State University
- Easterly, Valerie 1985
Director, Planning and Public Information
BA - Vassar College
MEd - University of Nevada, Reno
- Echeverria, Tracy 1993
Management Consultant,
Small Business Development Center
BS, MS - University of Nevada, Reno
- Emerson, Amy 1972
Mathematics
BA - University of South Dakota
MATM - University of Nevada, Reno
- Fenger, Martha 1989
Nursing
BSN - South Dakota State University
MSN - University of Wisconsin, Eau Claire
- Ferry, Cliff 1987
Director, Institutional Research and Assessment
BS - Portland State College
PhD - University of Oregon
- Fox, Patricia 1988
Art
BFA - University of Nevada, Las Vegas
MFA - Utah State University
- Goicoechea, Genie 1972
English
BA - University of Utah
MAT - Northwestern University
- Harper-Harrison, Marilee 1976
Coordinator, Child Center
AAS - Northern Nevada Community
College
BS - University of Nevada, Reno
- Hawkins, Scott 1988
Mill Maintenance Technology
AA - Mesabi Community College
BS - University of Wisconsin, Stout
- Heaton-Lamp, Debbie 1990
Counselor
BS - Washington State University
MA - University of Nevada, Reno
- Horton, Louis 1978
Coordinator of Corrections Education
BS, MA - California State Polytechnic University, San Luis Obispo
- Hyslop, Larry 1991
Academic Computing
BA, MA - University of Montana
- Kampf, Richard 1991
Mathematics
BS, MS - New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology
- Karr, Juanita 1974
Director, Learning Resources Center
BS - Northern Montana College
MEd - Washington State College
EdS - University of Nevada, Reno
- Kuhl, Marilee 1981
Nursing
BSN - South Dakota State University
MSN - Idaho State University
- Lusty, Joyce 1993
Coordinator, ESL/Adult Basic Education
BA - University of Utah
MA - University of British Columbia
- Mahlberg, Lynn 1991
Assistant to Vice President for Student Services; Affirmative Action Officer;
Director, Admissions and Records
AA - Yuba Community College
BS - California State University, Chico
MBA - Golden Gate University, San Francisco
- Martin, Ed 1989
Welding Technology
AA - American River College
CWI - 1989
- Martin, Karen 1975
Behavioral Sciences
BS - Utah State University
MS - Oregon State University
- McCarty, Richard 1984
Academic Computing
BA - Idaho State University
MA - University of Nevada, Las Vegas
- McCombs, Edith 1985
Mathematics
BS - University of Idaho
MAT - Washington State University
- McFarlane, Michael 1983
Physical Science, Mining Technology
AB - Humboldt State University
MS - University of Nevada, Reno
- McMullen, Cyd 1975
English
BA - University of Colorado
MA - University of Utah
- McNally, Richard 1987
Special Assistant to the
Vice President for Academic Affairs
English
BA, MA - University of Nevada,
Las Vegas
- Murphy, Bret 1984
Diesel Technology
BT - Northern Montana College
MEd - University of Nevada, Reno
- Nickel, Ed 1989
Reference Librarian
BA - Kansas State University
MLS - Emporia (KS) State University
- Popeck, Stan 1987
Director, Occupational Education
BS - University of Wyoming
- Ports, Mark 1982
Life Sciences
BS - Oklahoma State University
MS - Ft. Hays State University
- Pryor, John 1980
Director, Small Business Development Center
Business Administration
BA - Williams College
MBA - Babson Institute
- Reber, Linda 1989
Office Administration
BS - Brigham Young University
MEd - University of Nevada, Reno
- Remington, Ron 1989
President
BA, MA - Humboldt State University
PhD - University of Nevada, Reno
- Rizzo, Sergio 1993
English
BA - University of California, Berkeley
MA, PhD - University of California, Riverside
- Shaw, Joyce 1982
Graphic Designer/Staff Writer
BS - University of Nevada, Reno
- Siler, Ralph 1989
Mill Maintenance Technology
BA - Fresno State University
- Smith, Georgeanna 1978
Director of Nursing
BSN - Montana State University
BS - Utah State University
MEd - University of Nevada, Reno
MSN - Idaho State University
- Smith, Jack 1991
History/Political Science
BA, MA - University of Utah
PhD - University of Utah
- Smith, Phil 1991
Counselor
BS - Indiana State University
MA - Ball State University
- Stringfield, Jill 1987
Office Administration
BS - Kearney State College
MEd - University of Nevada, Reno
- Sweetwater, Sarah 1971
Art
BS - West Texas State University
MEd - University of Utah
- Tempel, Karen 1984
Academic Computing
BS, BS - Michigan Technological University
MBA - University of Nevada, Reno
- Tempel, Lou 1991
Electrical Maintenance
BS - Colorado State University
- Tenney, Barbara 1985
Coordinator, Winnemucca Center
BS - Brigham Young University
- Tenney, Glen 1990
Accounting/Economics
BS - Arizona State University
MS - Western International University
- Warren, Fat 1982
Coordinator, Continuing Education
BS - California State Polytechnic
University, San Luis Obispo
MEd - University of Nevada, Reno
- Williams, Joan 1983
Director, Student Financial Services
BA, MEd - University of Nevada, Reno
- Wycoff, Marv 1991
Controller
BS - University of Nevada, Reno

Emeritus

- Berg, William .. President Emeritus
BS, MS - University of Wisconsin
EdD - University of Arizona
- Call, Dorothy Emeritus
Office Administration
BS - Indiana State University
- Day, Delna Emeritus
Nursing
Diploma - Salt Lake City Hospital
AGS - Northern Nevada Community
College
- Greenhaw, Charles .. Dean Emeritus
BA, MA - University of North Texas
PhD - University of Nevada, Reno
- Hanna, Paul Emeritus
Social Sciences
PhB, MA - University of North Dakota
MA - Texas A & I University
DPL - Oxford University
- Holland, Ruth Emeritus
Nursing
BS - University of Cincinnati
MSN - University of Utah

UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA SYSTEM BOARD OF REGENTS

JAMES EARDLEY

755 Emerson Way
Sparks, Nevada 89431
(702) 358-1526

2601 ENTERPRISE ROAD
RENO, NEVADA 89512
(702) 784-4958
FAX (702) 784-1127

Sept. 21, 1993

Governor Bob Miller
Capitol Complex
Carson City, Nevada 89701

Dear Governor Miller:

On behalf of the University and Community College System of Nevada (UCCSN) I want to convey the deep dissatisfaction being expressed by many of our 5,000 faculty and staff concerning the administration of Nevada's state health care system.

The chairs representing 12 faculty senate and classified council organizations throughout UCCSN appealed this month to the Board of Regents to intervene on their behalf, urging that short-term and long-term concerns be addressed beginning immediately.

In the short term, UCCSN employees express enormous disappointment -- describing a sense of betrayal, if you will -- that state leaders have, through inaction, allowed underfunding of the health insurance plan. They feel lack of proper planning resulted in two interim premium increases in one year. Faculty and staff urged regents during their September board meeting to seek a $2 million infusion of state funds to address the apparent immediate financial crisis facing both self-funded plans and health maintenance organizations. The 12 faculty senates and classified councils acknowledged in testimony before regents that while that amount "would still result in increased employee contributions or cuts in benefits...it would enable the benefits committee to keep benefit cuts and premium increases from having a catastrophic effect on employee finances."

In the long term, UCCSN employees express distrust about the state's ability to manage a viable health insurance system. Some propose that UCCSN examine the possibility of "opting out" and forming its own pool during the next biennium if a sound group health care plan for workers and their dependents can't be assured.

The Board of Regents did unanimously endorse this appeal to you to "express our deep concern about the underfunding of Nevada's health care system and the serious negative impact on the health and security of UCCSN employees. We urge you to do all that is in your power to find both short-term and long-term solutions to this crisis, including the infusion of funds from the Interim Finance Committee to the state's health insurance funds if possible."

Chancellor John A. Richardson recently formed an eight-member committee of our best experts throughout UCCSN to examine the state's health care system and actions of the Committee on Benefits. Their charge is to develop recommendations about UCCSN's future course of action. Until then, I urge you to intervene to prevent the Committee on Benefits' second increase from occurring at the expense of our valued employees. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

James Eardley, Board of Regents Chairman

University of Nevada-Reno
Clark County Community College

University of Nevada-Las Vegas
Northern Nevada Community College

University of Nevada-Las Vegas
Truckee Meadows Community College

Desert Research Institute
Western Nevada College

College

Faculty + Staff

CONGRATULATIONS!

BARB THOMPSON IS MOVING TO IDAHO!

★ · COME WISH HER LUCK
AND ENJOY A GASTRONOMICAL EVENT!

POT LUCK BRING YOUR FAVORITE DISH

DATE: THURSDAY, SEPT. 30, 1993

TIME: 11:30AM - 1:30PM

WHERE: BERG HALL - ROOM #7

BROUGHT TO YOU BY THE
"AMAZING GRAZING" COMMITTEE!

10-30-93 EDFP
 NORTHERN NEVADA
 COMMUNITY COLLEGE

is seeking individuals interested in teaching on a part-time basis in the following disciplines:

- English
- Philosophy
- History
- Art
- Drama
- Humanities
- Education
- Human Relations
- Physical Education
- Community Service

The NNCC service area includes Elko, Ely, Battle Mountain, Owyhee, Wendover, Wells, and Winnemucca.

Applications are available from Linda Carter, Lundberg Hall, 901 Elm Street, Elko, NV 89801.

NNCC

Empowering People

NNCC is an Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity Employer

At the Margin

By Glen Tenney

Free-trade fundamentals

Economists often disagree on a variety of matters, but there is also a large volume of economic thought that is generally agreed upon by a vast majority of these academic scribblers. One such matter is the subject of free trade between nations. It is a fact that the overwhelming majority of economists are in favor of elimination of trade barriers such as tariffs and quotas.

While economists are in favor of free trade, with regard to NAFTA (North American Free Trade Agreement) the support among economists is somewhat lacking because it is not clear that the treaty calls for free trade. Many would like to see simply an elimination of the tariffs, quotas, and other restrictions; and a treaty is not needed for that to happen.

As proof that people in society do not pay much attention to academic types, however, it is true that most people in society do not share the enthusiasm for free trade that economists do. For example, it seems to be common knowledge amongst the "common man" that the elimination of import tariffs will cost American jobs, that exports are better than imports, and that Americans are better off by disallowing foreign competition in the labor market.

Maybe it is time to review the nature of this basic idea that economists seem to favor so broadly, but which regular people seem to disapprove of with equal zeal. Or to phrase the problem as a question: Why do economists believe in such doctrines that are clearly wrong according to the accepted wisdom of the unwashed masses?

International trade takes place in the first place for the same reason that any economic transaction occurs: An individual gives up something in exchange for something that he values more than what he gives up. In a voluntary exchange, both parties expect to benefit. If this were not the case, one or both of the parties would choose to not enter into the exchange transaction. The location of the parties to the transaction, whether they reside in Nevada, Texas, Mexico, or Japan, makes no difference.

Perhaps the most common justification for import tariffs is the idea that such tariffs serve the interests of Americans by saving domestic jobs. The foolishness of this perverse doctrine seems to persist despite all reason. While it is true that certain jobs in the protected industry will temporarily be protected by import tariffs, it is important to understand that the money from which to "save those jobs" was extracted from consumers and workers in other industries.

A simplified example will serve to illustrate the point. If $100 per year were taken from 200 million people, this much money could be used to increase the incomes of one million people from $30,000 to $50,000 per year. Some will argue that this is good for the economy, because it is providing "good paying jobs" for a million people who will then spend this money to further create economic activity.

The productive capability of the $100 taken from the 200 million people is often overlooked as though it never existed. Would this money not have created millions of jobs in productive areas of the economy if left to be spent according to the desires of the consumers in the first place? Some will say that some of this money would go out of the country if there were no tariffs. This is very true, but what are foreigners going to do with American dollars? They can only be used to buy American goods which creates even more American jobs.

The problem with the American people understanding the net benefits of free trade has to do with the inability to see past the immediate and obvious effects of protective trade policies. Those whose unproductive jobs are "saved" by the trade restrictions know exactly the source of those benefits, and they know which congressmen to thank for such benefits.

The millions of people, however, whose productive jobs were lost because of those restrictions, probably don't even realize why they lost their jobs. Consumers who pay a few hundred dollars more per year in higher prices for goods and services can't see exactly where they would be better off if the tariffs were eliminated. We have a hard time seeing these things precisely because those jobs never came into existence and the goods that could have been purchased have never even been produced.

The North American Free Trade Agreement can be intelligently opposed on the grounds that it may not be clear that the treaty will provide more free trade than otherwise, but first we must understand why free trade is desirable in the first place. The placement of an international boundary between the buyer and seller of a product does not change the fact that they both benefit from a voluntary exchange. The erection of protective barriers to trade simply promotes inefficiency in the protected industry at the expense of other domestic industries that are more productive and able to compete in the world markets.

Tenney teaches economics and accounting at Northern Nevada Community College.

EDFP 11/1/93

Faculty + staff 2

NORTHERN NEVADA COMMUNITY COLLEGE

901 Elm Street
Elko, Nevada 89801

Student Services

(702) 738-8493 • FAX 738-8771
1-800-343-2724

NOVEMBER 18, 1993

TO: ALL FACULTY AND STAFF
FROM: THE COUNSELING DEPARTMENT

J. Smith
CS

EVER WONDER WHAT THE WORLD WILL BE LIKE IN 10 YEARS? FOR A GLIMPSE INTO THE WORLD OF COMPUTER TECHNOLOGY WHERE TYPING SKILLS ARE NOT NECESSARY, (NOR THE USE OF HANDS AT ALL), YOU ARE INVITED TO A FREE DEMONSTRATION OF A VOICE ACTIVATED COMPUTER PROGRAM.

A COMPANY FROM CALIFORNIA WILL DEMONSTRATE TWO REVOLUTIONARY COMPUTER SOFTWARE PROGRAMS CALLED "DRAGONDICTATE" AND CINTEX2. THESE PROGRAMS WILL BE RUN ENTIRELY BY VOICE COMMANDS. THEY WILL USE WORDPERFECT TO DICTATE LETTERS WHILE CONTROLLING THE OFFICE AND HOME APPLIANCES SUCH AS TURNING OFF AND ON THE RADIO, TV AND LIGHTS.

THIS NEW TECHNOLOGY COULD OFFER DRAMATIC LIFESTYLE IMPROVEMENTS FOR THE PHYSICALLY DISABLED WHO ARE NOT ABLE TO USE THEIR HANDS, AND/OR THOSE WHO HAVE TROUBLE WITH USING THE KEYBOARD, AND TROUBLE WITH SPELLING. MANY INJURED AND DISABLED PERSONS CAN RETURN TO THE WORK FORCE WORKING WITH COMPUTERS WITH THIS NEW TECHNOLOGY.

PLEASE COME AND SEE THIS DEMONSTRATION ON MONDAY, NOV. 29
AT 10:00 TO 11:00 A.M. IN BERG HALL 7. REFRESHMENTS PROVIDED.

cc Ron Remington
Stan Aiazzi
Bill Bonaudi
Carl Diekans

NNCC
EMPOWERING PEOPLE

A Member College of the University of Nevada System

NORTHERN NEVADA COMMUNITY COLLEGE

MEMORANDUM

DATE: December 22, 1993
TO: Staff and Administrators
FROM: Jackie Buzan and Beverly Sonny
RE: Potluck Lunch

We have reserved Berg Hall Room 7 from 11:30 - 1:00 for tomorrow's potluck lunch. It sounds like we are going to have lots of good food. See you there!!

Pay hikes endorsed for professors

*520FF
7-5-94*

LAS VEGAS (AP) — The Board of Regents has endorsed a 15.9 percent salary increase proposal for professors and administrators of Nevada's universities and community colleges.

Regents plan to take the proposed $42 million salary and benefits package to the 1995 legislature.

It calls for a retroactive 8.9 percent increase to make up for the last three years, a three percent increase for 1995 and a four percent raise for 1996.

"It's encouraging the regents have taken a look at the facts and figures, and decided to submit (the package) as a top priority," said Jim Stivers, Faculty Senate chairman of the University of Nevada Las Vegas.

"Our paychecks haven't kept up with inflation for the past three years. It's time to catch up."

Regents Chairman Jim Eardley said it's doubtful the full 15.9 percent increase would gain approval of legislators.

"The real world will probably bring that down quite a bit — to the level of what the rest of the state employees will get," he said. "They shouldn't go any longer without pay raises, but I'd bet negotiations will take those numbers down."

The proposed salary package would affect more than 2,500 professional faculty and staff within the University and Community College System of Nevada.

It was recommended by the system's Joint Professional Compensation Committee, which stressed "the importance of adequate compensation in competing for and retaining desired faculty in a national marketplace."

Eardley said professors and administrators have become frustrated because teachers and other governmental employees in Clark and Washoe counties have won recent salary increases despite unfavorable budget climates.

Pvt. Tony Salvatierra

1-19-94

Army Private Tony J. Salvatierra II has completed basic training at Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C.

During the training, students receive instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Salvatierra is the son of Tony Salvatierra I of Elko. FD

FREE PRESS

Extra

TUESDAY, JANUAR

Gathering celebrates 10th year

By Sandy Miller

Two weeks before the opening of the 10th annual Cowboy Poetry Gathering, the third floor of the old Pioneer Hotel, home of the Western Folklife Center, was buzzing with activity.

Phones were ringing off the hook as delivery men hauled in boxes of cowboy poetry memorabilia, placed a temporary resting spots in the hallways. Program Director Meg Hlaser was busy making sure all the exhibits arrived on time so she could begin arranging them in the empty display cases downstairs.

Meanwhile, Artistic Director Hal Cannon was doing his best just to be mobile, his left leg in a cast after ripping almost all of the ligaments away from his quadricep muscle last month while installing a bay window at his new home in Starr Valley. While there is no "good time" to incur such an injury, it couldn't have happened to Cannon at a worse time — right in the middle of planning the center's biggest cultural event of the year — the mother of all poetry gatherings. For transportation, Cannon was at the mercy of friends with large enough vehicles in which to stretch out his mammoth 8-foot-tall frame, until friend Bob Cavenier, who works at Wright Motors, lent him a boat of a Chevy to haul

Tyson, Buck Ramsey, Riders in the Sky, Baxter Black, Muzzie Braun and the Boys, and Michael Martin Murphy. And that's just a fraction of the invitation list. Australian drovers, Hawaiian paniolas, and Mexican-American vaqueros will be riding into town. In addition to the poetry readings and music jamborees, special sessions will spotlight the cowboy heritage and the future of the ranching lifestyle. The "Ten Years Gathering" exhibit will feature photographs documenting the past decade, and the "Gathering of Gear" will feature some of the finest contemporary cowboy craftsmanship, including the work of a saddlemaker from Switzerland and a horsehair hitcher from Germany (who are bringing their translators with them, Cannon said.)

Workshops will focus on traditional western fare like silversmithing, silver engraving, leather stamping, cowboy song and poetry writing, western photography, and cowboy cooking. One of the new attractions this year is "A Day On The Ranch," where cowboy "wannabes" can spend the night on one of the nearby ranches, sleeping in the bunkhouse and working right alongside the real buckaroos. And of course, there will be plenty of cowboy memorabilia for sale. All in all, ciated Press, United Press International, Wall Street Journal, and the Chicago Tribune.

The Cowboy Poetry Gathering has come a long way since its christening Jan. 31 1985. Never in Cannon's wild west dreams did he ever think it would be this grand. The Elko gathering is the predecessor to more than 150 such gatherings held throughout the West each year, turning Elko into what one New York Times crossword puzzle called "the cowboy poetry mecca," and one Idaho paper called "Paris on the Humboldt."

The economic impact has been enormous. Hotels book up months in advance, and a recent survey conducted by the center showed the gathering's audience spends about $2.9 million when all is said and done. Add the rollover factor and that $2.9 million in direct spending translates into about $5 million of economic activity for the community.

To trace the roots of the event, readers have to go all the way back to 1916, in of all places, Washington, D.C., where Cannon, then the Utah State Folklorist met with a group of other western folklorists in a courtyard at the Library of Congress. It was here they first shared their common concern that the history of the American West was in danger of were dying and taking their memories with them."

The folklorists decided to pool their efforts, each of them agreeing to research and document cowboy poetry in their areas. They continued to meet once a year to share what they'd learned, and to apply for new grants to keep the project going.

It was that same year Cannon began traveling to Elko to help Northern Nevada Community College Art Director Sarah Sweetwater on her annual Pioneer Arts and Crafts Festival. Sweetwater had been bringing in local poets like Waddie Mitchell and Jack Walthers to recite their rhymes at her annual get-together in the park, as well as cowboy craftspeople to demonstrate ranchmaking arts.

"I called it 'skills sharing,'" Sweetwater said. "Elko was a big part of a grassroots movement that made that first gathering happen. We still have cowboys living on ranches 100 miles from town, without TV, who go back to the bunkhouse every night and recite poetry, braid rawhide, and make horsehair ropes. We brought the ranching lifestyle out of the bunkhouses and the kitchens."

Sweetwater introduced Cannon to her cowboy poet friends, and Cannon continued to travel out to the ranches to record and document the

R.S.V.P to one of the following:

Carolyn Owen	753-2272
Lynn Mahlberg	753-2282
Val Easterly	753-2330
Joyce Shaw	753-2210

for Laura Gallegos
and
Debbie Heaton-Lamp

Friday, May 6, 1994
12 O'Clock Noon
Berg Hall, Rooms 7 & 8

Ba*b*y*S*h*o*w*e*r

FREE PRESS

Extra

TUESDAY, APRIL 26, 1988

Elko Lions Club hosts convention this week

By Mary Branscomb
Two-legged, large felines who to Elko Lions Club like to as they labor and they have being so in this, the local chap- 15th year, to prepare for the District 4N of Lions Clubs International meeting to take place day through Sunday at the Elko ntion Center.

istrict 4N includes all of Nevada il as Truckee and South Tahoe lifornia. At least 300 conven- ers and their spouses are ex- li to attend, according to Ray er. This will include Spring's Ruby Mountain Lions Club, d.

President of Lions Clubs In- onal, Judge Brian Stevenson ary, Alberta, Canada, will ad- the annual convention, an- ed "King Lion" Mike Mead. k Paris, this year's convention an, explained, "There will be of the regular traditions of the l convention including a food th a circus theme, first night- inner, speech contest, necro- rvice (to acknowledge the re- deceased), awards banquet, t zone and club officer train- d district governors' banquet." ned special events include: tion booths and trade show; athlyon of golfing, bowling, hooting and horseshoe tossing; n show; shopping trip in Elko special prizes to be awarded; bus tour of Camp Lamolille, of Camp Dat-So-La-Lee.

camp, Elko Lions' main pro- s for disadvantaged children. It ed for a Nevada Pituites woman recognized as one of the finest l weavers ever known. Exam- of her work can be seen in the sontan Museum in Washington, and in the Nevada Museum in a City.

The name, Lions, comes from the first letters of each word in the slogan: "Liberty, Intelligence, Our Nation's Safety."

The club motto is "We serve," which accurately describes the world's largest and most active service club organization as well as the growing local chapter.

Elko, far from the most populous municipality in Nevada, nevertheless has one of the biggest memberships with almost 100 Lions, 40 more than five years ago; and recently the traditionally male group has welcomed eight women.

Among purposes listed for Lions in their constitution is "to encourage service-minded people to serve their community without personal financial reward; to encourage efficiency and promote high ethical standards in commerce, industry, professions, public works and private endeavors."

Gardner says although membership in the nation's service clubs has been dropping, Lions' membership has risen by 10 percent. He thinks it seem to do with the fun Lions seem to find in their efforts.

Since the organization was founded by Chicago insurance man Melvin Jones in 1917, membership in Lions clubs has grown to 1.4 million in 41,000 clubs in 181 countries and geographical areas.

Members in Elko are small businessmen, mine and school executives, entrepreneurs and professional als. They range in age from early 20 to well past 70. Most are in their 30 and 40s. About half of the membership — not always the same half — attends weekly noon business meetings.

Since 1925 when Helen Keller challenged Lions to become "knights of the blind in the crusade against darkness," preventing blindness has been the primary program. This year,

Lions hope to raise $130 million to establish SightFirst projects toward its goal to "eradicate preventable blindness in the world."

Lions also "make a strong commitment to youth," in drug prevention programs and camps for deaf and blind children as well as camps for healthy youths who otherwise might not be able to enjoy an outdoor rural experience.

They promote diabetes awareness education because the disease often leads to blindness and they contribute money and effort toward vocational education. In recent years they began to assist deaf people by providing hearing aids (and dogs to listen for doorbells and phone calls), closed caption units that fit on television sets and free camps where children learn sign language. Elko Lions can also furnish "descriptive video" in which the action shown on a screen is described so blind people can imagine the scene. Lions also disburse donated funds for disaster relief.

Local projects might include mundane activities such as picking up garbage in Mountain City Highway barrow pits, enjoyable spectacles like the John Strong and King Royal Circuses planned for late summer, unusual events like a day with the Great American (antique auto) Race June 23; and lofty things like sending money to international sight preservation projects and to camp Sign Shine in California for deaf children.

In Elko, the main money maker is selling See's Candy at Christmas time. Proceeds are used to assist the Elko High School Band, Boy Scout Clubs and elementary children who need travel money to compete in contests such as Odyssey of the Mind.

Annually, Elko Lions stage a patriotic speech contest for high school students in one Nevada and 16 California districts. Scholarships are given on each competition level and the ultimate grand prize winner earns $17,000 toward his or her education.

Past and present Elko Lions Club officers in this photo are, seated from left, president-elect; Mike Mead, immediate past president; and Dan Byington, member Standing are Richard Culver, left, Region 11 chairman (Elko, Winnemucca and Helen Murray, eyeglass chairman.

Special speaker
In 1988, Canadian Judge Brian Stevenson was international president when he spoke at the Elko Lions Club's 50th anniversary convention. He was elected president of the International Association of Lions Clubs at its 70th annual convention in Taipei, Taiwan, Republic of China in 1987.

Professionally, Stevenson practiced law in private practice, was special prosecutor in the Canadian Department of Justice and, in 1974, was appointed for life as a judge to the Provincial Court of Alberta.

A Lion since 1968 and member of the Calgary Northeast Eyesopener Lions Club, he has served as district governor, member of the association's board of directors (1977-79) and was a presidential appointee to the international board for 1979-81. In 1981, he was appointed by the international board to a three-year term as international executive coordinator of Campaign SightFirst.

His awards include receiving the 100-percent District Governor Award, Membership and Advancement Key, 11 International President's Awards and Ambassador of Good Will Award, the highest honor granted by the association to its members. He is also a Melvin Jones Fellow, nominated by his club, which donated $1,000 to the international club in his name.

In addition to his work as a Lion, Stevenson served as president of the Calgary Social Planning Council, board member of the Calgary United Way and member of the City of Calgary Social Services.

He was president of the Alberta Provincial Judges Association and chairman of the International Year of Disabled Persons Committee for the Province of Alberta.

Lions, who are deeply involved in Elko traditions, have staged the Elko

Wood, Dr. Steve Comish, C.B. Tabcock, Ralph Druhl, L.H. Monson, Larry Carson, Lloyd Hessel, Duke Porter and Alex Puccinelli. Others who signified their intention of joining the fledgling group, according to an Elko Independent account in 1963, were Pete Walters, John Garris, Francis Shadel and O.J. Crow.

Membership is by invitation only, but virtually any interested person can approach a Lion who will be an enthusiastic sponsor, providing the initiate is willing to work hard and enjoy slightly "sophomoric" lunch-time pranks, Gardner explained.

"Lions may be producers, but they don't take themselves seriously," he noted.

Outstanding Lions
Elko Lions Club has produced four district governors. They are Frank E. Walters, 1942-43; Harold Anderson, 1949-50; Wallace White, 1952-53; and Robert L. Kerth, 1982-83.

Lion E.C. "Eddie" Murphy has been honored by his club with a $1,000 donation to have him named a Melvin Jones Fellow. Murphy is also the club's only Helen Keller Fellow.

New officers
Newly elected officers for 1984-85 are Paul Stevens, president; Gary D'Orazio, first vice-president; Walt Campbell, second vice-president; Paul Gardner, third vice-president; Marv Wycoff, secretary; Mari Paris, treasurer; Mary Jane Iowen, tail twister; and Pablo Munde, lion tamer.

New board members are Greg Boden and Allen Murray, one-year directors; and Gary Cummings and Margaret Turner, to Dan Byington was membership commu-

years. Mike Mead, immediate, will serve McLeod is the ey chairman and War- be Camp Lamolille'

Canadian Judge son, invited speaker Elko five years of Lions Club celeb den anniversary.

"Boy Scout Camp" in Lamolille Canyon, below, has been Elko Lions Club's responsibility for a decade. Members clean it up every spring, schedule activities (family reunions, company church picnics, children's camps,) have added three "A" frame cabins and purchased a new rator. In photo above, Elko Lion Richard Culver is seen on the far left with children in a Dis- 4N camp. A young counselor is in the center and "Doc" Deputy, 1st district governor of Dis- 4N, is on the far right.

ENNCC receives high rank from accreditation board

Northern Nevada Community College recently completed its accreditation process and was granted a 10-year evaluation cycle from the Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges.

NNCC President Ronald Remington called the evaluation the equivalent of "winning a gold medal."

"It's really an accomplishment — one that we and the community should be extremely proud of," Remington said. "Although 10-year accreditation cycles were commonplace years ago, the standards have toughened. The criteria is stricter and accountability or assessment is a major focus. Many schools and colleges which were routinely given 10-year cycles are now required to provide two and/or five-year progress reports so that accreditation teams can come back sooner to review the progress the school has made."

Accreditation is a process of recognizing educational institutions for performance, integrity and quality. In the United States, that recognition is extended largely through non-governmental, professional organizations responsible for establishing criteria, visiting and evaluating institutions, and approving those schools which meet their criteria.

The accreditation process begins two years in advance of any team visit. Beginning in 1992, NNCC conducted a self-study or internal examination of resources which examined the college's mission and objectives, finances, physical plant, staff and programs. Faculty, staff and students worked on individual committees to review strengths and weaknesses in each area, and the result was a document that reflected accomplishments, needs and future plans for improvement.

The document was presented to a team of eight evaluators from the Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges, and the team spent three days at NNCC visiting classrooms, and talking with staff and students. The evaluating team gave NNCC five commendations:

- NNCC faculty and staff are dedicated, committed, hard working and student centered.
- NNCC is committed to serving all of northern Nevada.
- NNCC's economic development efforts and partnerships with business and industry are exemplary.
- NNCC Foundation's development and success is extraordinary.
- Mutual trust and respect among employee groups is outstanding.

Recommendations made to the college centered around lack of funding, including developing means to replace and upgrade equipment, and employ more full-time faculty and qualified part-time employees.

93-94

Are you planning to transfer to another college or university?

At NNCC Student Services you can access the catalogs of every college of the Western Region including:

- Alaska
- Arizona
- California
- Colorado
- Hawaii
- Idaho
- Montana
- Nevada
- New Mexico
- Oregon
- Utah
- Washington
- Wyoming

The service is free! Call Student Services for an appointment, 753-2102.

The colleges represented have complete catalogs from cover-to-cover for all types of colleges including:

- two-year
- four-year
- undergraduate
- graduate
- medical
- law
- military
- allied health
- nursing
- art
- international/foreign
- business
- religion/theology
- chiropractic
- technical
- vocational

And there are complete course descriptions for:

- engineering
- technology
- arts and sciences
- pharmacy
- psychology
- communication
- drama
- music
- computer science
- business
- library science
- journalism
- social science
- education
- dentistry
- vet med
- and many more!

FOUNDATION

Foundation

Gifts

Grants

EDFP 9-22-93

Rayrock environmental award to benefit NNCC

Rayrock Yellowknife Resources today received the 1993 Dupont/Conoco Environmental Leadership Award for its reclamation programs at three northern Nevada mines, including Dee Gold in Elko County.

Along with the honors for the Toronto-based company, Dupont/Conoco will donate $40,000 to Northern Nevada Community College for science lab equipment on Rayrock's behalf.

The award-winning corporation was asked to select a nonprofit organization to receive the $40,000 donation, and Rayrock announced NNCC as its choice.

Rayrock's selection as the 1993 winner was announced today at the American Mining Congress's annual meeting in San Francisco.

"While this award primarily reflects our efforts at the Dee, Pinson and Marigold mines in the United States, all of the Rayrock Group shareholders, management and employees at each of our sites have contributed significantly," said David R. Crombie, chairman and chief executive officer of Rayrock Yellowknife Resources.

"We are recognized, I believe, not simply because of one particular project or one notable environmental breakthrough, but rather in response to the practices we've had in place at Rayrock for a long time," he said.

Among the achievements cited by the selection committee was Rayrock's long-standing and unique concurrent reclamation program, a news release from Rayrock states.

The company began in the early 1980s to take care of its reclamation responsibilities as mines continued in production instead of waiting until a mining project is completed.

"The historic reclamation efforts of Pinson [Mining Company] have provided true environmental leadership for the rest of the industry in Nevada," the selection committee said.

"Pinson has not only shown that reclamation is possible, but that mining can be undertaken in an austere environment and returned to a condition which has the same level of productivity and land forms that existed prior to mining," the committee wrote.

Pinson and Marigold are located in Humboldt County.

The environmental leadership award was established in 1990 by the DuPont Company to honor exceptional environmental achievement in the hard-rock mining industry. Coeur d'Alene Mines Corporation won in 1991 and AMAX Gold Inc. in 1992.

Two other mining companies with interests in northern Nevada were also nominated for the award won by Rayrock. Pegasus Gold Corporation and Placer Dome Inc. also competed for the trophy.

The committee included people independent of DuPont and the mining industry: Joyce M. Kelly, president of the Wildlife Habitat Enhancement Council; Dr. Ann S. Maest, senior associate of RCG/Hagler, Bailly, Inc.; Glen Miller, professor at the University of Nevada, Reno; G. Lynn Sprague, director of minerals and geology management for the U.S. Forest Service; and U.S. Rep. Nick Rahall, D-W.Va.

Rayrock is a mineral exploration, development and operating company. Outside Nevada, the company is 100 percent owner of Western Ag-Minerals Company, which has a Carisbad, N.M., agricultural mineral mine.

In addition, the company is involved in mineral development and exploration in Central and South American through its 45 percent-owned Minera Rayrock. And the company is involved in oil and gas exploration, development and operations in Canada through its 39 percent-owned Discovery West Corporation.

Barrick donates to NNCC

ED 10-27-93

Barrick Goldstrike Mines, Inc. presented a $1,265 check to Northern Nevada Community College for a project that will benefit both organizations.

The donation will be used to purchase equipment for setting up a microfossil extraction laboratory. Mike McFarlane, a NNCC physical sciences instructor, will be preparing his samples, and geological samples from the Goldstrike property, for fossil age dating.

The research will become part of McFarlane's doctoral thesis, "Structure and Stratigraphy of Allochthonous Rocks in the Snake Mountains, Elko County, Nevada," and will benefit his students by demonstrating the practical application of dating fossils.

McFarlane expressed his appreciation for the opportunity to work with Goldstrike on a project that will make a contribution to the natural sciences.

Donation: Arby's owners Ron DeFevre and Mike Franzoia (center) recently donated $5,000 to the Northern Nevada Community College Foundation's campaign to fund the second phase of the College Community Center, which consists of a theater, community events center and a solarium. The center has been built entirely on donations. The Arby's owners said they made the donation because they feel the college is one of the finest institutions in the state and deserves the support of the community. Pictured from left are: Jeanne Black, NNCC foundation executive director; DeFevre and Franzoia; and NNCC foundation board member Paul Sawyer. The foundation is in the midst of a theater seat-selling campaign. Those who would like to purchase a seat may call the foundation office at 753-2236.

10-30-93 E DFP

(Submitted photo)

Donation: Barrick Goldstrike Mines, Inc. recently presented a check for $1,265 to Northern Nevada Community College for the purchase of equipment to set up a micro-fossil extraction laboratory. Mike McFarlane, an NNCC physical sciences instructor, will be preparing his samples and geological samples from Barrick Goldstrike property for fossil age dating. This research will become part of McFarlane's doctoral thesis, "Structure and Stratigraphy of Allochthonous Rocks in the Snake Mountains, Elko County, Nevada," and it will demonstrate to his students the practical application of dating fossils. The check was presented to McFarlane by Jane Zimmerman, a geologist with Barrick's exploration department.

Donation: Newmont Mining Company General Manager Jim Mullin recently presented a $50,000 check to Northern Nevada Community College Foundation Director of Development Jeanne Blach. "It's wonderful," Blach said. "We absolutely need the community's support." The check represented a second installment of a $200,000 pledge Newmont made to the NNCC Foundation. The first installment was made last spring. The money will go toward building the college's proposed Community Events Center.

Pictured are: NNCC student Jennifer Mahlberg, and BJ Blu deGolyer, with David Russell, Independence Mining Underground Mine Manager and NNCC Foundation trustee Rich Barrows (staff photo).
EJ 11-24-93

NNCC receives donation

Northern Nevada Community College Foundation recently received the latest installment of a ten year pledge from Independence Mining Company. The pledge payment was the fifth installment of a $75,000 commitment.

K-Market donates to NNCC Foundation

EJ 11-24-93

Northern Nevada Community College Foundation is pleased to announce a recent donation from K-Market, Inc., in the amount of $6,000.

Sam and Gus Khoury presented the check to the NNCC Foundation. K-Market began 11 years ago and has expanded to include an entire shopping center for the people who live in the Spring Creek area. Each of the Khoury's have four children and have been active in the community.

The trustees of the NNCC Foundation are grateful for the Khoury's donation. The money will go toward the completion of the theater and community events center of the College Community Center Complex.

David Russell, Underground Mine Manager for Independence presented a check to Rich Barrows, NNCC Foundation trustee. Also on hand to receive the check were NNCC students Jennifer Mahlberg and BJ Blu deGolyer.

"IMC is pleased to continue our support of NNCC and its Foundation with this donation. We enjoy our partnership with the College and enjoy watching it flourish as it has in recent years," said Russell. "We like to be a partner with the college in helping to bring about positive growth and development of NNCC."

IMC has donated $72,500 to NNCC Foundation since 1984 and supports education throughout the state through various programs including Partners in Education and the Earth Space Science Institute for Teachers at UNR. In addition, IMC provides two, four-year scholarships to both UNR and UNLV each year as well as in-house university scholarships to the children of employees.

NNCC Foundation is presently in the midst of Phase II fund raising for the College Community Center. Phase II will consist of a 250 seat theater and a community events center. Construction is scheduled to go out to bid this spring. Currently, theater seats are available for purchase with the purchaser's name to be engraved on an arm plate. Anyone interested can call 753-2236.

Pledge: Northern Nevada Community College Foundation recently received the latest installment of a 10-year pledge from Independence Mining Company, the fifth installment of a $75,000 commitment. From left, are NNCC students Jennifer Mahlberg and B.J. Blu deGolyer, IMC Underground Mining Manager David Russell and NNCC Foundation Trustee Rich Barrows. "IMC is very pleased to continue our support of NNCC and its Foundation with this donation," Russell said. "We enjoy our partnership with the college and enjoy watching it flourish as it has in recent years." NNCC Foundation is in the midst of Phase II fund-raising for the College Community Center, which will consist of a 250-seat theater and community events center. Theater seats are now available for purchase with the purchaser's name to be engraved on the arm plate. Those interested in purchasing a seat may call 753-2236.

BINGO

Manna

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 26
6:00 - 10:00 P.M.

*College Community Center
901 Elm Street*

$.50 per card
$1.00 per 3 cards

FUN
FOOD
FRIENDS
FABULOUS RAFFLE
FANTASTIC GOODIE TABLE

*Call 753-2237
for more information*

NNCC second year student, Nalini Bhakta, and Foundation Special Events Committee member, Connie Satterthwaite, display the navy, white and wine-colored afghan scheduled to be raffled during "Bingo Mania" on Saturday, February 26. The afghan donated by Fran Thiercof, is just one of the features of an evening of bingo, food and fun. Festivities begin at 6:00 p.m.

Members of the NNCC Foundation Events Committee were caught at a working lunch last week, planning their upcoming "Bingo Mania" evening. Above, from left, are Colleen Harrison, Connie Satterthwaite, Louie Horton, Chairman Renee Jackson and Richard Culver. Not pictured are committee members Judy Emerson, Len VanNatter and Jeanne Blach.

"Bingo Mania" scheduled

The Northern Nevada Community College Foundation Board will again host a night of "Bingo Mania," at the College Community Center.

"Bingo Mania" is the first fundraiser offered this year. The evening will include bingo, refreshments and door prizes beginning at 6:00 to 10:00 p.m. on Saturday, February 26.

Participants will pay $.50 for one bingo card or $1.00 for three cards for each game. A percentage of these proceeds will be given as prizes to the winners.

Fran Thiercoff, chairperson, has donated an afghan to be raffled as a door prize.

The NNCC Foundation hosts several unique events to raise money for the Community College and 1994 plans include a volleyball tournament as well as a jazz festival.

Raffle: This beautiful afghan will be raffled off during "Bingo Mania" from 6 to 9 p.m. Feb. 26 at the Community Center at Northern Nevada Community College. All proceeds from the event will benefit the NNCC Foundation. The handmade afghan, donated by Fran Thiercof, will be auctioned during the latter part the evening. In addition to bingo games, the casual affair will feature plenty fun and door prizes, and Donuts 'N More will be on hand to sell refreshments. Pictured, left to right, NNCC Foundation Director of Development Jeanne Blach; Jessica Jackson and her mother, Foundation Special Events Committee Chairman Renee Jackson; and Committee Member Richard Culver.

EJFP 2-12-94

Donation:

Dale Blair, left, vice president of Al Park Petroleum, recently presented a $5,000 check to Northern Nevada Community College Foundation chairman John McDonough for the second phase of the foundation's College Community Complex. It is also the second installment of a $15,000 pledge from Al Park Petroleum, which gave $10,000 for the first phase. "This is great," McDonough said. "Al Park Petroleum has been a mainstay of the local community for a long time and we're very appreciative of the gift." The foundation is currently selling seats in the future complex's 250-seat theater. Those who would like to purchase a seat may call the foundation at 753-2236.

EJ 4-13-94

First Interstate Bank Pledge Benefits NNCC

Northern Nevada Community College Foundation announces the receipt of an installment payment made by the First Interstate Bank of Nevada Foundation. First Interstate Bank of Nevada Foundation was among the first corporate donors to the NNCC Foundation during their Major Gifts Campaign with a gift of $100,000. The recent payment of $20,000 is the fifth installment on their five year pledge. On hand to receive the pledge payment were Dr. Ronald Remington, NNCC Foundation Secretary and President of NNCC, and Mrs. Jeanne Blach, NNCC Foundation's Director of Development. Dr. Remington accepted the check by saying, "We are very grateful the First Interstate Bank of Nevada Foundation has chosen to support NNCC and its Foundation. We look forward to a long relationship between the College and First Interstate." The money from this pledge will be used for the College Community Center. Representing First Interstate Bank of Nevada Foundation were: Mendy K. Cavanaugh, Vice President of First Interstate Bank; Greg Boden, First Interstate Retail Bank Manager; and Rupe-Ruiz, Nevada Affordable Housing Lender.

Donation:

Alltel California/Nevada Vice President Bob Cori, right, and communications consultant Ralph Walborn, left, recently presented a $10,000 check to the Northern Nevada Community College Foundation, the fourth installment of a $30,000 pledge. "We are pleased to continue our support to the college," Cori said. The money will be used to help build a 250-seat theater, which is scheduled to begin construction this month, according to Foundation Director Jeanne Blach. Also pictured are Nevada Assemblymen John Marvel, second from left, and NNCC President Ronald Remington. EJFP 5-7-94

NNCC volleyball s

D'Orazio's IGA is teaming up with the Northern Nevada Community College Foundation to present their annual coed volleyball tournament on Saturday, April 30. The tournament is for three-player teams and will be played on grass at NNCC's campus. The event starts at 9 a.m. There will be separate "A" and "B" and Recreational divisions based on skill levels. "A" and "B" teams will have two women and one man. Recreation teams can have any combination of men and women.

Each team is guaranteed five matches. Cash prizes awarded to the top two teams in each division, and other prizes given to third- and fourth-place teams. The entry fee is $10 per player. Refreshments will be available. IGA is to set up a hospital for referees. Entry forms are available at NNCC's student center and Foundation offices. All entries due by Friday, April 29. For more information persons can pho Hunton at 738-7367.

The NNCC Foundation presents

EJFP

4-22-94

THE IGA/NNCC Annual Coed

VOLLEYBALL TOURNAMENT

3 person - grass - cash prizes
 When: Sat., April 30 • Time: 9:00 a.m.
 Where: Grass on NNCC's Campus
 Cost: $10 per player
 Questions: Call Diane Hunton 738-7367

EDFP 6-11-94

Donation: Barrick Goldstrike Mines Maintenance Training Director Steve Hejnal, right, recently presented a $1,000 check to Northern Nevada Community College Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) President Bret Murphy. The Barrick donation will help NNCC students Troy Davis, Ty Albisu and Travis Phillips travel to VICA's national contest, which will be held later this month in Kansas City, Mo.

Award benefits NNCC

EDFP 6-8-94

Rayrock Yellowknife Resources Inc. received the 1993 Dupont/Conoco Environmental Leadership Award for its reclamation programs at three northern Nevada mines, including Dee Gold in Elko County. Along with the honors for the Toronto-based company, Dupont/Conoco donated $40,000 to Northern Nevada Community College for science lab equipment on Rayrock's behalf.

The award-winning corporation was asked to select a nonprofit organization to receive the $40,000 donation, and Rayrock announced NNCC as its choice.

Rayrock's selection as the 1993 winner was announced at the American Mining Congress's annual meeting in San Francisco last September.

"While this award primarily reflects our efforts at the Dee, Pinson and Marigold mines in the United States, all of the Rayrock Group shareholders, management and employees at each of our sites have contributed significantly," said David R. Crombie, chairman and chief executive officer of Rayrock Yellowknife Resources.

"We are recognized, I believe, not simply because of one particular project, or one notable environmental breakthrough, but rather in response to the practices we've had in place at Rayrock for a long time," he said.

Among the specific achievements cited by the selection committee was Rayrock's long-standing and unique concurrent reclamation program, Rayrock said.

The company began in the early 1980s to take care of its reclamation responsibilities as mines continued in production instead of waiting until a mining project is completed.

"The historic reclamation efforts of Pinson [Mining Company] have provided true environmental leadership for the rest of the industry in Nevada," the selection committee said.

"Pinson has not only shown that reclamation is possible, but that mining can be undertaken in an austere environment and returned to a condition which has the same level of productivity and land forms that existed prior to mining," the committee wrote.

Pinson and Marigold are located in Humboldt County.

The committee also noted Rayrock's corporate policy of not mining in areas of environmental sensitivity, and stated that "the philosophy of avoiding water quality problems is a conservation position for environmental protection that other companies can emulate."

The environmental leadership award was established in 1990 by the DuPont Company to honor exceptional environmental achievement in the hard-rock mining industry. Coeur d'Alene Mines Corporation won in 1991 and AMAX Gold Inc. in 1992.

Two other mining companies with interests in northern Nevada were also nominated for the award won by Rayrock — Pegasus Gold Corporation and Placer Dome Inc.

EDFP 6-18-94

Property: Northern Nevada Community College Foundation has sold property in Battle Mountain to the state for $85,800. The foundation will use the money to help pay for the second phase of the College Community Center. A 250-seat theater, part of the $2 million project, is slated to be opened next year. The state plans to use the land for an Interstate 80 off-ramp, according to a press release. The property is 49,017 square feet. Kathy and Mark Chilton of Elko, left, donated the property to the foundation four years ago. Pictured at right are Jeanne Blach of the foundation and college President Ron Remington.

H
A P
P
E
N
I N
G
S

C
O
N
C
E
R
T
S

HAPPENINGS

Happenings 1
~~_____~~
~~_____~~

Fall dinner dance to be held Nov. 6

Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC) Foundation is now taking reservations for its elegant Fall Dinner Dance Nov. 6 at the Elko Convention Center.

This year's theme is "Stardust," symbolizing the big band era. Music will be provided by the Musk Band and Southwind.

Reservations are $40 per person and may be made by calling the NNCC Foundation office at 753-2237.

EDFP 10/28/93

Annual Fall Dinner Dance
 Saturday, November 6, 1993
 Elko Convention Center

6:30 p.m.
 No-Host Cocktails

7:30 p.m. Dinner and Dancing to the Sounds of Joe Muscalino

$40 per person
 $320 per table of eight
 $400 per table of ten

R.S.V.P. by October 30, 753-2237

with the Northern Nevada Community College Foundation

EDFP 10-26-93

Fall dance: From left, Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC) Foundation committee member Renee Jackson and new co-chairwomen Nancy Ernaut and Nancy Remington are pictured. The three women, along with other committee members and volunteers, are planning the foundation's annual Fall Dinner Dance Nov. 6 at the Elko Convention Center. "It's a good way for people to get involved in the college," Jackson said. This year's theme is "Stardust" and the big band era, and music will be provided by Joe Muscalino and the Musk Band. Cocktails will be served at 6:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 7:30. Reservations are $40 per person and can be made by calling the foundation office at 753-2237.

Reservations open for NNCC Dinner Dance

With the coming fall, a very exciting event to look forward to is the annual Dinner Dance put on by the Northern Nevada Community College Foundation. The stage has been set for a very enjoyable evening centered around the theme of "Stardust" from the big band era.

On Saturday, November 6th, the Dinner Dance will get underway with cocktails at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m.

Southwind will play from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Then, guests will be entertained by Joe Muscalino and the Musk Band, until midnight.

Nancy Remington and Nancy Ernaut are co-chairpersons for the event.

Everyone is welcome to call the NNCC Foundation office at 753-2237 for reservations. No tickets are being sold this year, as reservations are being made through the office. They are $40 per person and are available now.

Ed 10-25-93

C 7th Annual

COLLEGE & CAREER FAIR

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1994
9-11:30 p.m. and 1-3:30 p.m.
Elko Convention Center - 700 Moren Way

VISIT WITH UNIVERSITY REPRESENTATIVES FROM:

- Steven Henager College of Business
 - Westminster College
 - University of Nevada, Reno - Mackay School of Mines
 - Sierra Nevada College
 - University of Nevada, Las Vegas
 - L.A. School of Chiropractic
 - Northern Nevada Community College
 - Lassen College
 - Boise State University
- and more!

VISIT WITH REPRESENTATIVES FROM LOCAL AGENCIES AND BUSINESSES including:

- Operating Engineers Joint Apprenticeship Committee
 - Ruby View Chiropractic
 - Elko County Classroom Teachers
 - Elko County Family Resources
 - Elko General Hospital
 - Francis Keller Child Center
 - Murdock Travel
 - Northern Nevada Carpenters
 - American Federal Savings
- and more!

VISIT WITH REPRESENTATIVES FROM MAJOR CORPORATIONS AND THE MILITARY including:

- First Interstate Bank
 - Newmont Gold
 - Barrick Gold Strike
 - Country Companies
 - Prudential
 - U.S. Bank
 - ALLTEL
- and more!

Please join us

For more information
call the Job Placement Center
at 753-2255

Unlike some colleges and universities

NNCC is SMALL, FRIENDLY, ECONOMICAL,
QUALITY-ORIENTED, and FUN TO HAVE IN TOWN.

But best of all . . . we're

CONVERTIBLE!

An NNCC education converts into associate degrees of arts, science, and applied science, pre-transfer courses for most colleges and universities, exceptional, state-of-the-art vocational training, and fast employability.

Join students from Austin, Battle Mountain, Carlin, Elko, Eureka, Jackpot, Lowry, McDermitt, Owyhee, Wells, Wendover, and White Pine High Schools for

THE COLLEGE EXPERIENCE - a first-hand look at college life and learning:

- * Campus Tours
- * Question and Answer Session
- * Learn to Speak College-ese
- * Financial Aid Information
- * Degree Programs
- * Barbecue

SEPTEMBER 29, 1993

Make tracks to your high school counselor's office and sign up by SEPTEMBER 24th!

NORTHERN NEVADA COMMUNITY COLLEGE

The MILAGO
BEANFIELD WAR

A Film Presentation

of

NORTHERN NEVADA
COMMUNITY COLLEGE

When a Chicano handyman from the Milagro Valley in New Mexico decides to irrigate his small beanfield by "borrowing" some water from a large and potentially destructive development site, he unknowingly sets off a chain reaction that erupts into a humorous culture clash. The developers then try to stamp out the modest plantings, forcing the handyman's friends to team up with the spirited rebel to protect and preserve their way of life.

Thursday, October 14
7:00 p.m.

or

Friday, October 15
12:00 p.m.

Greenhaw Technical Arts
Lecture Room
ADMISSION FREE

*Refreshments will be available for purchase furnished by
The Ethnic Minority Affair Committee*

A The West Is Home presentation made possible with assistance from the Nevada Humanities Committee, the state affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

'93

Black Nevadans — Yesterday and Today
Photo Exhibit - Community Center

The Black Nevadans Photo Exhibit is being displayed at the Community Center until October 28. Black Nevadans have made substantial contributions to our state's history. Did you know that the first Nevada Baptist church was a Black church in Virginia City? Did you know that one of the wealthier ranchers in western Nevada during the 19th century was Black? Did you know that the author of the first book published by a resident of Elko (barber Thomas Detter, 1871) was Black. You are invited to view this outstanding exhibition produced in conjunction with the Nevada Black History Project in the Community Center.

H-3

NNCC concert

Friday ^{Ed}
12-1-93

Start your Christmas season off with beautiful music. The Northern Nevada Community College Concert Choir will present its Christmas program on Friday, December 3rd at 7 p.m. in Berg Hall.

Ralph Siler, NNCC music instructor and concert choir director, has prepared a presentation especially crafted to catch the spirit of the season. The program will begin with Bach's Cantata 147 - Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring. A second Bach piece written especially for the Christmas season - Christen, Atzet Diesen Tag - will also be presented. Siler and the choir have added a new twist to the presentation - accompaniment via computer. Through musical instrument digital interface or MIDI, a computer senses the notes, rhythm, and volume of music played for it. The computer can then recreate the music with "synthetic instruments" using the instructions it has received via the interface. "Our audience will be both amazed and delighted at this presentation. MIDI is truly the blending of technology and the arts," says Siler.

To add to the evening, the choir will perform The Promise of Living by Aaron Copeland, a piece originally prepared as an instrumental and re-arranged for voices; Rejoice My Soul by Mili Balkireff; and others.

Concert choir members include sopranos Christina A. Barnard, Barbara Burt, Andi Crouch, Valerie Gleeson, Linda Stapley, Susan Watkins, altos, Patricia Diehl, Debbie Gibson, Robbie Nickel, Janice Pease, Robin Simmons, tenors David Fike, John Todd, Robin Orr, basses Toni Mendive, Edgar Nickel, Doug Young, pianists Conny Erickson and Janice Pease and flutist Karen Wilson.

Admission to the performance is free. They will also give the same concert on December 26th at the Lamolille Church at 10 a.m.

Concert: Elko Community Orchestra will present its Christmas concert at 4 p.m. Sunday in Northern Nevada Community College's Berg Hall. Spring Creek High School music teacher Myron Pree will direct the group and also present the SCHS Select Chorus. The Community Orchestra is listed as an NNCC class and practices on Tuesday evenings. No admission will be charged to Sunday's concert.

HAPPY HOLIDAYS FROM NNCC

THE NORTHERN NEVADA
COMMUNITY COLLEGE

CONCERT CHOIR

Directed by Ralph Siler

FRIDAY,
DECEMBER 3, 1993
7:00 P.M.
BERG HALL

ADMISSION FREE

FEATURED Soloists:

*Christina Barnard
David Fike
Valerie Gleeson
Edgar Nickel
Robin Orr
Robin Simmons*

NNCC choir: Northern Nevada Community College's Concert Choir is busy rehearsing for its Christmas program, slated for 7 p.m. tomorrow at NNCC's Berg Hall. The choir also plans to present the same concert at 10 a.m. Dec. 26 at the Lamaille Church. NNCC Music Instructor and Choir Director Ralph Siler has prepared a program that includes many Christmas favorites such as music by Bach and Aaron Copeland. The choir will be accompanied by a computer through a process called musical instrument digital interface (MIDI), where the computer senses the notes, rhythm and volume of music and recreates it with "synthetic instruments." "Our audience will be both amazed and delighted at this presentation," Siler said. "MIDI is truly the blending of technology and the arts." Tomorrow's concert is free. From left are: first row, David Fike, Robin Orr, Susan Watkins, Linda Stapley, Andi Crouch, Valerie Gleeson and Siler; middle row, Karen Wilson, flutist, Pat Diehl, Robin Simmons and Janice Pease, pianist and singer; back row, Ed Nickel, Toni Mendive, Doug Young, Robbie Nickel, Debbie Gibson, Barbara Burt and Christina Barnard.

Share the Warmth

NNCC CHRISTMAS PARTY

Make reservations before December 6 for the annual NNCC Christmas Party — a no-host banquet to be held at the:

Holiday Inn

December 10, 1993

COCKTAILS 6:30 p.m.

DINNER 7:00 p.m.

HOLIDAY BUFFET MENU — $16/Person

Relish Tray
Mixed Greens, Fruit, Pasta, and Vegetable Salads
Rice and Potatoes
Fresh Vegetables
Rolls and Butter
Assorted Deserts

ENTREES

Roast Prime Rib
Stuffed Chicken Breast

BEVERAGES

Coffee
Brewed Decaffeinated Coffee
Tea
Milk

RESERVATION

Mail or deliver your check to: President's Office, NNCC, 901 Elm Street, Elko, NV 89801. Make check payable to the Board of Regents. If you have any questions, please call Linda Carter at 753-2265.

The ONLY PEOPLE who speak with

ACCENTS

are those who speak

TWO

LANGUAGES

93-94

2-5-94 EDPF (Financial Aid) Barbara Giles (Submitted photo)
Spinners: Sagebrush Spinners Square Dance Club held a square dancing demonstration last Saturday at Raley's. The demonstration was in honor of the Cowboy Poetry Gathering. Mike Giles called rounds and Jim Crawford called squares.

NATIVE AMERICAN VOICES

with Julie King, Professor of English, Western Nevada Community College

Using Native American music, Professor King will illustrate and reinforce certain themes as examples of what Native American literature is or is not.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1994
7:00 P.M.
Greenhaw Technical Arts Lecture Hall

Bingo mania: Northern Nevada Community College Foundation board is hosting an evening of "Bingo Mania" from 6 to 10 p.m. Feb. 26 at the NNCC Community Center. Money will be given to bingo winners; door prizes will be awarded. Admission is free, and bingo cards are 50 cents each or three for $1 per game. Fran Thiercof is chairing the annual event. Pictured, from left, are: NNCC Foundation board members Colleen Harrison, Connie Satterthwaite, Louie Horton, Renee Jackson and Richard Culver.

EDFP 3-11-94
Bruce Mayall
Navajo music in Thursday
NNCC session

University of Nevada, Reno Music Professor Bruce Mayhall is slated to present a program entitled "Navajo Song: A World of Music" at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Greenhaw Technical Arts Building at Northern Nevada Community College, 901 Elm St.

The Navajo nation is the largest of the Native American tribes, and although most Americans are familiar with Navajo weaving, silversmithing, and other Navajo artistic expressions, many are unaware of just how much the Navajo tribe has contributed to other cultures, according to a press release.

Mayall's program will focus on the intermingling of cultures through the Navajo's musical art. His program will include musical recordings of traditional ceremonies, peyote songs, Christian and Mormon hymns and popular country-western tunes.

The free program is funded by the Nevada Humanities Committee, a state affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

This program was made possible by Northern Nevada Community College with assistance from the Nevada Humanities Committee, the state affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Navajo Song:
A World of Music

featuring Bruce Mayhall,
 Professor of Music, University of Nevada, Reno

Thursday, March 17, 1994
 7:00 p.m.
 Greenhaw Technical Arts

5-18-94
Orchestra

Elko Community Orchestra will perform its annual spring concert at 7 p.m. Sunday in Berg Hall on the Northern Nevada Community College campus, reports Karen Wilson. The orchestra is composed of local residents and is directed by Myron Pree. Admission to the event is free.

16 ELKO DAILY FREE PRESS, Elko, Nevada Saturday, May 14, 1994

The Cowboy Music Gathering's Bolo Benefit Committee is busy organizing this year's June 23 benefit at Red's Ranch in Lamoille. Pictured, front row from left, committee members Molly Vatinel, Nancy Remington and Mimi Ellis-Hogan; back row, Robyn Fritsche, Lisa Shurtz and Patricia Morales Wright. Not pictured are committee members Barbara Wetzel Gallagher and Sally Searle.

Bolo Benefit to feature music, food and auction

Committee members are busy planning the second annual Bolo Benefit, which will take place from 6:30 p.m. to midnight June 23 at Red's Ranch in Lamoille.

The western-style "black tie" fundraiser will help kick off the Western Folklife Center's second annual Cowboy Music Gathering scheduled June 24-26, and will feature a hosted bar, sit-down gourmet barbecue dinner, raffle, auction, dancing, and entertainment by gathering favorites Riders in the Sky, Stephanie Davis, Skip Gorman and Friends, and the Smith Twins.

All proceeds from the event will benefit the Western Folklife Center. Last year's benefit netted almost $50,000, according to Committee Chairman Mimi Ellis-Hogan, and this year the committee hopes to double that goal.

"Up to $60,000 of the monies raised by the Bolo Benefit will be matched by a grant from the Nevada Commission on Cultural Affairs in order to undertake renovation of the Folklife Center," Ellis-Hogan said, and added that additional funds will be used to help underwrite the costs of staging the Cowboy Music Gathering.

Raffle items include a one-day pack trip for two in the Ruby Mountains, a framed Adam Jahiel photograph, a Hermes scarf, a handmade western baby quilt, hand-beaded Shoshone gloves, and silver jewelry.

Items to be auctioned include a guided fly-fishing trip for two to Utah's Green River, an authentic Navajo rug, clothing from Lillian's and Country Elegance, and American Indian-design blanket coats, which will be shown by "celebrity" male models. Max Olivera will serve as auctioneer.

Tickets to the event are $100 and raffle tickets are $5 each or six for $25. Raffle ticket holders need not be present to win.

Guests who wish to donate more than $100 for the benefit may buy a $250 Gold Pass Package, which includes admission to the Bolo Benefit, a pre-benefit cocktail party at 5:30 p.m., recognition in the music gathering program, passes to all gathering events, preferred seating at evening shows, special lectures and guided tours of gathering exhibits, a one-year membership with the Folklife Center, and a 1994 gathering poster and commemorative pin.

Seating at Red's Ranch is limited, so reservations must be made as soon as possible. Tickets may be purchased at the Folklife Center, located in the old Pioneer Hotel at 501 Railroad St., or by calling 738-7508. The Bolo Committee is also selling $100 commemorative bolo ties at the center to help cover the costs of the benefit. Transportation will be available to and from Red's Ranch.

JOIN THE CULTURAL CIRCLE

You're invited to join the Ethnic Minority Affairs Committee, Northern Nevada Community College's Cultural Awareness Group, for an action-packed celebration of cultural diversity.

The celebration will feature exhibitions of

- ◆ Tai Chi and Karate

as well as performances by

- ◆ Cowboy Poets
- ◆ Cloggers
- ◆ The Basque Dancers
- ◆ East Indian Dance Group
- ◆ Mexican Dance Group
- ◆ Native American Dance Consortium

There'll be food and fun for the entire family and a raffle at which you can win ethnic prizes including:

- ◆ Piñatas
- ◆ Native American Crafts
- ◆ Gift Certificates

Raffle tickets cost $1.00 each or $5.00 for six!

APRIL 28, 1994

3 - 7 P.M.

ROLAN MELTON CIRCLE

KNCC 91.5 to air Finnish epic

KNCC-fm will present The Kalevala, a search for the ancient Finnish epic, reflecting on how the mythical stories of the Finnish culture contrast with the American media culture.

3-9-94 EG

Happenings 6

NORTHERN NEVADA COMMUNITY COLLEGE

can help you . . .

Reach Out

Experience

Students and the community can benefit from meaningful service and volunteerism. Learn how today — ask your instructor or contact the

NNCC

CENTER FOR COMMUNITY SERVICE LEARNING

BERG HALL (Financial Aid Office)

901 ELM STREET □ ELKO, NEVADA □ 753-2275

MULTI-CULTURAL DAY SCHEDULE

*Sponsored by the Ethnic Minority Affairs Committee
We promote Cultural Awareness*

TIMES	PARTICIPANTS	PERFORMANCES
3:30 - 3:45	Connie Eikenberry	TAI CHI TRAINING WORKOUT
3:45 - 4:00
4:00 - 4:15	Jack Walther	COWBOY POETRY
4:15 - 4:30	Janet Iribarne	ELKO ARINAK BASQUE DANCERS
4:30 - 4:45	Meghan Wright & Katie Ledinsky	CLOGGERS
4:45 - 5:00	Connie Eikenberry	TAI CHI TRAINING WORKOUT
5:00 - 5:15	Padmini & Nalini Bhakta	ELKO EAST INDIAN DANCE GROUP
5:15 - 5:30	Janet Iribarne	ELKO ARINAK BASQUE DANCERS
5:30 - 5:45	Bob Dufurrena	BASQUE COWBOY POET
5:45 - 6:00	Olympia Zataray	MEXICAN FOLKLORIC DANCERS
6:00 - 6:15	Jay Dube	KARATE
6:15 - 6:30	Lolis Whitney	NATIVE AMERICAN DANCE CONSORTIUM
6:30 - 6:45	Lolis Whitney	NATIVE AMERICAN DANCE CONSORTIUM
6:45 - 7:00

RAFFLE ITEMS

Handmade Native American Earrings

Handmade Native American Necklace

Handmade Native American Necklace

T-Shirt from Rite on T's

$20.00 Gift Certificate from Cedar Creek Clothing

$25.00 Gift Certificate from JC Penney

*$20.00 Gift Certificate from J.M
Capriola & Company*

$30.00 Gift Certificate from Corral West Ranchwear

WE PROMOTE CULTURAL AWARENESS

Meetings: Wednesdays 2:00 pm at the cafeteria

Call Debbie Heaton-Camp at Student Services: 753-2283

OPEN TO ANYONE

A decorative border surrounding the central text. On the left side, there are musical notes, a zigzag line, a circle, two squares, a triangle, and a series of vertical lines. On the right side, there are a star, a circle, two vertical lines, a wavy line, and a small graphic. At the bottom, there are two globes flanking the text "OPEN TO ANYONE", which is set within a large arch. Below the arch is a stylized figure dancing, and the entire section is framed by a zigzag pattern.

Ethnic Minority Affairs Committee

CAR CARE

The Ethnic Minority Affairs Committee of Northern Nevada Community College is sponsoring a

CAR WASH

Saturday, October 23
11 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.
IGA Supermarket
Mountain City Highway

Cost: $5/car ● $6/truck
Includes vacuum

Monies collected will be used to sponsor multi-cultural events on campus. Watch for details.

nncc foundation event

D'Orazio's presents

JAZZ

f. a. n. t. a. s. i. a.

an annual event
this year we feature two outstanding local jazz ensembles in tribute to walt and gene matys

sunday, june 19, 1994
3-6 p.m.

on the college community center green

tickets:
$5.00 per person, $15.00 per family, kids under 7 free refreshments available for purchase:

new orleans style finger foods by chef sam d'orazio

KELK

PEPSI

TACO TIME

MIKE & ANITA FRANZOIA

BLACH DISTRIBUTING

produced by michael chodosh and george rosenberg

Jazz for dad: A Father's Day jazz festival is to be held in Elko on Sunday, June 19. The event — the D'Orazio Jazz Festival — is being held from 3 to 6 p.m. outdoors at Northern Nevada Community College, and is sponsored this year by the NNCC Foundation. Two local jazz ensembles led by George Rosenberg will perform a tribute to Walt and Gene Matys. A wide variety of refreshments, including New Orleans-style food, is to be served. Tickets are $5 per person or $15 per family, with children younger than 7 admitted free. Tickets are available at D'Orazio's, NNCC or the event. Sponsors are D'Orazio's, Blach Distributing, Pepsi, Taco Time, KELK and Anita and Mike Franzoia (submitted photo).

Happenings

EDFP 7-2-94

Elderhostel: Northern Nevada Community College recently hosted its second annual Elderhostel program, June 20 to 23. Pictured above is the "Fish Out Of Water Band," from left, Jan Demorest, Steve Moore, Carolyn Steninger and Blanton Owen.

They provided music for NNCC's Elderhostel group in the Western Folklife Center's music hall. Elderhostel is a non-profit educational program which provides an academic adventure for adults 60 and older.

NNCC College Community Complex EJ 6-22-94

NNCC theater construction underway

Construction has begun on the theater portion of Phase II of the College Community Center. MGM Construction of Salt Lake City is the general contractor for the $2 million project. The 250 seat theater is expected to be completed in the spring of 1995. A Theater Productions Committee will be formed to bring various art forms to our community such as ballet, opera, film festivals, musicals, and accommodation for many local groups.

Another portion of Phase II will be the Community Events Center. That building will be utilized for sports, fitness, displays, and classes.

The complex is shown above and floor plan diagram is shown below.

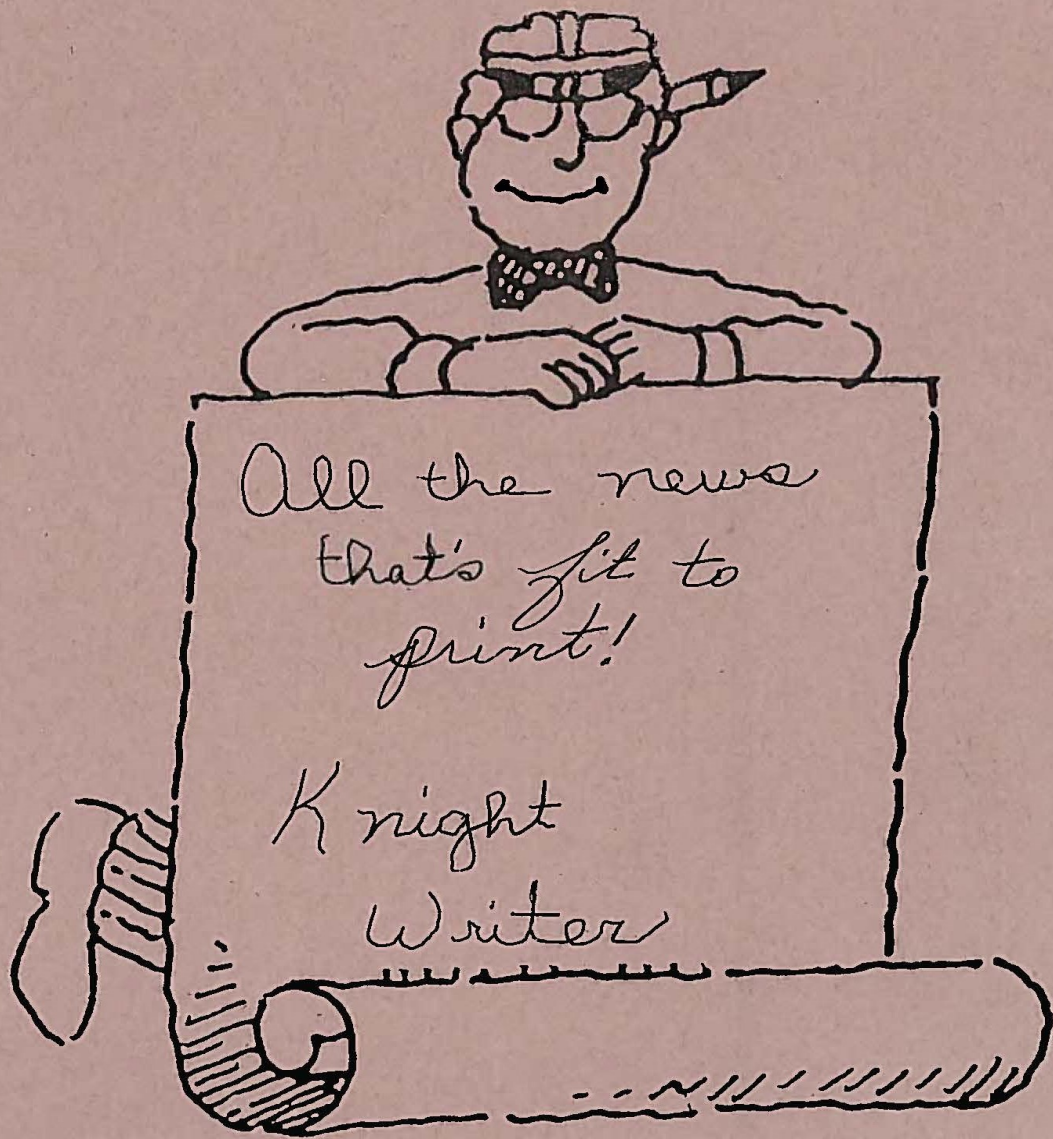

NNCC Community Complex floorplan

Please join the
NORTHERN NEVADA COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Concert Choir in Performance

Sunday, May 8, 1994
4 O'clock in the Afternoon
William Berg Hall
Admission Free

All the news
that's fit to print!

Knight
Writer

pg. 7

...ty member Marilee
...rper-Harrison (left), with the help of Taylor Collins (middle), daughter of Re-Entry Center Director, Pat Collins, presented
Lyn Hebdon the Outstanding Student Award for Early Childhood Education at Star
Night, held April 26, in Berg Hall.

SEE INSIDE: MORE STAR NIGHT STUDENT AWARDS AND SCHOLARSHIP PRESENTATIONS

Photo by Cindy Starzak

Knight
Writer
1993-94

28K-97W
10x12

93-94 Knight-1

VOL. II, NO. 1

THE INFORMATION EXCHANGE
A Publication of the Office of Planning and Public Information

August, 1994

NNCC MAKES THE GRADE

...question a committees to review, analyze, and list both strengths and weaknesses in each operational area. The result was a document which reflected accomplishments, needs, and future plans for continuous institutional improvement.

NGE

Information

Exchange

Start Your RESEARCH Here

LEARNING RESOURCES CENTER

MAGAZINE ARTICLE SUMMARIES

INNOVATION ABSTRACTS

PUBLISHED BY THE NATIONAL INSTITUTE FOR STAFF AND ORGANIZATIONAL DEVELOPMENT (NISOD), COLLEGE OF EDUCATION,
THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT AUSTIN • WITH SUPPORT FROM THE W. K. KELLOGG FOUNDATION AND THE SID W. RICHARDSON FOUNDATION

Buried Treasure

The scene is a familiar one to librarians at all levels, from elementary school through college. A student arrives at the reference desk, often with a compatriot or parent in tow. One of them tries to articulate the question, the other one interrupts and contradicts the first. Finally, the librarian asks to see the assignment. Assuming there is a printed assignment available, it usually has the ominous title of "Library Project." It appears to be a scavenger or treasure hunt. In many cases, the teacher's name does not appear on the printed page. All hearts sink, and the fun begins.

Now most instructors will claim that their intentions were good, and that is probably true. How effective those intentions are depends largely on whether or not there has been any communication between the instructor and the library staff. Too often this is not the case.

My first clue is when the assignment asks students to look at a source that we do not own. Apparently, the instructor has not checked our holdings or is assuming the students will automatically find it in another library. The second clue is when the question asked is inappropriate for the source indicated. Topics as diverse as the "Teapot Dome Scandal" and "white-tailed deer" with a prospective source list including the Infotrac and Facts on File do not teach the student anything other than frustration. Treasure hunts can be fun and productive if planned well and in advance, and are likely to be finished successfully if a library orientation is given prior to the assignment.

Without appearing to make faculty jump through hoops and leap tall hurdles, I suggest that communication be opened between the teaching staff and the library staff at the beginning of the semester or before. Discuss with the librarian the intention of the assignment. Get some suggestions on possible sources to explore. Make sure the answers are really there and accessible using the source as intended. In some cases, a potentially valuable reference work is rendered almost useless for lack of a good index.

With the advent of word processing, it is easier than ever for the library staff to produce a handout suitable for any assignment. Here at Johnson County Community College we have developed specialized directions on how to locate a movie review, research a career, and find short stories, critical essays, biographical sources, and reference works on international economics. If your students would benefit from having a "crib sheet" they can put in their notebooks, so much the better. A handout with the library call numbers or locations can save them valuable time and give them a quick overall view of what the particular library can offer for that assignment.

Leave a copy of your assignment at the reference desk. In the event a student arrives without the printed word, the librarian can help determine what is expected. This is especially important for adjunct staff who often cannot be reached on campus during the day. It is also useful to the library staff members who were not present for the orientation. Night and weekend reference librarians often operate at a disadvantage when there is no other librarian to explain what happened on Wednesday afternoon.

These types of "treasure hunt" assignments have the potential of being either fun and educational, or frustrating and boring. When the assignment leads students to sources they will want to consult again, they will see the value of the exercise; when it appears to be "busy work," they will rush to complete it without taking the time to look at what they are doing.

Encourage your students to become independent learners who can use the library efficiently and not be intimidated by unfamiliar sources. Encourage them to befriend a librarian who can help them work through the seeming maze of library resources. Encourage the library staff to be part of the educational process as team members rather than innocent bystanders.

Teamwork is the key word here. The concept of the instructor and librarian operating together to provide an interesting, challenging, "do-able" assignment should be the underlying theme. The success of the students can be the real outcome. The library's treasures need not be buried any longer. A primary concern today is "outcomes assessment." Working together can assure that the outcome is positive.

Christine C. Godin, Public Services Librarian

For further information, contact the author at Johnson County Community College, 12345 College Boulevard, Overland Park, KS 66210.

THE NATIONAL INSTITUTE FOR STAFF AND ORGANIZATIONAL DEVELOPMENT (NISOD)
Community College Leadership Program, Department of Educational Administration
College of Education, The University of Texas at Austin, EDB 348, Austin, Texas 78712

93-94

The Learning Resources Center at NNCC

Your information resource!

I. Reference Services when in doubt ask a librarian:

There is ALWAYS someone on duty to help you with your questions and information needs. Usually this person is at the REFERENCE desk on the main floor. Remember, the only dumb question is the one not asked; so please feel free to ask us for help.

II. Books the main resource of most libraries:

There are two major differences between this library and most other libraries you may have used.

First, we use the NALIS computer card catalog system instead of a traditional card catalog. There are several of these computers located near the REFERENCE desk. One advantage of this system is that it includes the books owned by most academic libraries in Nevada. We can usually borrow books owned by other libraries for you. Please allow 1-2 weeks for these books to be delivered.

Second, we use the Library of Congress classification system instead of the Dewey Decimal system. This means that our call numbers begin with one or two letters. You will find the call number in the middle of the location box on computer screen for each item we own. Turn this page over for a list of major Library of Congress sections.

III. Magazines and Journals very current information:

The LRC gets over 250 magazines and journals. At approximately 100 pages/issue and an average of 12 issues per year this represents over 300,000 pages of new information each year. To find the articles you need use the magazine indexes which are on the computers with our card catalog. These indexes cover more than 1600 journals in this library and others around Nevada and the US.

The indexes available include:

- Academic Abstracts for magazine & journal articles on most subjects
- The Cumulative Index to Nursing and Allied Health Literature for nursing & related health journals
- Medline for medical journals
- Applied Science and Technology Index for vocational and applied (not theoretical) sciences journals

Clearly define your question! When using any library or information database, you can greatly improve your research results by this often overlooked starting point.

Full text databases on the LRC computers include: The New York Times newspaper, Scientific American Medicine, Geological Society of America publications, SIRS, and others.

Photocopies of articles from magazines owned by other libraries are usually available in 1 - 2 weeks.

IV. Other information resources:

The Learning Resource Center also has the following special services and collections:

- Federal Documents Depository Collection
- Interlibrary Loan services
- DIALOG computer database services
- American Indian Collection
- Basque Collection
- Nevada Collection
- Maps
- Audio-Visual Collection (primarily for use in the library)
- Vertical File (pamphlets, clippings, etc. of selected topics)

V. The Basics:

The Learning Resource Center's hours, etc. are:

Hours: 8:00am to 9:00pm Monday - Thursday
8:00am to 5:00pm Friday

NNCC students and faculty, NNCC area citizens, and high school students are eligible for a library card to use the Learning Resource Center and check out books.

Students and faculty from our off-campus centers in Ely & Winnemucca can access the most important LRC computer databases from facilities available in those offices. The LRC can generally make books and articles from our collection available to them within a few days. Please see your local NNCC Staff to find out how to access these resources.

Photocopies and microfilm hard copies in reasonable quantities from journals, magazines and other non-circulating items are free. All other copying costs .05 for school related work and .10 for other purposes.

Interlibrary Loan services are available to NNCC students & faculty and anyone connected with AHEC. This library network enables us to borrow books and journal articles from many other libraries in Nevada. We ask that you explore our similar materials before you ask us to borrow items from other libraries. Please allow about 2 weeks for borrowed items to get here.

Elected: Juanita Karr, director of Northern Nevada Community College's Learning Center, was recently chosen to serve a three-year term as secretary on the executive board of the National Council of Learning Resources. Karr said the board's mission is to "enlighten administrators about learning resources in their colleges and look at problems in the library." The board meets with other educational boards throughout the year to discuss how to improve learning resources.

From the LIBRARY

NNCC library receives documents on Waco

Northern Nevada Community College library has received four new government documents on last year's events in Waco, Texas.

Released by the U.S. Department of Justice, the documents include recorded dialogue between David Koresh and other Branch Davidian members and law enforcement officers during the 51-day standoff that ended April 19 when fire consumed the compound.

The four documents, Evaluation and Handling of the Branch Davidian Standoff in Waco, Texas, Lessons of Waco: Proposed Changes in Federal Law Enforcement, Recommendations of Experts for Improvements in Federal Law Enforcement After Waco, and Report to the Deputy Attorney General on the Events at Waco, Texas include findings by forensic psychologists, religious, medical and cult experts regarding the religious beliefs of cult members.

Three of the volumes investigate the handling of the standoff and offer recommendations for improving law enforcement. The standoff began Feb. 28 when federal agents from the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms were fired upon when they arrived to serve a warrant. Four ATF agents were killed, 20 agents wounded and an unknown number of Davidians were killed during the 51-day ordeal. Koresh and about 80 followers died in a huge fire authorities said the cult started.

One critical evaluation stated that "the decision to proceed with the ATF raid after the element of surprise was lost raises serious questions." ATF agents reportedly knew Koresh had been tipped off about the raid, but still made the decision to go ahead.

In one of the documents, independent investigator Edward S.G. Dennis concludes: "... the standoff was a mass suicide choreographed by Koresh over a two-month period. Even if the FBI had been more keenly aware of his intentions, it was limited to gassing the compound as the only non-lethal means of resolving the crisis. The probability that the FBI could have broken Koresh's hold over his followers through negotiations was extremely low based upon what we have learned about the incident. Under the circumstances, the FBI exhibited extraordinary restraint and handled this crisis with great professionalism."

More than 700 law enforcement personnel participated in the negotiations to end the standoff.

Eleven Davidians currently are being tried for conspiring to murder federal agents and other criminal actions.

The new documents are just a sampling of over several hundred documents available for public viewing at the NNCC Library. The library became a federal depository in November 1992 and now houses federal documents from the Justice, Defense, Interior (which oversees mining), Education, Health and Human Services, and Agriculture Departments, and the Census Bureau, among others. Documents also are available on microfilm and compact disk.

The library is open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday.

NNCC receives WACO documents

New Government Document arrivals at the Northern Nevada Community College Resource Center include four books on last year's events in Waco, Texas.

The first volume is a detailed report to the Deputy Attorney General with recorded dialogue between David Koresh and other cult members and law enforcement officers. This volume contains findings by forensic psychologists, religious, medical and cult experts regarding the religious beliefs of the cult members, child abuse and suicidal tendencies of the Branch Davidians.

The other three volumes investigate the handling of the stand-off, and offer recommendations for proposed changes to improve Federal Law Enforcement.

Over a 51 day period, more than 700 law enforcement personnel participated in negotiations to end the stand-off. Thirty-five Davidians departed the compound and nine others survived the fire that ended the confrontation. A federal grand jury has charged 12 individuals with conspiracy to murder federal agents and other criminal actions. The case is currently being tried.

Several hundred Federal Documents are housed at NNCC's library and are available to the public.

Library of Congress Classification System

The LRC arranges its books using the Library of Congress classification system. This includes the following 21 major sections. Each section is identified by a letter of the alphabet and sub-sections by combinations of two letters. Subtopics within these sections and sub-sections are identified by numbers.

- | | |
|---|--|
| A General Works - encyclopedias, reference books, etc. | P Language & Literature |
| B Philosophy - Religion | P philology and linguistics |
| B-BJ philosophy | PA classical languages and literature |
| BF psychology | PC Romance languages |
| BL-BX religion | PD-PF Germanic languages including English |
| C Auxiliary Sciences of History | PG Slavic languages |
| CB general history of civilization | PJ-PL Oriental languages |
| CC archaeology | PN general and comparative literature |
| CD archives | PQ Romance literatures |
| CJ numismatics | PR English literature |
| CR heraldry | PS American literature |
| CS genealogy | PT Germanic literatures |
| CT general biography | PZ fiction in English & juvenile literature |
| D General & Old World History | Q Science |
| includes geography of individual countries | QA mathematics |
| D world history | QB astronomy |
| DA Great Britain | QC physics |
| DB Austria | QD chemistry |
| DC France | QE geology |
| DD- other individual countries | QH natural history |
| E-F American History | QK botany |
| E 1-143 general American history | QL zoology |
| E 151- general United States history | QM human anatomy |
| F 1-957 individual states and localities | QP physiology |
| F 1001-1100 Canada | QR bacteriology |
| F 1200- other individual countries | R Medicine |
| G Geography, Anthropology, Folklore, etc. | S Agriculture |
| G general geography | SB plant culture and horticulture |
| GB physical geography | SD forestry |
| GC oceanography | SF animal husbandry |
| GN anthropology | SH aquaculture |
| GR folklore | SK sport hunting |
| GV recreation | T Technology |
| H Social Sciences | TA general engineering & civil engineering |
| HA statistics | TC hydraulic engineering |
| HB-HJ economics | TD sanitary & municipal engineering |
| HM-HX sociology | TE highway engineering |
| J Political Science | TF railroad engineering |
| JA-JC political science | TG bridge engineering |
| JF-JQ constitutional history & public admin. | TH building engineering |
| JS local government | TJ mechanical engineering |
| JX international law | TK electrical & nuclear engineering |
| K Law | TL vehicles, aeronautics & astronautics |
| L Education | TN mining, mineral ind. & metallurgy |
| M Music | TP chemical technology |
| M scores | TR photography |
| ML literature of music | TS manufactures |
| MT musical instruction | TT handicrafts, arts & crafts |
| N Fine Arts | TX home economics |
| NA architecture | U Military Science |
| NB sculpture | V Naval Science |
| NC graphic arts | Z Bibliography & Library Science |
| ND painting | |
| NK decorative arts | |

BIOGRAPHY: Lives of individuals are classified in the area for which they are known except general biographies which are in the CT sub-section.

Defense papers available at NNCC

EDFP 2-28-94

College receives federal documents

Recent acquisitions in the federal document section at Northern Nevada Community College's Learning Resource Center include the following items issued by the Department of Defense. [1] Two articles explaining the policy on homosexual conduct in the armed forces. [2] Several World War II books including 'Riviera to the Rhine' and 'U. S. Army Signals Intelligence in World War II.' [3] Books on the Korean War, including 'Policy and Direction - The First Year.' [4] Articles on the War in Southeast Asia including a book called 'Interdiction in Southern Laos - 1960-1968' which is an account of U. S. Air Force activity. [5] Articles on women in the military, including 'The Women's Army Corps' and 'The Army Nurse Corps.'

Most items can be checked out and because there is no copyright limitation on federal documents, all can be copied. The Learning Resource Center's hours are 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday. Facilities are open to the public.

Northern Nevada Community College's Learning Resource Center has received several new additions to its federal document section that are now available for public viewing. The new additions from the U.S. Department of Defense include:

- Two articles explaining the agency's policy on homosexual conduct in the armed forces.
- Several World War II books including Riviera to the Rhine by Jeffrey Clarke and Robert Smith, and U.S. Army Signals Intelligence in World War II, edited by James L. Gilbert and John P. Finnegan.

- Books on the Korean War, including Policy and Direction - The First Year, by James F. Schnabel.
- Articles on the war in southeast Asia, including an account of U.S. Air Force activity entitled "Interdiction in Southern Laos - 1960-1968" by Jacob Van Staaveren.

- Articles on women in the military including "The Women's Army Corps," and "The Army Nurse Corps," both edited by Gen. Gordon R. Sullivan.

Most of the items can be checked out or copied. The center is open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday.

New federal Documents received by NNCC

Elko Ind. 3-30-94

The three volume set "Final Report of the Independent Counsel for Iran/Contra Matters" written by Lawrence E. Walsh, Independent Counsel has been received by the Northern Nevada Community College Learning Resource Center, according to Carol Hendershot.

Volume I, Investigations and Persecutions, dated August 4, 1993, includes a chronology of key public events beginning with October 5, 1986 Nicaraguan soldiers shooting down a contra-resupply plane and ending February 8, 1993 when the Independent Counsel issued the Fourth Interim Report to Congress on the Weinberger case and the presidential pardons.

Volume II, Indictments, Plea Agreements, Interim Reports to the Congress and Ad- ministrative Matters is dated August 4, 1993.

Volume III, Comments and Materials submitted by Individuals and their Attorneys, Responding to Volume I is dated December 3, 1993.

The three objects of the conspiracy - secret war activities, self-dealing and the corruption of the Iran initiative - are listed, the meaning of President Reagan's "body and soul directive" is discussed, and question and answer testimony is listed from Robert C. McFarland, Oliver L. North, John N. Poindexter, Fawn Hall, Robert L. Earl and Thomas C. Green.

All can be checked out. For more information on documents in the Federal Document Depository section, call 753-2281.

Federal documents available for viewing

FP 3-21-94

Northern Nevada Community College Learning Resource Center has received a three-volume set of the Final Report of the Independent Counsel for Iran/Contra Matters. The volumes are available for viewing in the center's federal document section.

The first volume outlines the investigations and prosecutions in the Iran/Contra matter, and includes a chronology of key public events such as the shooting down of a Contra supply plane by Nicaraguan soldiers.

The second volume includes indictments, plea agreements and interim reports to Congress.

The third volume contains comments and materials submitted by key individuals and their attorneys that respond to the investigation and its outcome.

Former President Ronald Reagan's "body and soul directive," secret war activities, self-dealing, corruption of the Iran initiative, testimony from newsmakers Oliver North, Robert McFarland, John Poindexter and Fawn Hall, are all included in the final report, according to a press release.

The center is open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday.

Federal Documents Received at NNCC

Carlin 3-9-94

MAR. 3- ELKO- Three volume set - Final Report of the Independent Counsel for Iran/Contra Matters written by Lawrence E. Walsh, Independent Counsel.

Vol. I Investigations and Persecutions - Dated Aug. 4, 1993 - Includes a chronology of key public events beginning with Oct. 5, 1986 Nicaraguan soldiers shooting down a contra-resupply plane and ending Feb. 8, 1993 when the Independent Counsel issued the Fourth Interim Report to Congress on the Weinberger case and the presidential pardons.

Vol. II Indictments, Plea Agreements, Interim Reports to the Congress and Administrative Matter dated August 4, 1993.

Vol. III Comments and Materials submitted by Individuals and their Attorneys, Responding to Volume I - dated December 3, 1993.

The three objects of the conspiracy - secret war activities, self-dealing and the corruption of the Iran initiative - are listed, the meaning of President Reagan's "body and soul directive" is discussed, and question and answer testimony is listed from Robert C. McFarland, Oliver L. North, John M. Poindexter, Fawn Hall, Robert L. Earl, and Thomas C. Green.

These items can be checked out. For more information on documents in the Federal Document Depository section call 753-2281.

Sophomore student Heather Gallegos, left, and freshman Heidi Johnson take advantage of one of the large study areas available in the Learning Resource Center at Northern Nevada Community College. More students are pictured in the main study area in photo at right.

'Information highway' runs through NNCC library

By Carol Hendershot
Who said nothing exciting ever happens in a library?
One of the services provided by the Learning Resources Center (LRC) at Northern Nevada Community College generated some excitement last summer.
A physician in Yerington needed emergency information on the most up-to-date method of treating rattlesnake bites. A registered nurse working with this physician located information he could use and called NNCC and asked Interlibrary Loan Librarian Linda Stapley to see if she could get copies of the articles through a system known as Loansome Doc Services. Loansome Doc is a computer network used to obtain medical information for health care personnel in rural areas where a medical library is not available.

Stapley did a DOCLINE search and located an article in a Billings, Mont., clinic. DOCLINE is the National Library of Medicine's automated interlibrary loan request routing system. She called the clinic about the emergency and asked if they would fax the article direct to the doctor in Yerington. They did.
The total time between the original request from Yerington and receipt of the information was one hour. The snakebite patient, a 22-year-old man, recovered.
This is just one of several services provided to the area served by the LRC, according to Juanita Karr, LRC

Director since 1974. Karr has a master's degree in education from Washington State University, and an education specialist degree from UNR.
"UNR offered its first distance education master's degree program in Elko, but since I already had a master's degree UNR offered this one called education specialist. It's a degree halfway between a master's and doctorate but you don't do the research for a doctorate," she explained. "The emphasis was on being an administrator in an educational setting. It was a specialized program for anyone working in a school library at any level."
Karr says the term "Learning Resources Center" was adopted, as opposed to "library," to indicate that there are other things besides books available.

"The LRC concept came about in the '60s and '70s to differentiate community colleges. Libraries were for books but community colleges were expanding into other media to provide additional learning resources. Those other media included videos, magazines and audio tapes," she said.
According to Karr, medical information is only one of the interlibrary loan services the LRC provides with the help of Linda Stapley.
Stapley, who came to NNCC six years ago, handles all interlibrary loan requests at NNCC. Most faculty and student requests can be filled through the university system but she can also locate things from public libraries. A 10-day turnaround is standard between request and receipt. Because of workload and budget restrictions, this service is not available to the general public. Some long-distance loans carry a fee charged by the lending library.
Stapley said, "We are a full-service library. We have supplied coat hangers for people to unlock their cars, had Aids, directions on and off campus and TLC."
The LRC offers a video room for research classes, reference center, search information, a testing center, photocopy service, and of course, lots of books and magazines.
The main book collection is housed in open stacks at three levels. The Library of Congress filing system is used, which means that all call numbers begin with letters followed by numbers. There is no fiction section or non-fiction section. Fiction and non-fiction books are shelved side-by-side according to subject.
The LRC has several tables and study desks on each of the levels. Magazines and newspapers are available in their original form on compact disk, and microfilm. Anything that doesn't circulate can be photocopied free of charge, within the limits of copyright restrictions.
An extensive reference collection is also housed on the main floor. Reference Librarian Ed Nickel, who came to NNCC five years ago, is in charge of this section. Nickel has a master's degree in library science from Emporia (Kansas) State University.
He also has been responsible for setting up the computer network systems used by the LRC and the connections to other networks here, at UNR, and elsewhere.
Nickel said, "We now have 14 different CD-ROM drives on the network with 14 databases, providing information from the Center for Disease Control, OSHA regulations, Academic Abstracts (magazines), government documents and ERIC (education information for teachers). A person sitting at any one of our four computers can access any of these programs. We also have some special CDs with the index to Encyclopedia Britannica, a research guide from Grollier and many census CDs."
Medline, an information source for doctors, and another system for nurses also are available. Through the Area Health Education Center (AHEC), rural healthcare givers can dial in to databases 24 hours a day and access medical information.
The LRC has four special collections in addition to the main book collection. The Elko Euzkaldunak (Basque) Club helped build the Basque collection, which is the only one in the University System other than that at the University of Nevada, Reno (UNR). The collection features books written in Spanish, French, Basque and English.

The American Indian collection is housed in the room to the right of the main library. This collection has volumes on nearly every tribe in the United States and includes cookbooks, laws, fiction and non-fiction.
The Nevada collection has many books of historical value for researchers, and some novels. This collection is an excellent source for students doing English and history papers.
The Federal Document Collection, which was started in November of 1982, has a tremendous range of information, all published by the government printing office and available to designated depositories in all states. Subject matter includes education, military, health and census information in three forms: paper, microfiche and CD.
NNCC has satellite campuses at Ely and Winnemucca and offers classes in other communities and in the prison camps near Elko.
Karr says, "Because of the network that Ed set up we can offer our satellite campuses almost all of the services we offer here."
Many classes are offered via videotape when instructors are not available. Audiovisual Technician Maxine Palmer is responsible for this part of the program. She spends many hours taping classes to send to the satellite campuses.
Tapes are also made available to Elko students for several classes, especially math. Palmer is also in charge of all the equipment including satellite dish reception. She maintains and distributes televisions, VCRs, overhead projectors, tape recorders, batteries, bulbs, microphones, sound systems and just about anything else instructors need. Equipment is shuffled from classroom to classroom and building to building as needed. If scheduled ahead of time, she always manages to fill requests.
Palmer said, "When I first came in August of 1977, we had filmstrips, slide projectors, records, overheads,

16 mm audio, our first today's rolling of it was when I took it and all course also le nology 20 year Two membe Jeanette ence a bit of sional and se brothe brary it has a r In ad dent w part of Kevin I LRC has gan this on to W major r nishes r trating work t make p covers, r vide ge who con The L Northern lege is school as on requi able to alike. Li p.m. Mon a.m. until regular The LRC Christm from 8 through McMillen and the Nursing student Linda Morris views one of the required nursing videos. This one is an interactive video on labor and delivery and is activated by touching the screen to change the display.

Learning Resource Center staff includes, from left, Linda Stapley, interlibrary loan; Susan Watkins, student aide; Carol Hendershot, federal documents; Jeanette Baker, reference; Juanita Karr, director; and Maxine Palmer, audiovisual technician.

Ed set up we can offer our satellite campuses almost all of the services we offer here."
Many classes are offered via videotape when instructors are not available. Audiovisual Technician Maxine Palmer is responsible for this part of the program. She spends many hours taping classes to send to the satellite campuses.
Tapes are also made available to Elko students for several classes, especially math. Palmer is also in charge of all the equipment including satellite dish reception. She maintains and distributes televisions, VCRs, overhead projectors, tape recorders, batteries, bulbs, microphones, sound systems and just about anything else instructors need. Equipment is shuffled from classroom to classroom and building to building as needed. If scheduled ahead of time, she always manages to fill requests.
Palmer said, "When I first came in August of 1977, we had filmstrips, slide projectors, records, overheads,

16 mm audio, our first today's rolling of it was when I took it and all course also le nology 20 year Two membe Jeanette ence a bit of sional and se brothe brary it has a r In ad dent w part of Kevin I LRC has gan this on to W major r nishes r trating work t make p covers, r vide ge who con The L Northern lege is school as on requi able to alike. Li p.m. Mon a.m. until regular The LRC Christm from 8 through McMillen and the

16 mm audio, our first today's rolling of it was when I took it and all course also le nology 20 year Two membe Jeanette ence a bit of sional and se brothe brary it has a r In ad dent w part of Kevin I LRC has gan this on to W major r nishes r trating work t make p covers, r vide ge who con The L Northern lege is school as on requi able to alike. Li p.m. Mon a.m. until regular The LRC Christm from 8 through McMillen and the Reference librarian Ed Nickel has succeeded in adding to the main book collection. The Elko Euzkaldunak material for research projects.

Inside '93 flood museum • Drug abuse • Bahai

College Receives Many

Publications

APR. 29- NNCC - Among the many regular publications received by the Northern Nevada Community College library are several federal document periodicals.

The Occupational Outlook Quarterly covers opportunities for careers in special education, futures for women in the construction trades, an article on computers, as instruments of change, and matching up talents with the world of work in recent and future years. These documents are filed in the Labor Departments section with call letters beginning with L.

Another publication put out by the Department of Labor is called "Facts on Working Women" and explores the differences in job opportunities and pay scales between men and women, how women help maintain their families through their jobs and benefits to employers who hire women veterans.

"Humanities" magazine, which is a publication of the National Endowment for the Humanities (call letter NF) features articles which are history related, including newcomers to the American shores, photographs from the Depression Era, and information about the Shakers.

The "FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin" carries timely articles on civil disorder, elderly crime victims, hazardous materials, how bicycle patrols are used in many cities, unsolved homicides, and technological advances in law enforcement. These bulletins are put out by the Justice Department with a "J" call letter.

The college library is open from 8 a.m. until 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Friday. Beginning May 16, summer hours will be 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday until further notice.

New Books At NNCC Learning Resource Center June 1994

MAY 17- NNCC-LRC- New books for June 1994 at Northern Nevada Community College's Learning Resource Center are:

The Men We Left Behind by Mark Sauter and Jim Sanders is one of the books on the new book shelf at the NNCC learning Resource Center. This book challenges the assumption that the Vietnam War was ended in "peace with honor" and investigates the belief that North Viet Nam blackmailed the U.S. into helping with massive reconstruction aid in exchange for POW's. The authors believe that some POW's have been returned secretly to the U.S. and that some are still being held.

The Forgotten Plague: How the Battle Against Tuberculosis Was Won and Lost by Frank Ryan, M.D. details the fall and rise of TB and how TB has linked itself in a deadly, drug-resistant alliance with AIDS. TB is the greatest killer in history and has been more feared than the bubonic plague. Called the "white plague" TB has long been associated with romantic death and was the killer of Keats, Chopin, Chekhov and George Orwell and inspired the writhing of La Traviata and Thomas Mann's The Magic Mountain.

New Books At NNCC Learning Resource Center

MAY 11- NNCC-LRC- Among the new books received this week at Northern Nevada Community College's Learning Resource Center are:

Russia and the New States of Eurasia by Karen Dawisha and Bruce Parrott. This book explores political upheaval in Russia following the collapse of the Soviet Union and the effect of this upheaval on the fourteen new states on its borders.

Bearing Witness: Gay Men's Health Crisis and the Politics of Aids by Philip M. Kayal is described as "Exciting, politically daring, written beautifully and with great feeling..." and "An insightful and moving account of the meaning of AIDS..."

Successful Recareering by Joyce A Schwarz is an essential career change guide that helps target future job dreams and explains how to make important contacts and gain valuable job experience while looking for the ideal job.

100 Inventions That Shaped World History by Bill Yenne lists important inventions beginning in 2.6 million BC with the invention of stone tools and ending in 1990 with the all-optical processor. This book is a good research aid for invention dates for everything from aspirin to interstellar spacecraft.

Waterwise Gardening by Lauren Springer is part of the American Gardening Series and is ideal for northern Nevada gardening where water is at a premium. The book shows plans for desert and cottage gardens, lawn alternatives and planning and maintenance for arid climates.

These books and 25,000 others can all be checked out by library card holders. Cards at NNCC's LRC are available to anyone high school age or older. It is not necessary for a cardholder to be a registered student.

Library hours are 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday from May 16 until June 6. As of June 6, hours will be 7 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, and 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. on Tuesdays.

Federal Documents at NNCC

Among the many regular publications received by the Northern Nevada Community College library are several federal document periodicals.

The Occupational Outlook Quarterly covers opportunities for careers in special education, futures for women in the construction trades, an article on computers, as instruments of change, and matching up talents with the world of work in recent and future years. These documents are filed in the Labor Department section with call letters beginning with L.

Another publication put out by the Department of Labor is called "acts on Working Women", exploring the differences in job opportunities and pay scales between men and women, how women help maintain their families through their jobs and benefits to employers who hire women veterans.

LRC 4

New Books At NNCC Learning Resource Center

Carlson Express
6-29-94

JUNE 22- NNCC-LRC- New books received at NNCC Learning Resource Center include the following:

Loud Hawk by Kenneth S. Stern is subtitled "The United States versus the American Indian Movement." It recounts the story of a criminal case involving the arrest of six members of the American Indian Movement and covers 13 years of pre-trial litigation, the longest pre-trial case in U.S. history.

Animal Tracking and Behavior by Donald & Lillian Stokes is a comprehensive guide to tracking and the behavior of animals. It offers a complete guide to all dens, trails, burrows and animal signs, including white-tailed deer, bobcat, coyote, cottontail and domestic dog and cat. It is the latest volume in the Stokes Nature Guides series.

Coping with the Male Ego in the Workplace by Sandra Grymes and Mary Stanton provides insight on conflict resolution and explores a wide range of emotions which spring up in work situations.

Snakes, Ecology and Behavior Richard A. Seigel and Joseph T. Collins reports on new developments in areas such as population genetics, neurobiology, behavioral ecology and evolution. The book features many tables, graphs and bibliographies.

Encyclopedia of American Indian Costume by Josephine Paterek features many excellent pictures of Native Americans in costume. It offers complete descriptions and cultural contexts of the dress and ornamentation of the many nations sharing this continent.

Tall Grass Prairie is a Nature Conservancy Book by John Madson with stunning color photographs by Frank Oberle. It includes a directory listing outstanding tall-grass prairie preserves around the country.

The Encyclopedia of Career Choices for the 1990's is in the reference department and is a guide to more than 500 entry-level jobs in 40 career fields including banking, sales, broadcasting, insurance, hotel management and politics.

Lawful Exit by Derek Humphry explores the limits of freedom for help in dying. The book includes a model "Death with Dignity Act."

Basic Portrait Techniques edited by Rachel Wolf offers instruction to artist who which to become portrait painters regardless of the medium they prefer. It includes tips on lighting and background as well as tips on painting from live models and photographs.

Yes, You Can Beat City Hall or "Don't let the Bastards get you down" is called a little political primer for John Q and Sally. Author John J. Murray, Jr. tells how he took on city hall in his community, as an "outsider," and won. He went on to serve his community as an elected official, an "insider," for many years. The book is filled with humor and slashing comments and points out that running for, and winning, local office isn't all that difficult.

Nature and Wildlife Photography is a practical guide to how to shoot and sell photos. Written by Susan McCartney it includes advice on equipment, lighting techniques and ten self-assignments. It also lists stock picture markets and how to reach them.

The LRC library's hours are 7 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Monday, Thursday, and Friday and from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. on Tuesday and Wednesday.

NNCC New Releases

8-26-8-94

New books received at Northern Nevada Community College's Learning Resource Center include the following:

South Wind Changing by Jade Ngoc Quang Huynh is one man's story of life in wartime Viet Nam. From a family of seventeen children, he escaped to Thailand in 1977 after living through the shattering of his family and survival in a prison camp where he was sent for "education in communist ideology, psychological and physical retraining..." by the Hanoi government. He came to the United States and spent six years working in fast food restaurants, cleaning bathrooms, washing dishes and working in factories before gaining a Bachelor of Arts degree from Bennington College and eventually a Master of Fine Arts degree from Brown University.

Consuming Culture by Jeremy MacClancy is subtitled "Why You Eat What You Eat." This book is an interesting and sometimes hilarious commentary on dietary habits around the world. Chapter titles include Gobble, Gulp and Go, which explains how to cook in your car as you travel (the fastest food on earth). Unmentionable Cuisine, First Catch Your Man, Offal and Just Desserts are other interesting chapters.

Ben Nighthorse Campbell is the only Native American serving in Congress today. This Biography, written by Herman J. Viola, traces Campbell's rags-to-riches career. Raised by an alcoholic father and a mother suffering from tuberculosis, he credits his salvation to a youthful interest in judo, which taught him discipline and gave him self-respect. In 1964 he became captain of the U.S. Olympic judo team. Later he began breeding champion quarterhorses and designing fine jewelry which is often featured in museum exhibitions. In 1992 he became a U.S. Senator from Colorado, the first Indian to serve in the Senate in sixty years. His trademark ponytail and Harley-Davidson motorcycle are still very much a part of this Native American's crusading image for the rights and dignity of American Indian people.

The Face of Mercy created and produced by Matthew Naythons, M.D. is a collaborative effort of several doctors showing a photographic history of medicine in war. The photographs cover the period from fifth century Greek warfare to present day gang wars in American cities, following the good and sometimes bad training of battlefield doctors and nurses throughout history. Informative text accompanies the very graphic illustrations. This book is not for the squeamish.

Beginning June 6 summer library hours are 7 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday, Thursday and Friday and 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday. The Library is located in Lundberg Hall on the NNCC campus at 901 Elm Street. Cards are available free of charge to anyone high school age or older. The phone number is 753 2222.

BECOME A voracious reader

Carlton E. Ffrench
6-1-94

New Books At NNCC

Learning Resource Center June 1994

MAY 17- NNCC-LRC- New books for June 1994 at Northern Nevada Community College's Learning Resource Center are:

How to Run A Small Business by J.K. Lasser Institute explains how to save time, money, and unnecessary worry as you get started, choose the right business and avoid the wrong ones and take advantage of the latest tax law, profit from the latest office technologies and get the sound advice you need to solve pressing problems and make confidential decisions. The advice covers retail, wholesale, manufacturing and mail-order businesses.

Sarajevo, A War Journal by Zlatko Dizdarevic explores what it's like to actually live through a war. The book was originally written as a column for a Croatian newspaper and it vividly describes a life in which unspeakable horrors occur daily. The author is editor of Oslobodjenje (Liberation), Sarajevo's only daily newspaper.

The Sound of a Silver Horn: Reclaiming the Heroism in Contemporary Women's Lives by Kathleen Noble, Ph. D. highlights the moments of heroism in the lives of women from many backgrounds including single parenthood, wealth and poverty, alcoholism, a Catholic convent and a lesbian community. The author states that men are always portrayed as exceptional people epitomizing the best attributes and aspirations of men, while women are portrayed as passive prizes to be fought for and won.

The Vindication of the Big Bang by Barry Parker uses recent fluctuation in the universe's background radiation, just recently found, to investigate the viability of the theory first proposed 7-years ago. Parker compares other theories of the beginning of the universe with the BBT and tries to decide which theory will prove to be correct.

Bad Science by Gary Taubes investigates the "short life and weird times of cold fusion." Discovered in 1989 by two scientists at the University of Utah and heralded as "salvation in a test tube" which promised cheap, safe, unlimited energy. This is the story of good and bad scientists and what happens when hope and greed override reason.

Strategic Partnering by A. David Silver is a handbook for small business owners and entrepreneurs and offers advice on marketing, product testing, sales techniques, research and raising capital in conjunction with well-established businesses such as IBM, Eli Lilly and Alcoa.

Japanese American History edited by Brian Niiya has just been placed in the NNCC LRC reference section. It is a definitive A-to-Z reference from, 1868 to the present. The book is based on information gathered from Japanese-language sources, oral history and other previously unused material and notes achievements by Japanese individuals in virtually every field. The book features many excellent black and white photos. One section of the book lists Japanese American history in chronological order and another section lists noteworthy Japanese-Americans by name.

Working Women Don't Have Wives by Terri Apter examines the ways in which the "superwoman" myth masks the problems real women face. Chapter titles include "What Do Women Want?" and "Having it All - New Options; New Myths."

Family Values by Phyllis Burke is the story of "Two Moms and Their Son" and is written by the lesbian partner of Jesse's natural mother. The book is written with a novelist's approach and covers her experiences in helping raise the child she came to think of as "ours" instead of "hers".

NNCC Federal Documents

Publications in the federal document section at Northern Nevada Community College's Learning Resources Center include:

"Consumer Information Catalog" in both Spanish and English. This pamphlet lists many free or inexpensive brochures put out by the government printing office which are available to the public. Subject matter includes cars, children, employment, food and nutrition, health, housing, small business, and travel and hobbies.

The "Subject Bibliography Index" is a guide to over 200 different catalogs which include more than 15,000 different books, pamphlets, posters, periodicals, subscription service and other government publications which are available for purchase. These catalogs list everything from accident prevention information to veterans' benefits, birds to trademarks. Especially appropriate for this time of year are the pamphlets on camping, pesticides, and passports, travel and tourism and outdoor recreation.

Federal documents available for viewing

EWP 7-12-94

Several new federal documents are now available for viewing at Northern Nevada Community College's Learning Resource Center.

The National Parks: Index 1993 provides a complete listing of national parks in the United States, along with addresses, phone numbers, and short descriptions.

Damaged and Threatened National Historic Landmarks 1993 Report lists sites throughout the United States that are to be designated or redesignated as historic landmarks, including a recommendation to remove Fort Ruby from the list due to deterioration.

The Immune System - How It Works is a pamphlet for lay people explaining the purpose of the immune system and its connection to transplants, cancer, the nervous system, allergy, and the difference between natural and acquired immunity.

FDA Consumer includes an article entitled "Getting Lyme Disease to Take a Hike," which explains symptoms and treatments of the disease, which is caused by ticks. The article also provides advice on how to protect pets from the disease.

United States Department of Labor pamphlets are also available on Carpel Tunnel Syndrome and first aid.

The center is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

NNCC New Releases 6-1-94

The Men We Left Behind by Mark Sauter and Jim Sanders is one of the books on the new book shelf at Northern Nevada Community College's Learning Resource Center. This book challenges the assumption that the Vietnam War was ended in "peace with honor" and investigates the belief that North Viet Nam blackmailed the U.S. into helping with massive reconstruction aide in exchange for POW's. The authors believe that some POW's have been returned secretly to the U.S. and that some are still being held.

How to Run A Small Business by J.K. Lasser Institute explains how to save time, money, and unnecessary worry as you get started, choose the right business and avoid the wrong ones and take advantage of the latest tax law, profit from the latest office technologies and get the sound advice you need to solve pressing problems and make confidential decisions. The advice covers retail, wholesale, manufacturing and mail-order businesses.

Sarajevo, A War Journal by Zlatko Dizdarevic explores what it's like to actually live through a war. The book was originally written as a column for a Croatian newspaper and it vividly describes a life in which unspeakable horrors occur daily. The author is editor of Oslobodenje (liberation), Sarajevo's only daily newspaper.

The Forgotten Plague: How the Battle Against Tuberculosis Was Won and Lost by Frank Ryan, M.D. details the fall and rise of TB and how TB has linked itself in a deadly, drug-resistant alliance with AIDS. TB is the greatest killer in history and has been more feared than the bubonic plague. Called the "white plague" TB has long been associated with romantic death and was the killer of Keats, Chopin, Chekhov and George Orwell and inspired the writing of La Traviata and Thomas Mann's The Magic Mountain.

The Sound of a Silver Horn: Reclaiming the Heroism in Contemporary Women's Lives by Kathleen Noble, Ph.D. highlights the moments of heroism in the lives of women from many backgrounds including single parenthood, wealth and poverty, alcoholism, a Catholic convent and a lesbian community. The author states that men are always portrayed as exceptional people epitomizing the best attributes and aspirations of men, while women are portrayed as passive prizes to be fought for and won.

The Vindication of the Big Bang by Barry Parker uses recent fluctuations in the universe's background radiation, just recently found, to investigate the viability of the theory first proposed 70 years ago. Parker compares other theories of the beginning of the universe with the BBT and tries to decide which theory will prove to be correct.

Bad Science by Gary Taubes investigates the "short life and weird times of cold fusion." Discovered in 1989 by two scientists at the University of Utah and heralded as "salvation in a test tube" which promised cheap, safe, unlimited energy. This is the story of good and bad scientists and what happens when hope and greed override reason.

Strategic Partnering by A. David Silver is a handbook for small business owners and entrepreneurs and offers advice on marketing, product testing, sales techniques, research and raising capital in conjunction with well-established businesses such as IBM, Eli Lilly and Alcoa.

Japanese American History edited by Brian Niiya has just been placed in the NNCC LRC reference section. It is a definitive A-to-Z reference from 1868 to the present. The book is based on information gathered from Japanese-language sources, oral history and other previously unused material and notes achievements by Japanese individuals in virtually every field. The book features many excellent black and white photos. One section of the book lists Japanese American history in chronological order and another section lists noteworthy Japanese-Americans by name.

Working Women Don't Have Wives by Terri Apter examines the ways in which the "superwoman" myth masks the problems real women face. Chapter titles include "Zhat Do Women Want?" and "Having it All - New Options; New Myths."

Family Values by Phyllis Burke is the story of "Two Moms and Their Son" and is written by the lesbian partner of Jesse's natural mother. The book is written with a novelist's approach and covers her experiences in helping raise the child she came to think of as "ours" instead of "hers".

In The Beginning by Jerome Blum chronicles Europe in the 1840's, focusing on Great Britain, France, Austria, Germany and Russia and political changes as early steps toward a modern social welfare state began.

Buffalo Soldiers, Braves and the Brass by Frank N. Schubert is the history of Fort Robinson, Nebraska beginning in 1874. Racial tension played an interesting part in the Fort's history because two black Cavalry Regiments were stationed there for several years. The volume includes historical photographs and excellent maps and is a well balanced blend of military history and modern concern for the families and civilians who appeared on the Great Plains after the Civil War.

Library hours are 7 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday until June 6. Beginning June 6 the library will be open 7 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday, Thursday and Friday and 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday.

Book Sale

Northern Nevada Community College Library is offering books for sale throughout the summer months.

Hardbacks sell for $.50 and paperbacks for $.25.

6-22-94

If you are interested in purchasing these books, the Library is open from 7:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday, Thursday, and Friday and from 7:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday. The Library is located in NNCC's McMullen Hall.

Summer Related Documents

Carlin Express Received at NNCC 7-6-94
Learning Resource Center

JUNE 28- NNCC-LRC—The following items were recently received in the Federal Documents section at Northern Nevada Community College's Learning Resource Center.

The National Parks: Index 1993 - a complete listing of national parks in the United States with addresses and phone numbers. Each park is described briefly and the size is indicated.

Damaged and Threatened National Historic Landmarks 1993 Report lists three sites in Nevada (and several in all other states) to either be designated as historical landmarks or designated. A recommendation to remove Fort Ruby from the list due to deterioration is included. The significance, threat/damage and recommended action for each site is listed.

The Immune System - How It Works is a pamphlet for lay people explaining purpose of the immune system and its connection to transplants, cancer, the nervous system, allergy, and the difference between natural and acquired immunity.

FDA Consumer has an article titled "Getting Lyme Disease to Take a Hike" which explains the symptoms and treatments for Lyme Disease. The article also gives advice on how to avoid being bitten, and how to keep pets safe from Lyme Disease. Interestingly enough, there is a vaccine for dogs, but none for people.

A Labor Department bulletin pinpoints the causes and symptoms of Carpal Tunnel Syndrome and explains that workers who use their hands and wrists vigorously for prolonged periods are at risk. Women are more susceptible to this problem than men and some of the reasons behind this are also investigated. The problem also escalates during gardening season.

The LRC library's hours are 7 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Monday, Thursday, and Friday and from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. on Tuesday and Wednesday.

LECTURES

WORKSHOPS

CLASSES

NOLOGY

Program
Degree
-week) Fast P

$900
s, lab f

Workshops
Classes
Lectures
1993-94

28K-97W
10X13

93-94 Work - Class - Lecture - 1

Orientation sessions to be held at NNCC

New and returning students may attend orientation and advisement sessions scheduled over the next few weeks at Northern Nevada Community College, according to a press release.

Sessions will be held in Berg Hall from noon until 1:30 p.m. Tuesday and from 1:30 to 3 p.m. and 6 to 7:30 p.m. Aug. 18. Another session will be held from noon to 1:30 p.m. Aug. 24.

Counselors Debbie Heaton-Lamp and Phil Smith will conduct campus tours and answer questions about campus activities.

Topics to be discussed include enrollment procedures, placement testing, academic advisement, degree requirements, financial aid, tuition and fees.

Students taking six credits or more are required to attend at least one orientation session unless they have completed more than 45 credits or are enrolled in community service classes.

Registration for classes ends Aug. 24 and instruction begins Aug. 30. To sign up for orientation sessions, students can call Student Services at 753-2102.

EDFP 8/5/93

Special education telecourse at NNCC

Methods for assessing handicapped children will be the focus of a new telecourse offered this fall by the University of Nevada, Reno at Northern Nevada Community College.

The telecourse format allows students in rural areas to participate in university courses through television broadcasts.

"Assessment for Special Education Teachers" will be held from 4 to 6:45 p.m. Tuesdays Aug. 24 through Dec. 14 in room 128 of the Greenhaw Technical Arts building.

The course will focus on methods for evaluating handicapped children's motor, perceptual, academic language and self-help skills. "Interpretation of assessment information and application to program needs" will be discussed, according to a press release.

The prerequisite for the course is CI 310 or CI 09/009 or consent of the instructor, Michael Warner, associate professor of curriculum and instruction at the university. The course may be applied toward certification in special education, and is required for undergraduate degrees in elementary and special education at the university.

The fee for the three-credit course is $166.50 for undergraduate and $232.50 for graduate credit. There is a $10 materials fee and a $15 syllabus fee.

To register call coordinator Angela de Braga at 738-7659.

EDFP 8/5/93

8/10/93 NNCC establishes videoconferencing

Northern Nevada Community College, through fiber optics technology, will offer new courses this fall from Reno and Las Vegas.

A new videoconferencing room will make it possible for NNCC students to attend classes originating from the University of Nevada Reno and Las Vegas. The room will be located in the Greenhaw Technical Arts building.

Videoconferencing will make it possible for the college to offer upper division classes, including coursework toward graduate degrees in business and education.

The college also will be working with high school drafting and automotive vocational programs in the Elko County school district.

"One of the missions of NNCC is to enhance vocational and technical training as well as help build a student's skills before college," said Valerie Easterly, college spokesman.

The college will continue to upgrade programs already in place, including services like academic counseling, financial assistance, veterans services and community-based programs.

The re-entry center assists single parents and displaced homemakers with occupational and academic advisement, financial assistance, daycare services and job placement.

Those owning small businesses, and those thinking of starting a new business, can access the NNCC's Small Business Development Center, where officials offer free consultation services.

"One of our missions is to assist with economic development through business and education partnering," Easterly said.

This year, students will be able to satisfy their appetites at a new satellite location of Donuts 'N More inside the community center building.

NNCC offers certificate of achievement programs and two-year associate degrees as well as upper division and graduate programs through the University of Nevada. Classes are offered at 14 sites in Elko, White Pine, Eureka, Lander and Humboldt Counties.

Registration continues through Aug. 27 and classes begin Aug. 30. Counselors are available to answer questions by calling 753-2102, or visiting the student services building at NNCC, 901 Elm St.

Tuesday, August 10, 1993 FREE PRESS EXTRA, Elko, Nevada 3

Interactive age:

UNR sends video courses to Elko

RENO — Imagine university teachers making house calls in Ely. Imagine Lake Tahoe students never plying snow-slickened roads to get to school. Imagine earning a University of Nevada Reno degree in faraway Elko County and never leaving the Independence Mountains.

These are not pipe dreams or scenes from an Arthur C. Clarke novel. It's the future at UNR. The university, being the state's only land grant institution, has a mission to extend an educational arm to all corners of the state. In a state as sparsely populated as Nevada, providing long-distant education is quite a challenge. But technology is cutting down those hundreds of miles of lonesome highway.

Long-distance education has come a long way from the old correspondence courses. A few years ago the university started sending one-way tele-courses to Carson City, Minden and Gardnerville by microwave transmissions. Now technology has taken the next step. Interactive classes can be taught and transmitted live to students in Elko via phone lines and two-way compressed video, thanks to support from Nevada Bell. The new technology will allow students to earn a university degree without ever making the 580-mile round trip to Reno.

Kathleen Avery, an Elko business student and assistant buyer for Barrick Goldstrike mine, says, "This is wonderful. I wouldn't be able to get my degree any other way. I just wish they offered more classes." Avery's plea for more classes is being heard across the state. The demand for a college degree will be answered in Fallon next semester when the university's Orvis School of Nursing starts classes that will lead to a bachelor's degree.

Right now the university is busy converting three classrooms into two-way compressed video studios. The first will go online to Elko's Northern Nevada Community College. Fallon is next in line and the third hasn't been decided, says Larry Gilbert, director of Instructional Media Services, who sees a time when university classes will be zapped to Las Vegas, Winnemucca, Ely and beyond.

In compressed video, an instructor teaches a class at the university in Reno while students in Elko or Fallon watch the live broadcast of the class. Their instructor and Reno classmates can also watch them on a big-screen TV monitor. If students in Elko have questions, they merely press a button on a microphone and they are heard in both classrooms. The equipment (video cameras, transmission boxes and monitors) to set up such a system costs about $200,000.

Ted Mitchell, an associate professor of marketing who taught a summer course in Elko via an interactive computer link, believes new technology will continue to drastically change education. "Conceivably we could go right into the student's home," Mitchell says. "Lake Tahoe students, for instance, could take classes through the computer and never have to worry about snowstorms."

Besides cutting down travel time and providing a university education, these innovations are building high-tech fans in rural Nevada.

For Donna McCormick, Mitchell's class was a step into the future. McCormick, who lives 40 miles beyond Elko in Starr Valley, said, "Ted Mitchell's class was a wonderful opportunity for us. He is really 'pro-student' and created a lot of excitement in class through the use of computers. Most of us weren't aware of what technology can do and it really tied into what we're doing in business." McCormick, a mother of four, plans on starting her own financial consulting firm after she completes her business degree.

Avery, a 1986 grad of Elko High School and classmate of McCormick's, said, "We are really getting familiar with technology out here. I didn't know that stuff existed."

Regents hike tuition for system's schools

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Nevada's university and community college students will face tuition increases under a $239.5 million budget adopted by university regents.

Beginning this fall, university students will pay $58 per credit, up $2.50 over last year, and community college students will pay $30.50 a credit, an increase of $1.10.

Out-of-state tuition will be $4,750 a year, up $450 from last year.

At a meeting here Friday, regents said they hope the tuition increases will help offset what is expected to be another flat year for enrollment.

State funding for the university system was based on a projected enrollment increase and the system will not receive some funding without more students, said Ron Sparks, vice chancellor for finance.

Enrollment in the state's universities and community colleges was expected to climb six percent this coming school year, but the schools probably can look forward to no change or possibly a decline, Sparks said.

He told regents to prepare for a "potential revenue shortfall" in fiscal 1994-95 budgets if the enrollment remained flat.

Flat enrollments were partly to blame for a $10.5 million shortfall in the University of Nevada Las Vegas budget for the current fiscal year and the year beginning July 1.

Regents on Thursday approved a plan for shifting money to cover the shortfall, but UNLV's budget problems continued to reverberate at Friday's meeting.

Regents Nancy Price and Maddy Graves, both of Las Vegas, argued for stricter budget oversight by regents and the chancellor.

ATTENTION JOB SEEKERS!

If you're looking for a job that will help . . .

advance your career, pay the bills, and provide work experience,

The NNCC Job Placement Center can help you find it NOW

JOB PLACEMENT CENTER

Berg Hall

OPENINGS EXIST IN:

Day Care
Secretarial
Word Processing Laboratory
Restaurant/Food Service
Assistant manager
Data Entry
Surveyor
Environmental Technicians
Marketing
Labor

Stop by to see NNCC's new Job Placement Specialist.

She's eager to help you find the right job.

VISIT JOB PLACEMENT TODAY!

Are you planning to transfer to another college or university?

At NNCC Student Services you can access the catalogs of every college of the Western Region including:

- Alaska
- Arizona
- California
- Colorado
- Hawaii
- Idaho
- Montana
- Nevada
- New Mexico
- Oregon
- Utah
- Washington
- Wyoming

The service is free! Call Student Services for an appointment, 753-2102.

The colleges represented have complete catalogs from cover-to-cover for all types of colleges including:

- two-year
- four-year
- undergraduate
- graduate
- medical
- law
- military
- allied health
- nursing
- art
- international/foreign
- business
- religion/theology
- chiropractic
- technical
- vocational

And there are complete course descriptions for:

- engineering
- technology
- arts and sciences
- pharmacy
- psychology
- communication
- drama
- music
- computer science
- business
- library science
- journalism
- social science
- education
- dentistry
- vet med
- and many more!

EDFP 8/13/93

NNCC to offer variety of computer courses

Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC) will be offering a variety of computer courses this fall, several for those who fear computers.

"We've put together several courses for those who fear or don't want a long-term commitment to a semester computer course," said Pat Warren, director of Continuing and Community Service Education.

Zen and the Art of UNIX (SP 248C), which introduces students to the fundamentals of UNIX, will include editing with VI, shell programming and systems administration. The six-week course will meet from 7 to 10 p.m. on Tuesday evenings beginning Sept. 14. Michael Skerl will be the instructor. The fee for the two-credit course is $80.

Cruising the Internet is a non-credit course that will introduce students to File Transfer Protocol (FTP) Telnet. Instructor Tim Brogan will teach students how to connect one computer to another using electronic mail. Some UNIX basics will also be covered, and participants will receive a software package and written materials for home use. The class will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. for five weeks beginning Sept. 13. The fee is $40.

Brogan will also be teaching a Computer Graphics Workshop from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturdays beginning Sept. 18. The non-credit course will explore various graphic software packages and formats, and participants will learn how to design and create posters, pictures, illustrations and graphics. The fee is $25.

Safari Through the Computer Jungle will give seniors the opportunity to examine Wordperfect 5.1 and Lotus 1-2-3. The five-week non-credit course is scheduled from 2 to 3:30 p.m. beginning Sept. 14. The fee is $40.

Touring Windows in Your Personal Computer will introduce students to the Windows program and teach them to do simple DOS commands and file maintenance. Instructor Carol Musgrove will be offering two sections of the six-week non-credit course. One class is scheduled from 5:30 to 6:45 p.m. Tuesdays beginning Sept. 14. The other class will meet on Thursdays at the new Spring Creek High School from 5:30 to 6:45 p.m., beginning Sept. 16. The fee for the course is $55.

Students registering for non-credit courses must register in person at the Community Services office located in the Community Center. TOUCH (telephone) registration is available for Zen and the Art of UNIX only. Students must register at least one week prior to the beginning of the courses.

EDFP 8/16/93

NNCC to offer variety of fitness classes in fall

Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC) will be offering a variety of fitness classes this fall.

Certified swimnastics instructors Val Rogers and Linda Jennings will be teaching an aerobic water workout "that's easy on the joints." The seven-week class will meet from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Elko Pool beginning Sept. 14. The fee for the one-credit course is $59.40.

Weightlifting classes for both men and women will be offered at the Elko Athletic Club. Instructor Gary Prunty will be teaching the two-credit course. The class for men is scheduled 8 to 10 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays beginning Aug. 30, and the class for women is from 8 to 10 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays beginning Aug. 31. The fee for each of the classes is $83.50.

Fitness buffs looking for a way to relax can partake in a Hatha Yoga class taught by yoga instructor Amy Flammang. A one-credit class will meet from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. Wednesdays beginning Sept. 1 in the College Community Center, and the three-credit course will meet from 12 to 1 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays beginning Aug. 30 at the Elko Athletic Club. The fee for the one-credit course is $29.40, and the two-credit course is $103.20.

A six-week Slimnastics and Weight Control class and Body Contouring and Conditioning class will be offered from 6 to 7 a.m. Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays beginning Sept. 20 at the Elko Athletic Club. Instructor Betty Richardson will be teaching the two-credit aerobic workouts, and the cost for each course is $83.50.

Instructor Connie Eikenberry will be offering Tai-Chi and Progressive Aerobic Circuit Exercise (P.A.C.E.) classes at the Elko Athletic Club. Tai-Chi is a Chinese exercise that involves slow and rhythmic movements combined with concentrated breathing. The 15-week class will meet from 6:35 to 7:35 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays beginning Aug. 31. P.A.C.E. is a new time-efficient workout involving aerobic exercises like climbing, biking, rowing, walking and weightlifting to improve fitness. The class will meet from 12 to 1 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays beginning Aug. 31. The cost for each of the two-credit courses is $68.80.

Instructor Baruch Zohar will be teaching karate, a sport that promotes fitness and mental discipline, from 6:45 to 8:30 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays at the Elko Gymnasium beginning Aug. 30. The fee for the non-credit community service course is $120.

Registration at NNCC is now under way and continues through Aug. 24. Students may register by TOUCH (telephone), or in person at the Student Services office in Berg Hall.

EOFP 8/17/93

Special interest courses on NNCC fall schedule

Northern Nevada Community College is offering a variety of special interest courses this fall.

Instructor Debbie Finley will teach students how to enjoy Nevada's wildlands without disturbing the natural environment in a class called "Leave No Trace! An Outdoor Ethic." The non-credit course, which will include a two-night backpacking trip into the Ruby Mountains, is scheduled from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 11; and the field trip, Friday through Sunday, Sept. 17-19. The fee for the class is $40, and students must furnish their own camping equipment and supplies.

John Dinsmore, DVM, will present "Update 2000: Advances in Equine Medicine" from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 18, at the Suzie Creek Arena. The workshop will focus on the latest veterinary science for horses, including ultrasound techniques, breakthroughs in colic surgery, and the latest preventative measures. The fee for the non-credit course is $20.

Medicine wheel gatherings, personal empowerment and Earth awareness are just a few of the topics of a Saturday workshop to be taught by Jim Eaglesmith, a shiatsu and physical training instructor from Reno. An introductory session is scheduled from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 10, and the experiential workshop from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 11. Both sessions will meet in the Greenhaw Technical Arts building at NNCC. Cost for the introductory session is $10, and the non-credit workshop is $40.

Instructor Rebecca Lincoln will offer a workshop entitled "Love or Addiction? Keys to Healthier Relationships" from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 25. She will discuss why people get "stuck" in relationships and explore techniques for developing healthy relationships. The non-credit workshop will meet in the NNCC Community Center Social Room; cost of the course, $30.

Instructor Carol Rybicki will present "Drawing on the Right Side of the Brain" from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Wednesdays beginning Sept. 8. Rybicki will show students how to make the shift to the right brain process to release their creative abilities. The fee for the non-credit course is $55.

Instructors Joe Jarvis and Don Ste-novich of El Aero will offer "Basic Ground School for Pilots" from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Wednesdays beginning Sept. 1. The three-credit course will examine federal air regulations, aerial navigation, radio, general service, and safety practices. The fee for the course is $88.20.

Singers in the community can participate in "Concert Choir," a one-credit course scheduled from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesdays beginning Aug. 31 in Berg Hall. Selected music will include compositions by Mozart and Bach, and performance music has been programmed into a computer, orchestrated, and individual parts enhanced. Although participants must audition for the group, there is no requirement to read music. For those needing assistance in learning music, a practice tape can be made. The cost for the course is $29.40 plus a $5 lab fee.

Students must register one week prior to non-credit workshops. Registration for credit courses continues through Aug. 24 at NNCC's Student Services in Berg Hall.

NNCC Continuing Education Director Pat Warren holds up a target from the last handgun class. It is a composite group of 45 shots fired from 17 students.

EOFP 8/17/93

'Personal protection' handgun class slated

Northern Nevada Community College will be offering a class called "Personal Protection: A Practical Handgun Course" from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Sept. 13-17 and 9 a.m. to noon Sept. 19 at Northside Elementary School. Shooting practice will take place at the Law Enforcement Shooting Range west of Elko.

Participants must be 20 years or older and enrollment will be limited to the first 20 people, with preference given to women and couples.

The course is sponsored by the National Rifle Association (NRA), Elko County Sheriff's Department and the NNCC Community Service Division.

"We teach safety first, responsibility second, and proficiency third," said NRA instructor Bob Call. "If people don't want to learn the first two, they shouldn't buy a handgun."

Call said students will learn how to load, fire, unload, clean and store weapons. They will also learn how to avoid a criminal attack, and how protect themselves should they become a victim of an attack. Laws concerning firearms will also be discussed.

Students will spend some of the time firing plastic, rubber and wax bullets at targets to learn proper grip and stance before shooting with live ammunition. The class will spend the final morning of the class at the shooting range.

"Many students feel the need for personal protection," Call said. "We don't advocate anyone to buy a gun. That's a personal decision. But if they do, we can teach them how to use it safely."

The fee for the course is $25 and the registration deadline is one week prior to the start of the class. Students are encouraged to register as soon as possible at the NNCC Community Center, 901 Elm St., as the class fills up quickly, said Continuing Education Director Pat Warren.

Indian youth listened to Denise Alley at the JTPA Conference held last week at NNCC. (Staff Photo)

Vision Quest training for Indian youth held at NNCC

Last Thursday and Friday, the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) Program held a two-day training, "Vision Quest For Indian Youth," at NNCC.

Carole Cooper, JTPA Director, said 26 Indian youths from the Eastern Area attended the two-day conference. The youths are from the reservations at McDermott, South Fork, Duckwater, and Yompa (Reese River area), and from the Elko, Wells, and Battle Mountain colonies.

The youths participate in a 10-week program in which they do clerical, beautification, recreational, and other jobs within their colonies or reservations.

JTPA hired Phoenix-based AIM (Attitudes, Insight, Motivation) to design the seminar. A similar training to the one to the one held in Elko last week was also held in Reno for Western Area Youth..

Topics that were discussed at the training included: self-discovery courses, balancing traditional and contemporary values, teen topics like teen pregnancy and suicide, healing wounds of the past such as dealing with abuse, how to develop leadership skills, how to make dreams come true, life management skills such as managing money and on-the-job skills, and the career exploration path.

As a result of this workshop, participants can: have a positive outlook regarding personal development and self-esteem factors that relate to successful behavior; have an awareness of strengths and values in being Native American; have an awareness of substance abuse prevention skills; have a greater awareness in their own personal power to succeed; be exposed to various career choices; and have an understanding of how to set short and long range goals.

NNCC to offer choir course

NNCC invites singers from the community to participate in the new musical offering at the college. Ralph Siler, director of the group said, "Beginning this Fall, we are offering MUS 111/112 Concert Choir, a one-credit transferrable course that will fulfill one credit toward the Fine Arts core curriculum requirements.

The Choir will meet Tuesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. beginning August 31st in Berg Hall. Some of the music includes: Mozart's "Ave Verum Corpus," Bach's "Cantata 63," and two versions of "Jesus Joy of Man's Desiring."

Although participants must audition for the group, even those who do not read music needn't hesitate to enroll.

Cost for the one-credit is $29.40 plus a $5 lab fee for music. TOUCH phone registration is available for the course through August 24 or enroll at Berg Hall. To audition, call Ralph Siler at 753-2206.

8-18-93 E-2

Reach out and Experience at NNCC

Reach Out and Experience, a special student volunteer program at Northern Nevada Community College, continues into its second semester. Student volunteerism is incorporated into the academic framework while providing many needed services to the community.

The Higher Education Act of 1965 originally allocated funds for improve and expand volunteerism and community work-study experiences through colleges and universities. Over the years, "community-service learning" has evolved as programs eligible for grants. NNCC's program was established with the help of a grant from the U.S. Department of Education.

Students can find out how NNCC's program works by attending "Agency Day" on August 24th from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in NNCC's College Community Center. The program links local agencies such as CADV, Community Health, Vitality Center, Mountain View Care Center, or Vocational Rehabilitation with students who have an interest in training or working in these fields. For students, community service is an opportunity to enrich and apply classroom knowledge, explore careers or majors, develop civic and cultural literacy, improve citizenship, learn occupational skills or develop job links, and foster a sense of social responsibility and commitment to human service.

Faculty at the college integrate the community volunteer experiences in to the student's coursework. Class related options range from brief observational assignments to more in-depth volunteer projects. Observational experiences may involve interviewing an agency director and presenting the information to class. Or, more in-depth experiences typically involve 15-20 hours of volunteer work with a written document prepared at the conclusion. Reach Out and Experience is offered as an alternative to more traditional classroom assignments. The experiences are designed to improve the student's ability to make career choices and to enhance the student's skill and job placement.

For more information or to become part of the program, please contact Joan Williams, Director of Financial Aid and Community Service Learning at 753-2274.

8-18-93 E-2

EDFP 8/21/93

(File photo)

Martin Black riding Kahweah in the snaffle bit in an Elko County Fair stock horse class in the 1980s.

Clinic slated for riders to prepare for the fair

Former Elko County resident Martin Black will be available to help stock horse riders "prepare for the fair" in a Northern Nevada Community College stock horse clinic next Monday, Aug. 30, at the Suzie Creek Arabians arena. The first session will be from 2-5 p.m. and the second will be from 6-9 p.m.

Black, who managed the LS Ranches near Montello for several years, is now a horse trainer in Homedale, Idaho. He recently placed third in the Nevada All-Around Stock Horse Contest at the Reno Rodeo and won the bridle horse class early this month at the Minidoka County Fair in Idaho.

Local fairgoers will remember Black's horses Kahweah and White Eye, on which he won every class offered at Elko County Fair and Livestock Show in the 1980s. He also was on the winning LS team in team penning twice and team branding once at the fair.

Elaine and Martin Black's five-year-old daughter, Sarah, now rides the 14-year-old grey White Eye. Their 11- and 12-year-old sons, Will and Wade, are already competing in roping and riding events in Nevada and Idaho.

Black says he was born and reared on the Diamond A Desert, where his grandfather, Albert, had run thousands of horses with U.S. Cavalry remount stallions. Although the family address is Bruneau, Idaho, the Blacks spend as much time in Nevada as they do in Idaho.

For the last 20 years, Martin has spent several weeks a year riding with his friend Tom Dorrance and his father-in-law, Ray Hunt. Both men are well-respected and well-known horsemen in this country and abroad.

Cost for riding in one session at the Suzie Creek arena, located behind Maggie Creek Ranch headquarters about 10 miles west of Elko on Interstate 80, is $35 for adults and $20 for children 16 and under. There also will be a $5 spectator fee, says Pat Warren, head of continuing education at NNCC. She adds there will be plenty of fresh cattle.

Stock horse riders who are interested in "preparing for the fair" should phone Warren at 738-8493 to register.

Fall classes at NNCC said filling up quickly

Classes at Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC) are filling up quickly, according to Joyce Shaw, college planning and public information officer.

Registration continues through tomorrow.

"Concert Choir," a one-credit course that will fulfill one credit toward the fine arts core curriculum, will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays beginning Aug. 31. Those interested must audition for the group. Cost is $29.40 plus a $5 lab fee. To schedule an audition, contact Ralph Siler at 753-2206.

Office administration classes are also filling up fast, said instructor Jill Stringfield.

"Because the courses are requirements for the popular Fast-Track Clerical Skills Program, space is at a premium," Stringfield said, adding that class space is still available.

A three-credit "Beginning WordPerfect" class will meet from 10:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays for 11 weeks beginning Sept. 7. Prerequisite for the course is Keyboarding I or typing speed of 30 words per minute. The fee is $103.20 including a $15 lab fee.

A three-credit "Intermediate WordPerfect" class will be offered from 5:30 to 6:45 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays for 15 weeks beginning Aug. 31. Prerequisite is Beginning Wordperfect or permission of the instructor. The fee is $103.20 including a $15 lab fee.

"Executive Office Procedures" will be offered from 10:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays for 11 weeks beginning Sept. 8. The fee for the three-credit course is $88.20.

"WordPerfect for Windows 5.2" will be offered from 5:30 to 6:45 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays for 15 weeks beginning Sept. 1. The fee is $103.20 including a $15 lab fee.

A one-half credit workshop to help students make the transition from WordPerfect to Windows will be held from 4 to 10 p.m. Sept. 24 and from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sept. 25. The fee is $34.40 including a $5 lab fee.

Students may enroll by TOUCH (telephone) registration at 753-2100 or at Student Services in Berg Hall.

EDFP 8/23/93

UNR offers classes at NNCC and Wells

University of Nevada, Reno (UNR) will offer a "Cooperative Vocational Education Program" class from 4 to 10 p.m. Fridays and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays Sept. 17-18, Oct. 22-23 and Nov. 19-20 at Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC), 901 Elm St.

A required one-hour pre-course meeting will be held from 5 to 6 p.m. Sept. 1 in the NNCC bookstore. Payment is due at that time. The fee for the three-credit course is $166.50 for undergraduate credit and $232.50 for graduate credit.

Instructor Vernon Luft will discuss organization and implementation of cooperative vocational programs. Those interested should call Angela de Braga at 738-7659.

UNR also will be offering "Individual Studies: Water Media" from 4 to 10 p.m. and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sept. 10-11 at Wells Elementary School, 404 Fourth St. in Wells.

The one-credit course fee is $55.50 for undergraduate and $77.50 for graduate credit. There is also a $15 materials fee. Payment is due Sept. 3.

Instructor Tom Gilbertson will discuss painting of landscapes, still lifes and people. Instruction will include watercolor technique, composition and color theory.

Those interested should call April Wright at 762-3837 or UNR's Division of Continuing Education at 1-800-233-8928.

EDFP 8/24/93

NNCC offers independent computer courses

Do you want to take a computer class, but attending NNCC classes is difficult for you, or impossible? If you cannot attend a class at a specific time each week, or the classes you need are not offered in your vicinity, NNCC may be able to help you with a special series of classes offered this fall.

Online classes offer beginning computer topics studied from your home or home town. Offered, online, are one credit courses titled 'Beginning DOS', 'Beginning Windows', and 'Beginning Lotus 123'.

To take advantage of these classes, students need access to a computer containing the software studied and a modem attached.

Students use a text book, prepared lessons, the software, and weekly instructor help to learn the software at their own pace. The student can even begin a class later in the semester.

The modem equipped computer is used to call an electronic bulleting board to communicate with the instructor and other students. Answers to questions are returned within 24 hours. While these modem calls will cost long distance charges to Elko, they are cheaper than travel costs.

A half-credit course called 'Accessing Coyote Telegraph' is completed as a prerequisite to taking one of the main courses. Its three lessons teach how to use the bulletin board.

Contact Larry Hyslop at 753-2306 for more information.

Elko Independent 8-25-93

NNCC Stock Horse Clinic scheduled for Monday has been cancelled and will be rescheduled during the fall. More information is available by calling 753-2231.

calling Jon Baumann, 738-9635.

Elko General Hospital reported the following admittances for Wednesday and Thursday: Lori Ayala, Charity Russell and Candra Titus, all of Elko. No discharges were reported.

Elko Flag Football League will hold an organizational meeting at 6:30 p.m. Monday at Round Table Pizza in Elko. All players, managers and referees are asked to attend. More information is available by Charly and Andy Russell of Elko are parents of a daughter born at 11:08 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 26, at Elko General Hospital. She weighed eight pounds, 11 ounces and measured 20 1/2 inches.

Craftasia registration begins

Ed 8/25/93

This year has been designated as the Year of the American Craft in the nation. Elko is planning to celebrate this event with art shows, workshops and a juried craft fair, Craftasia. This event will take place at the Elko Convention Center October 8-10. Registration deadline is August 31st.

Nationally known artists will be presenting workshops during the event and displays will include works by well-known artisans.

The booths for Craftasia will be juried. The organizers of the event are looking for unusual and creative items. The Craftasia Committee hopes to have 40 booths of crafts displayed and booths are still available. The public may view and purchase handcrafted items during the event.

Sponsors of Craftasia include the Sierra Arts Foundation, Nevada State Council on the Arts, Nevada Commission on Tourism, the Elko Convention Center, Northeastern Nevada Museum and the Northern Nevada Community College.

Among the workshops will be one by artist James Linnehan of Tuscarora, who will be doing a ceramic pictograph mural. Northeastern Nevada residents will be invited to participate in the "clay experience." Participants should bring an object of some personal significance suitable for making an impression in clay such as ranching brands, belt buckles, spurs, pieces of lace or jewelry. They will create a terra-cotta tile. Each tile will then be marked by the individual with the impression of an object, outline of a hand or other drawn, carved, modeled or written signs of their presence in the community. The resulting pictographs will be kiln-fired and assembled to form a mural.

Other artists conducting workshops will include Mary Mashuta of Berkely, CA a quilting expert. She will teach two classes, "Stripes in Quilting" and "Story Quilts."

Mashuta is a member of the San Francisco Bay Area quilt community, and she has taught nationally and in Canada and South America. She has also been featured in Japanese, French and South African magazines.

Mary Lee Fulkerson of Palomino Valley will be teaching basket making and Japanese papermaking. She shows and sells her baskets around the country and her work has been featured in several books and publications. She was also the subject of "The Nevada Experience" on KNPB public television.

Carol Pallesen Hicks, a Smithsonian exhibitor, will be teaching oriental bookbinding. She works, studies and teaches in her Reno studio, The Silent Hand scriptorium.

Hicks is interested in all book arts and has studied hand papermaking, bookbinding and letter-press printing. Her work has been in many shows around the country, including a recent exhibit at the National Museum of Women in the Arts in Washington, D.C.

Charlene Virts of Elko will teach a class in weaving a diamond twill saddle blanket. She works closely with northern Nevada saddlemakers and horsemen and women in developing design elements such as style, thickness, size and durability for saddle blankets. Virts has studied Navajo weaving and dyeing, mushroom and other natural dyes and crackle weaving.

Registration for any of the workshops can be made by calling Cindy Ledall at the Elko Convention Center at 702-738-4091. Registration is not required for Linnehan's workshop. There will be fees for all the classes but they vary. Those interested in displaying their art at the booths can also contact Ledall. Their work will be juried and booths cost $50.

Nevada Small Business Development Center, Bureau of Business and Economic Research, College of Business Administration and Nevada Division of Environmental Protection PRESENT

EOPF 8-28-93

AN OVERVIEW OF HAZARDOUS WASTE REGULATIONS

This seminar will inform you of the hazardous waste regulations which affect your business. Information will be provided about how to comply with these regulations as well as how to reduce the number of hazardous materials used in your operations and the quantity of waste you generate. This winning strategy cannot only save you money, but improve workplace safety, ease compliance, and protect our environment.

Thursday, September 2 • 9:30 a.m.-12 noon
Northern Nevada Community College
Berg Hall, Room 9

Seminar topics include:

- How to determine whether the waste you generate is hazardous or non-hazardous.
- The reporting and recordkeeping requirements of the Nevada Division of Environmental Protection.
- How to save money and reduce liability by minimizing the amount of waste you generate.
- The hazardous waste accumulation, storage, and disposal requirements.
- Resources are available to help you comply with environmental regulations.

PRE-REGISTRATION IS REQUIRED. To make a reservation or obtain additional information, please contact the Nevada Small Business Development Center at 753-2245.
This seminar is FREE to all businesses located within the state of Nevada.

NOTICE: Special arrangements are available for handicapped persons if requested in advance. Contact Missy Catuzzo at 754-1717 or write NSBDC (032), UNR, Reno, NV 89557. The Nevada Small Business Development Center is partially funded by the U.S. Small Business Administration. The support given by the SBA does not constitute express or implied endorsement of any of the co-sponsor(s) or participant(s) opinions, products or services.

NNCC offers classes for the busy student

Northern Nevada Community College is offering some classes this fall to fit the needs of the busy student.

A one-day-a-week "History 101" class is scheduled from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m. Friday beginning Sept. 3.

"We selected this time to give an additional schedule option to mothers of school-age children and others who did not want to commit the time to two class periods per week during the day or evenings," said department chairman Jack Smith.

The fee for the three-credit course is $88.20, and students may register anytime prior to the start of class.

Students can learn in the comfort of their homes by registering for one of NNCC's on-line computer classes.

"Beginning DOS," "Beginning Windows," and "Beginning Lotus 123" are being offered this fall. The cost for each of the one-credit courses is $34.40, which includes the lab fee. Students may begin anytime before the Oct. 25 deadline.

Students will use textbooks, prepared lessons, software and weekly instructor assistance to learn the software at their own pace. Students make their own study schedules.

The student needs to have access to a computer containing the software studied in the courses, and a computer with a modem attached.

The modem-equipped computer is used to call an electronic bulletin board on the Elko campus to communicate with the instructor and other students. This communication is based on sending and receiving stored messages, and answers to students' questions are returned within 24 hours. Computer files and assignments are exchanged through the modem. Modem calls made from areas outside Elko telephone exchanges will be assessed long-distance charges.

Before taking any of these courses, students must take a three-lesson course called "Accessing Coyote Telegraph," which teaches students how to use the bulletin board. The fee for the one-half credit class is $19.70.

To sign up for the courses, contact Larry Hyslop at 753-2305.

EOPF 8-28-93

Seminar on hazardous waste regulations set for Thursday

A seminar on how hazardous waste regulations affect businesses is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. to noon Thursday in Berg Hall at Northern Nevada Community College.

The free seminar is being sponsored by the Nevada Small Business Development Center, the Bureau of Business and Economic Research and the College of Business Administration, all at the University of Nevada, Reno.

In addition, the Nevada Division of Environmental Protection is co-sponsoring the event, said Tracy Echeverria of the Small Business Development Center at NNCC.

Speakers will provide information about how to comply with hazardous waste regulations as well as how to reduce the number of hazardous materials used in a business operation, she said.

Although the seminar is free, pre-registration is required. Reservations can be made or more information obtained about the seminar by calling the center at 754-1717.

The center has also scheduled two seminars, for later in the month, Echeverria said.

A workshop on handwriting analysis will be instructed by Kathleen Dickinson of Reno, a certified graphoanalyst, on Sept. 17 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in NNCC's Greenhaw Technical Arts Building, Room 130.

She will teach people how to better understand and improve their communication styles and those of co-workers by using handwriting analysis, Echeverria said.

The fee will be $30, Echeverria said. The other seminar will be on small business accounting, on Sept. 24, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Berg Hall, Room 9.

Echeverria said the workshop will be taught by Lorrie Cook, who has more than six years of accounting and consulting experience.

She will explain the accounting process "in such a way to make it more useful, useable and simple," Echeverria said. She will discuss key accounting terms, how to prepare cash receipts and cash disbursement journals and how to prepare monthly profit and loss statements.

The fee for this seminar, also sponsored by the Small Business Development Center, is $30. Those interested may call Echeverria at 753-2245.

EOPF 8-28-93

Benefits of community colleges

By Better Homes and Gardens
A Meredith Magazine

Community colleges, once the second choice for many students, are emerging as an essential educational vehicle, according to Better Homes and Gardens magazine.

For people who want to learn a special skill, improve their knowledge in a technical area, or re-enter the workforce, the low-cost alternative of a public, two-year community college may be the bargain of the century. Community college also is a practical choice for people who want to make a transition from high school to a four-year college, or just expand their minds.

"Historically, community colleges have provided job-specific skills for the businesses in their area," says Curtis Plott, president of the American Society for Training and Development in Alexandria, Va. "I think that role is going to become even more important in the next five to 10 years. Sixty-one percent of high school graduates in this country don't go to college, and businesses need people with training beyond high school."

That need has brought more and more students to their local college — even those who've been to college before. "There's a fairly large percentage of people attending who have other degrees," says David Pierce, president of the American Association of Community Colleges. "There are people who are simply trying to change their careers, make themselves more employable, or upgrade their salaries."

And why not? Since their beginning in the early 1960s, community colleges have positioned themselves as "access institutions," Pierce says.

They are easy to get to, cost less and where financial aid is relatively easy to come by.

In 1992, the latest year for which statistics are available, 6.4 million people were enrolled in community colleges. That's up almost 2 million from 1985. Part-time students outnumber full-time, but that may change as full-time enrollment continues to grow, says Bill Reinhard, director of news services for the American Association of Community Colleges.

Reinhard says that for many students, the personal nature of a small community college is an advantage. Another advantage includes the fact that community college annual costs run about half that of a public four-year college.

More than 75 percent of the nation's community colleges are involved in on-site training programs for business. That means your community college is likely to be tied to one or more of your area's biggest employers.

While you can learn computers or robotics at a school designed specifically for that, a community college degree also requires course work in English, social sciences, and mathematics.

For many students, community college is the springboard to a bachelor's degree. Some start there because they want to improve on their high school grades. Others can't get into overcrowded classes at larger universities, so they take general education courses at a community college. The lower cost also is a compelling reason.

Studies have shown that students who transfer from community colleges do as well as or better than those students who began at four-year institutions.

The most popular field of study, according to the American Association of Community Colleges, is business and management. An associate's degree in that area could qualify a person to work in banking or the retail industry, for example, or for a low- to middle-management position in a larger company.

The next most popular field is allied health. Community college students often become nurses, radiation technicians, dental hygienists and other health professionals.

Courses in engineering and related technology such as drafting and robotics attract many community college students and prepare them for jobs in manufacturing, construction and similar fields.

Other graduates find work in public affairs or government services, in the food industry, law and fine arts, among others.

Remember that community colleges are meant to be accessible. To enroll, you usually do not need to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or fill out a long application. Many offer on-site child care centers and counseling for displaced homemakers.

Alaska: Participants in Northern Nevada Community College's Alaska tour, held in July, included, from left: Lillian and Bob Secrist, Sherry Xavier, Joe Manion, Alice Helfich (from New Mexico), Norma and "Brownie" Brown, Sarah Sweetwater (tour director), Rodger

Elliott (from Texas) and Nadine Ogden. The next NNCC tour will go to Italy in April. Tourists will go to a "spagetti" Cowboy Festival, tour a winery, visit an olive orchard, enjoy Italian cuisine and see a lot of old world art, Sweetwater said.

9-18-93

Work, Class, Lecture 5

Put your lunch hour to good use. Enroll in SPAN 299B and learn, in a low-key environment, the basics of Spanish. Couldn't you use the basics to communicate with students, patients, clients, family and friends, or even for travel abroad?

SPAN 299B
1 Credit
Wednesday 12-1 p.m.
10/6-12/15

93-94

Enroll at Student Services, Berg Hall

Computer classes at NNCC

Nevada Community College (NNCC) has opened two additional sections of "Introduction to Windows" from 7 to 10 p.m. Mondays in the Greenhaw Technical Arts building.

The first section will run Sept. 27 through Oct. 25, and the second section will be held Nov. 8 through Dec. 6. The cost for the one-credit course is $34.40, and students may register at Student Services in Berg Hall.

EDFP 9/3/93

9-18-93 EDPF

Accounting seminar set for Friday

Reservations are still being accepted for the Small Business Accounting Made Simple seminar slated for Friday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Berg Hall of Northern Nevada Community College, said Tracy Echeverria, director of the Nevada Small Business Development Center.

The center is sponsoring the workshop, which will be presented by Lorrie Cook, who teaches classes at NNCC and has her own accounting business. She has more than six years of accounting and consulting experience.

Echeverria said Cook will teach those at the seminar to understand key accounting terms, how to prepare cash receipts and cash disbursement journals and how to prepare monthly profit and loss statements.

The fee for the seminar is $30. To pre-register or for more information, Echeverria can be reached at 753-2245.

Handwriting: Certified graphoanalyst Kathleen Dickinson of Reno presented a seminar on effective communications at Northern Nevada Community College last week, teaching participants how to analyze handwriting to help understand the personalities of potential employees and co-workers. Dickinson, who owns Dynamic Impressions, said handwriting can show stress, willpower, organizational skills, loyalty, empathy, creativity, sensitivity, shyness, charm and self-punishment, for example.

Health fair: Linda Ricker has her blood pressure checked Saturday by Brenda Young at the Northeastern Nevada Health and Fitness Fair, which was sponsored by Elko General Hospital. Both are second-year nursing students at Northern Nevada Community College. Those who attended were given information on healthy diets, inspected exercise equipment and were able to undergo various medical tests.

Pictured are members of the Craftasia Committee: (Back Row) Lois Whitney, Cindy Ledall, Sidnie Miller, Charlene Virts, Deborah Finley, (front) Karen Martin, Sharon Thompson and Sandi Higgins. Not pictured are: Sarah Sweetwater, Nancy Remington and Joyce Shaw. (staff photo)

Craftasia Registration still open

Next weekend, the Elko Convention Center will host a unique event — Craftasia.

The October 8 through 10th event is Elko's way of celebrating the Year of the American Craft. According to the Craftasia brochure; the event will pay tribute to the excellence in craftsmanship and to the artistic diversity that exists among people.

Special workshops will be offered during Craftasia, and registration is still open, according to Convention Center Marketing Director Cindy Ledall. Friday, "Stripes in Quilting" will be offered by Mary Mashuta from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. The fee is $30. She is from San Francisco and the author of Quilts: Telling Your Tale In Fabric. On Saturday, basket making with Mary Lee Fulkerson will be offered from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. and the fee is $45. Fulkerson is a Palomino Valley Basket Artist and is the author of Indian Basketmakers of Nevada's Great Basin. During the same time period, Elko's Charlene Virts will offer a class on Handwoven Saddle Blankets for $35. Also that day, Oriental Bookbinding with Carol Pallesen Hicks, for $61 and Story Quilts part one will be offered by Mary Mashuta. Story Quilts will continue on Sunday from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. and the cost for both days is $60. Also on Sunday from 8 a.m. to noon, Fulkerson will offer the class Japanese Papermaking.

There will be a special "Drop In" ceramics pictograph mural workshop with James Linnehan every day from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. for a fee of $2.

The public is invited to attend the opening of A Common Thread at the Northeastern Nevada Museum, Friday at 7 p.m. The guest speaker will be Ceramicist Dennis Parks of the Tuscarora Pottery School. They are also invited to enjoy the 40 different display booths at the Convention Center from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and Saturday 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. for an admission price of $2.

EDFP 9-30-93

Landscaping class tonight at NNCC

Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC) will offer a satellite course "Landscape Maintenance in the Interior West" from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Thursdays, tonight through Dec. 9, in Berg Hall.

The class will focus "on environmental constraints and concerns on the landscape including planting, pruning and maintenance of grasses, trees, shrubs and flowers." The course also will cover weed control and irrigation.

The fee for the two-credit course is $63.80 or $10 for one non-credit session. Those interested should call Pat Warren at 753-2231 for more information.

Attention Marketing & Business Students!

A chapter of Delta Epsilon Chi is being formed at NNCC. ΔEX creates learning opportunities for students in marketing, management, merchandising and related business programs.

Competitive events are scheduled throughout the school year which enable you to demonstrate your acquired competencies and receive recognition and awards at local, state and national levels. Winning an event looks good on your resume'. In fact, winning students have received job offers right away.

First Meeting Thursday
10/28/93
GTA Building Room 124
12:00 Noon

ΔEX
TM

work, class, lecture
68.

Author R. McCunn to lecture at 89 NNCC Thursday

9-30-93

Northern Nevada Community College will present the first in a series of presentations titled "The West Is Home" on Thursday, September 30, 7 p.m. in the Greenhaw Technical Arts Lecture Hall.

The program will feature distinguished author and lecturer Ruth Anne McCunn. McCunn's program, a slide presentation dedicated to the process of recognizing and preserving diverse heritages through writing, is titled "Reclaiming Lives: Challenges and Responsibilities." The program is free and open to the public.

Ruth Anne McCunn is an Amerasian born in San Francisco's Chinatown. The daughter of a captain in the United States Merchant Marine, she grew up in Hong Kong in an extended family spanning three generations and five cultures. She was educated first in Chinese and then English schools, returning to California to attend college.

While working as a teacher and librarian, McCunn authored several reference works, including An Illustrated History of the Chinese in America. In 1981 her novel, Thousand Pieces of Gold, the story of a Chinese-American pioneer's experiences as a slave and free woman in the American West, was called "a stunning biography" by the Los Angeles Times. It was a Quality Paperback Book Club Alternate, released as a Dell (Laurel) paperback, then as a Beacon trade paperback, and was made into a film released in 1990. The film will be shown at NNCC on November 18 at 7 p.m. and on November 19 at noon in the lecture hall.

In 1984, her children's picture book, Pie-Biter, won the Before Columbus Foundation's American Book Award. Her account of the world's champion survivor, Poon Lim, published as Sole Survivor, was a Dolphin Book Club Alternate and was selected as 1985 Best Book, Non-fiction Adventure by the Southwest Booksellers Association.

Now a full-time writer,

McCunn's most recent titled, Chinese American Portraits: Personal Histories 1828-1988, is a "fine collection of 150 historic photos interspersed with 17 biographical essays on individual pioneers" (Choice). Her work has been translated into eight languages, and she co-edits the Chinese Historical Society of America's annual journal. Her appearance at NNCC is made possible with assistance from the Nevada Humanities Committee, the state affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The Ethnic Minority Affairs Committee of NNCC will host a reception and book signing following the presentation. Books will be available for purchase at the reception.

McCunn will also appear with Ann Herbert Scott at the Nevada Library Association Convention at the Elko Convention Center, October 1st from 9 to 10 a.m. Her presentation is titled "Writing Children's Books in Western Settings."

NNCC lecture series will focus on West

6x9
FP
9-27-93

Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC) is scheduled to present the first in a series on "The West Is Home" at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Greenhaw Technical Arts lecture hall.

Lecturer Ruth Anne McCunn will present a slide show and lecture called "Reclaiming Lives: Challenges and Responsibilities." The free program will focus "on the process of recognizing and preserving diverse heritages through writing."

The award-winning author's books include An Illustrated History of the Chinese in America, Sole Survivor and Thousand Pieces of Gold, which was made into a film. The film will be shown at 7 p.m. Nov. 18 and at noon Nov. 19 in the lecture hall.

Her 1984 children's book, Pie-Biter, won the Before Columbus Foundation's American Book Award. Her most recent book is Chinese American Portraits: Personal Histories 1828-1988, a collection of 150 photos and 17 essays on pioneers.

The NNCC Ethnic Minority Affairs Committee will hold a reception and book-signing ceremony following the Thursday program; books will be sold.

McCunn also will appear with Ann Herbert Scott at the Nevada Library Association Convention from 9 a.m. to 10 Friday at the Elko Convention Center to discuss writing children's books in Western settings.

Are you suffering from

Grade Point Angst?*

* Troubled? Consult a dictionary or a tutor!

Time to visit the Critical Skills Lab in Lundberg Hall 4

ENGLISH TUTORING

MONDAY

9:00 a.m. — 2:00 p.m.

TUESDAY

4:00 p.m. — 9:00 p.m.

WEDNESDAY

9:00 a.m. — 2:00 p.m.
4:30 p.m. — 8:30 p.m.

THURSDAY

9:00 a.m. — 12:00 p.m.
4:00 p.m. — 8:30 p.m.

FRIDAY

9:00 a.m. — 12:00 p.m.

SATURDAY

Not available

MATH TUTORING

MONDAY

5:00 p.m. — 8:00 p.m.

WEDNESDAY

5:00 p.m. — 8:00 p.m.

Math Tutor: Sue Malcolm

COMPUTER AID

MONDAY

11:00 a.m. — 5:30 p.m.

TUESDAY

11:00 a.m. — 5:30 p.m.

WEDNESDAY

11:00 a.m. — 5:30 p.m.
7:00 p.m. — 10:00 p.m.

THURSDAY

9:00 a.m. — 12:30 p.m.

FRIDAY

11:00 a.m. — 5:30 p.m.

SATURDAY

8:30 a.m. — 3:00 p.m.

TUTORING FOR OTHER ACADEMIC SUBJECTS:

Individual tutoring of other academic subjects
is available through the Counselor's Office in Berg Hall.
See Debbie Heaton-Lamp or Phil Smith.

NNCC to hold workshop

Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC) will offer a "Supervisory Skills" workshop from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday in the Community Center social room. The cost is $30.

Instructor Pete Snyder, a counselor at Canyon View Hospital in Twin Falls, will teach students how to create a concise job description, motivate employees, and use positive discipline techniques that "keep employees happy and productive."

Those interested may call Gail McClure at 763-2301 or Pat Warren at 763-2231.

EDFP 10/19/93

Continuing education: Humboldt Sun 10-20-93 UNR offers course in business

The University of Nevada, Reno is offering "Special Topics: Business and Environmental Law" (BA 791) in Elko. This course is part of the master's degree in business administration.

The course will be held Nov. 5-6, 19-20, Dec. 3-4, and 17-18, Fridays and Saturdays, in Room 7 of Berg Hall, at Northern Nevada Community College, 901 Elm St., Elko. Class will meet Nov. 5 at 6 p.m.; future course meeting times will be announced.

A required one-hour pre-course meeting will be held Wednesday, Oct. 20, from 5-6 p.m., in the Northern Nevada Community College Bookstore. Preregistration and payment for the course are due at that time. The fee for the three-credit graduate course is $232.50.

This course will help participants develop an understanding of the process of development of environmental policy and law, statutory and regulatory, and how it is implemented and enforced by federal and state regulatory agencies. Simulations will be created so that students can develop their ability to articulate and defend a legal position on various sides of a complex environmental issue.

Students will develop an ability to analyze, comprehend and discuss statutory and regulatory law, including cases; discover how to research federal and state statutes and regulations and to do quality legal writing in a legal research memorandum, using legal citations; learn how to draft contracts and other legal documents that are commonly used in environmental law and practice; and develop an appreciation of the continuing influences of national and international environmental science, policy, economics and ethics on the entire field of environmental law and policy.

Don Winne, J.D., the instructor for the course, is a professor of managerial sciences at the university.

To register or for more information, contact the community coordinator for Elko, Angela de Braga, 901 Elm St., Elko, NV 89801, 738-7659.

Jarbidge discussion at NNCC

Elko County chapter of the Nevada Archaeological Association (ECCNAA) will present a discussion by Dr. William Fawcett on "The Archaeology of the Jarbidge Mountains" at 7 p.m. Friday in Berg Hall at Northern Nevada Community College.

Fawcett, an anthropology professor at Utah State University, has supervised archaeology field schools in the Jarbidge district of the Humboldt National Forest. His students have recorded over 100 prehistoric and historic archaeological sites, and carried out several excavations.

An hour before Fawcett's presentation, ECCNAA will hold a brief chapter meeting. The public is welcome to attend the meeting and the program.

ECCNAA members also are invited to participate on a Sunday field trip to a historical stagecoach stop located about 35 miles north of Elko along the Elko-Tuscarora stage route. Those interested should call Chet Bate at 738-4345 or Tim Murphy at 738-6269 before 7 p.m. Saturday.

EDFP 10/21/93

Anthropologist to speak at NNCC

At the invitation of Elko County Chapter of Nevada Archaeological Association (ECCNAA), Dr. William Fawcett will present "The Archaeology of the Jarbidge Mountains" on Friday, October 22, at 7 p.m. in room 9 of William Berg Hall.

Fawcett, professor of anthropology at Utah State University, has supervised archaeology field schools for the past two summers in the Jarbidge district of the Humboldt National Forest. Under his direction, students have recorded over 100 prehistoric and historic archaeological sites and carried out several excavations including an historic Shoshone deer trap. This first comprehensive inventory of the Jarbidge mountains has been done under a cooperative agreement with the U.S. Forest Service.

EDFP 10-20-93

Preceding Dr. Fawcett's presentation, ECCNAA will hold a brief chapter meeting at 6 p.m. The public is welcome to both the meeting and the program on Jarbidge archaeological findings.

ECCNAA members are invited to participate on a field trip to record an historic stagecoach stop on Sunday, October 24. For more information contact Chet Bate, 738-4345, or Tim Murphy, 738-6269 before 7 p.m., October 23rd.

AUTOMOTIVE TECHNICIANS

ASE Certification Will Make a BIG Difference In Your Career and Earnings!

If you're planning to . . . or even considering taking the ASE AUTOMOBILE EXAMINATIONS on November 3rd and 4th . . . BE PREPARED!

Let Northern Nevada Community College get you ready with a presentation from

Preparation for the ASE Automobile Examinations
Via Satellite . . . National Training Teleconference

Saturday, October 2, 1993
8 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Cost: $35

Make a BIG Difference In Your Career and Earnings!

For more information call
CARL COOK - 753-2315
Northern Nevada Community College
Berg Hall, Room 9

ENROLLMENT IS LIMITED . . . CALL TODAY

ATTENTION TEACHERS

The following education courses will be offered by Northern Nevada Community College, Fall 1993, that will apply toward recertification:

EDUC 295B
Land, Water, and Wildlife
1 credit: $29.40
F 4-9 p.m. and Sat 8 a.m.-5 p.m.
October 15 and 16

EDUC 295B
Effective Discipline for Teachers
1 credit: $29.40
F 4-10 p.m. and Sat 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m.
October 22 and 23

EDUC 295B
Writing Winning Grant Proposals
1 credit: $29.40 plus $5 lab fee
F 4-7 p.m. and Sat 9 a.m.-1 p.m.
November 5-20

Register at Student Services, Berg Hall
Fees are due and payable at the Controller's Office,
Lundberg Hall, at the time of registration

93-94

Workshop on air quality this Wednesday at NNCC

An Air Quality Regulations Workshop is scheduled for 9 a.m. to noon Wednesday in the Greenhaw Technical Arts Building of Northern Nevada Community College, Room 124.

The Nevada Department of Environmental Protection will present this workshop on the proposed State Operating Permit Programs regulations. Those attending can learn how the new regulations will affect their businesses and individuals, said Tracy Echeverria of the Nevada Small Business Development Center at Elko.

Congress adopted Title V of the Clean Air Act in 1990 to create a level playing field for all states and industry. The new requirements will increase compliance, provide permitted facilities with operational flexibility and enhance public participation during the permitting process for projects.

The seminar is free. Reservations are available by calling the SBDC at 753-2245.

A number of other business-related seminars are also planned in October and November.

On Friday, there will be a seminar on Effective Budgeting, presented by local consultant Lorrie Cook from 9 a.m. to noon in the Greenhaw Technical Arts Building, Room 124.

She will provide the necessary framework for making business decisions, Echeverria said. Cook will show those attending how to make reasonable projections, budget cash flow and evaluate the financial performance of a company.

Cook has more than six years of consulting experience in accounting and bookkeeping.

The fee is $30, and reservations may be made by calling 753-2245. Echeverria asked that reservations be made by Wednesday. The workshop is being sponsored by SBDC and NNCC.

On Oct. 27, top management from Wells Rural Electric Company are slated to present a Total Quality Management Seminar from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. in Berg Hall of NNCC.

They will share their experiences in using total quality management.

Reservations may be made by calling the SBDC office at 753-2245. Cost of the workshop is $20. Sponsors are SBDC, NNCC, the Elko Chamber of Commerce and the North East Nevada Development Authority.

November's events will kick off with a seminar on Buying a Business or Franchise, to be presented by Richard Barholet and John Larsen from 6 to 9 p.m. Nov. 4 at the Greenhaw Technical Arts Building.

Barholet is a business broker with Pennington and Associates of Reno, and Larsen is the founder of Port of Subs. He will specifically discuss evaluating franchise opportunities, Echeverria said.

The two will provide pointers on searching for a business, deciding how much to pay for one, how to make an offer, perform due diligence and close a deal.

Cost of this workshop, sponsored by SBDC and NNCC, is $25. Echeverria said registration ends Nov. 2. She can be reached at 753-2245.

Effective Business Writing Skills will be the topic of the second November workshop, scheduled from 1 to 4 p.m. Nov. 5 in McMullen Hall, Room 12, of NNCC.

Those attending will learn how to improve their communication skills and to compose effective letters, memos, reports and proposals and how to incorporate their own personal touch into them.

The course will be taught by Richard McNally, and will cost $25. Registration or more information is available by calling the Continuing Education Office at 753-2231.

Graphics for WordPerfect is slated for Nov. 5 and Nov. 6, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. This one-credit course, to be taught by Linda Reber, will teach students how to sharpen their presentations, papers and proposals with tables, boxes and graphics available on WordPerfect, Echeverria said.

The class will be held in Room 119 of the Greenhaw Technical Arts Building. The fee is $34.40. Those interested may call Student Services at 753-2245.

Another business-related class, Intermediate Use of DOS 5, is scheduled for Thursday evenings from Nov. 11 to Dec. 9 in Lundberg Hall, Room 5, of NNCC. The course will be held from 7 to 10 p.m.

The class can be taken as a continuation of the introductory course or as a starting point for people with DOS experience, Echeverria said. MS-DOS 5 can be used to manage memory, create batch files and perform backups.

Students also will learn utility programs to work with damaged files and disks and about viruses and their prevention.

The class is for one credit, and the fee is $34.40. Interested individuals can contact Student Services at 753-2102.

The writing, WordPerfect and DOS classes are sponsored by SBDC and NNCC. EDFP 10/16/93

Workshop this Friday on ADA, sex harassment

Carlos Romo, assistant director of the Nevada Equal Rights Commission, is scheduled to talk in Elko Friday about sexual harassment and the Americans with Disabilities Act.

He will conduct a workshop geared to employees and employers from 1 to 4 p.m. at Berg Hall of Northern Nevada Community College.

The workshop is being sponsored by NNCC and the Small Business Development Center, said Tracy Echeverria of the SBDC. The fee is $15.

She said reservations may be made by calling her, office at 753-2245. EDFP 10/12/93

Seminar: Carlos Romo, assistant director of the Nevada Equal Rights Commission, spoke last week at a workshop at Northern Nevada Community College. He spoke on sexual harassment and the new Americans with Disabilities Act. He said roughly 43 million Americans qualify as disabled under the act even though "most of them have hidden disabilities" such as epilepsy, cancer, diabetes, heart problems and back problems. "It's a very complicated law," he told those attending the workshop. He said businesses should "try to accommodate, ... meet the individual halfway" to comply with ADA. E.D.F.P. 10/23/93

Learn how to READ MUSIC

Northern Nevada
Community College will offer

MUS 101
Fundamentals of Music
3 credits, $88.20
Saturdays, 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m.
5 Wks. Beg. November 6

- Music notation
- Structure, Terminology
- Intervals, Scales

MUS 101 is perfect for students with little or no background in music and is recommended for teachers in public schools.

Register by Thursday, November 4 at Student Services, Berg Hall.

901 Elm Street • 738-8493

EDFP 10-26-93

Music class to focus on basics

Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC) will present "Fundamentals of Music," a five-week Music 101 course focusing on terminology, intervals and scales from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturdays beginning Nov. 6. The cost for the three-credit course is $88.20.

"I highly recommend this course for anyone who has a limited background in music," said NNCC music instructor Ralph Siler. "It's the perfect beginning for aspiring vocalists and instrumentalists as well as a good review for those with limited theory. This course is also highly recommended for public school teachers."

Students interested in the course must register by Nov. 4 in Berg Hall.

EDFP 10/26/93

Grant workshop slated

Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC) is offering a one-credit workshop on "Writing Successful Grant Proposals" from 4 to 7 p.m. Nov. 5 and Nov. 19, and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Nov. 6 and 20.

The workshop will meet in Berg Hall.

Dr. Cliff Ferry, director of institutional research and assessment, will instruct the course, which will focus on the characteristics of successful grants, developing budgets, identifying grant sources, computer grant searches and grant language.

Teachers and community leaders will have the opportunity to locate and receive funding for special projects, and the credit may be used for teacher re-certification.

The cost is $34.40, and students may register through Nov. 3 at the Student Services Office.

EDFP 10/26/93

Defense class at NNCC

Local karate instructor Baruch Zohar will conduct a seminar on self-defense techniques at Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC) from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Nov. 4 in the Community Center social room. The registration fee is $10.

The second-degree blackbelt has been teaching karate in Elko since 1987. In his self-defense classes, he focuses on techniques that will enable students to escape from assailants and protect themselves.

Participants should wear comfortable clothing and are encouraged to "bring their own attacker," a friend who will not be charged a registration fee.

Those interested may call 753-2231 to register.

EDFP 10/28/93

EDFP
10-27-93

How To Buy Or Sell A Business and How To Buy A Franchise...

Richard Bartholet and John Larsen will present this seminar. Richard Bartholet is a business broker with Pennington and Associates. John Larsen is the founder of Port of Subs. Take advantage of their valuable information. Learn how to search for a business, decide how much the business is worth, what should be included in the offer, how to perform due diligence, and the best way to close the deal. John Larsen will specifically discuss evaluating franchise opportunities.

Thursday, November 4, from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m.
Greenhaw Technical Arts Building, Room 124

Cost is $25.

Registration ends Tuesday, November 2.

For more information or to register, please contact the Nevada Small Business Development Center
at 753-2245.

Business seminars this week at NNCC

Three workshops related to business are scheduled this week at Northern Nevada Community College, including one on "Buying Or Selling a Business and How to Buy a Franchise."

The seminar on franchises is scheduled for Thursday from 6 to 9 p.m. in Room 124 of the Greenhaw Technical Arts Building, with Richard Bartholet and John Larsen as the presenters.

Bartholet is a business broker with Pennington and Associates of Reno, and Larsen is founder of Port of Subs.

The two will provide information on how to search for a business, how to tell how much a business is worth and how to make and close a deal. Larsen will also discuss evaluating franchise opportunities, said Tracy Echeverria of the Small Business Development Center.

The center and NNCC are sponsoring the seminar, which cost $25. Registration ends Tuesday. Anyone interested in registering or obtaining more information can call Echever-

ria at the SBDC, 753-2245.

"Effective Business Writing Skills" is another seminar planned for this week. It will be held Friday from 1 to 4 p.m. in McMullen Hall, Room 12, of NNCC.

The workshop on improving communication skills and writing effective letters, memos and proposals will be taught by Richard McNally.

The course fee is $25, and it is also sponsored by SBDC and NNCC. Anyone wanting to register or learn more about the class can call the Continuing Education Office at 753-2231.

Also beginning on Friday will be a one-credit seminar on "Graphics for WordPerfect." The seminar is slated for 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday in the Greenhaw Technical Arts Building, Room 119.

Echeverria said participants will learn how to sharpen presentations, papers and proposals with tables, boxes and other graphics.

The fee is $34.40. To register, contact Student Services at 753-2245. This seminar is also sponsored by SBDC and NNCC.

EDFP 10/30/93

Business seminars this week at NNCC

10-30-93
EDFP
Three workshops related to business are scheduled this week at Northern Nevada Community College, including one on "Buying Or Selling a Business and How to Buy a Franchise."

The seminar on franchises is scheduled for Thursday from 6 to 9 p.m. in Room 124 of the Greenhaw Technical Arts Building, with Richard Bartholet and John Larsen as the presenters.

Bartholet is a business broker with Pennington and Associates of Reno, and Larsen is founder of Port of Subs.

The two will provide information on how to search for a business, how to tell how much a business is worth and how to make and close a deal. Larsen will also discuss evaluating franchise opportunities, said Tracy Echeverria of the Small Business Development Center.

The center and NNCC are sponsoring the seminar, which cost $25. Registration ends Tuesday. Anyone interested in registering or obtaining more information can call Echever-

ria at the SBDC, 753-2245.

"Effective Business Writing Skills" is another seminar planned for this week. It will be held Friday from 1 to 4 p.m. in McMullen Hall, Room 12, of NNCC.

The workshop on improving communication skills and writing effective letters, memos and proposals will be taught by Richard McNally.

The course fee is $25, and it is also sponsored by SBDC and NNCC. Anyone wanting to register or learn more about the class can call the Continuing Education Office at 753-2231.

Also beginning on Friday will be a one-credit seminar on "Graphics for WordPerfect." The seminar is slated for 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday in the Greenhaw Technical Arts Building, Room 119.

Echeverria said participants will learn how to sharpen presentations, papers and proposals with tables, boxes and other graphics.

The fee is $34.40. To register, contact Student Services at 753-2245. This seminar is also sponsored by SBDC and NNCC.

presenting

Carrie Dann

1993 Right Livelihood award winner

Wednesday, October 27, 1993

7:00 P.M.

Student Union

Join Carrie and Firefly as they discuss:
*Western Shoshone Sovereignty Issues, the Ruby Valley
Treaty of 1863, and the release of United States
Political Prisoner, Clifford Dann*

Also featured will be the film
To Protect Mother Earth
narrated by Robert Redford

Admission FREE

C. Dann to speak at NNCC

Carrie Dann, 1993 Rights Livelihood award winner, is slated to speak from 7 to 9 p.m. tomorrow at the student union at Northern Nevada Community College, according to Steve Traisman.

Dann will speak on Western Shoshone sovereignty issues, the Ruby Valley Treaty of 1863 and "U.S. political prisoner" Clifford Dann, who was sentenced in May to nine months in prison, with credit for two months served, for assaulting a U.S. Bureau of Land Management agent during a roundup of the family's livestock. He doused himself with gasoline and some of it splashed on Ranger Roy Crayton, leading to an assault charge.

The film "To Protect Mother Earth," narrated by Robert Redford, also will be shown at the event, which is open to the public.

EDFP 10/26/93

Carrie Dann gives warning to others on human rights

Carrie Dann, who was named a Right Livelihood Award winner earlier this month, talked at Northern Nevada Community College about two of her causes, Western Shoshone land rights and nuclear testing.

Referring to the latest proposed grazing fee hike, she said, "I see what the BLM is doing to ranchers. If the U.S. can trample my rights, it can trample yours too."

Dann, a Crescent Valley rancher, has been involved in a battle against the federal government, the U.S. Bureau of Land Management in particular, over grazing rights for many years.

The BLM has seized horses belonging to the Dann family in the past, and she said she expects another raid any time now.

Dann said the Ruby Valley Treaty of 1863 never ceded Western Shoshone land, and the Indians have a right to use the land to graze their stock.

"Our sovereignty ... is gone because the secretary of the Interior now has the say so on so-called colonies and assignment lands," she said Wednesday night.

"Today we find we are ruled by three acts of Congress passed against us," the citizenship, reorganization and Indian claims laws, she said.

She and her sister, Mary, fought their battle in the courts for years, but lost. Now, she says she doesn't trust the courts.

"There is no justice for people of color or low income. It all depends on who you can buy for your mouth-piece," she said.

On another topic, Carrie Dann said, "Nuclear testing is suicide, it's not national security."

She said "there's got to be venting" of the energy released in tests at the Nevada Test Site and the radiation affects all life.

"As long as scientists continue nuclear testing, you'll see more and more cancer, kidney disease and diabetes. It affects all of our health," she said.

On Oct. 5, President Clinton ordered U.S. energy officials to prepare to resume nuclear testing in the wake of a Chinese test despite a moratorium.

Carrie Dann, 54, and Mary, 64, were chosen as recipients of the Right Livelihood Award, also called the "alternative Nobel," for their efforts to protect the rights of indigenous people to their land.

Carrie Dann said the $200,000 award will be split five ways, including one share for her, one for her sister and the remainder for three other women also named as recipients.

The award will be presented in Stockholm, Sweden, Dec. 9, and Carrie Dann said she plans to be there, but her sister won't be going.

The award was founded by Swedish-German writer Jakob von Uexkull in 1980 to support grassroots work that improves lives in practical ways.

The program at NNCC also included a talk by Rip Lonewolf, coordinator of the Western Shoshone Defense Project, and a showing of the video "Mother Earth," narrated by Robert Redford and featuring the Dann sisters.

Dann supporter Steve Traisman organized the event.

EDFP 10/18/93

Carrie Dann spoke at Northern Nevada Community College.

MORE COMPUTER CLASSES?

A capital idea!

Computer Literacy - CIS 101 (01235, E03)

Tuesday and Thursday
5:30-6:45 p.m.
Larry Hyslop, Instructor
3 Credits: $103.20

Introduction to Windows - CIS 198B (01240, E12)

Monday, 7-10 p.m.
September 27 through October 25
Karen Tempel, Instructor
1 Credit: $34.40

Introduction to Windows - CIS 198B (01241, E13)

Monday, 7-10 p.m.
November 8 through December 6
Karen Tempel, Instructor
1 Credit: $34.40

REGISTER TODAY AT STUDENT SERVICES, BERG HALL

HOME

Means Nevada

featuring noted photographer Linda Duferrena

Thursday, October 28, 1993
7:00 p.m.

Greenhaw Technical Arts Lecture Room

158 slides, combined with music and poetry, provide a vision of Nevada that is peaceful, humorous, and haunting.

The film, created by Duferrena, musician Joyce Vetter, and cowboy poet Paul Schmitt, was inspired by Nevada's wind-sculpted mountains, soft desert light, and vast silent spaces.

Refreshments available for purchase provided by the Ethnic Minority Affairs Committee of NNCC

NNCC presents film about life in Nevada

NORTHERN NEVADA COMMUNITY COLLEGE
member, the state affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities

Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC) will present "Home Means Nevada," a film by award-winning photographer Linda Duferrena, at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Greenhaw Technical Arts Lecture Room.

The film combines 158 slides of Nevada landscapes, people and lifestyles set to the music of the state song of the same name.

Duferrena also will introduce musician Joyce Vetter, who provided various arrangements of the song and supervised the recording by a San Francisco music group.

The film also features the poetry of cowboy Paul Schmitt, who wrote an original poem for the work.

According to the Nevada Humanities Committee, the film "provides a vision of Nevada that is peaceful, humorous and haunting."

The film is the third program in NNCC's humanities series entitled "The West Is Home." Other presentations include the daily exhibition of "Black Nevadans — Yesterday and Today" on display through Thursday in the College Community Center, and the showing of "Thousand Pieces of Gold," a film based on the work of Ruth McCunn at 7 p.m. Nov. 18 and 12 p.m. Nov. 19 in the lecture room.

Admission is free.

EDFP 10/26/93

Work. Class, Lecture
12.7

RECLAIMING LIVES: Challenges and Responsibilities

Please join distinguished author and lecturer

Ruthanne Lum McCunn

for a slide presentation and lecture dedicated to the process of recognizing and preserving diverse heritages through writing

Ms. McCunn is an Amerasian born in San Francisco's Chinatown. The daughter of a captain in the United States Merchant Marine, she grew up in Hong Kong in an extended family spanning three generations and five cultures.

In 1990, one of her works was made into the highly acclaimed film
A Thousand Pieces of Gold.

Thursday, September 30, 1993

7:00 p.m. - Lecture Room
Greenhaw Technical Arts

A reception and book signing will follow the presentation

Presented by Northern Nevada Community College with assistance from the Nevada Humanities Committee, the state affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities

Ms. McCunn will also appear with Ann Herbert Scott at the Nevada Library Association Convention,
Elko Convention Center,
Friday, October 1, 9-10 a.m., and present
Writing Children's Books in Western Settings

A Thousand Pieces of Gold

at NNCC 82 11-17-93

The final segment of Northern Nevada Community College's Fall Humanities series, A Thousand Pieces of Gold will be presented on Thursday, November 18 at 7:00 p.m. and again on November 19 at noon in the Greenhaw Technical Arts Center.

The film is based upon the work of Ruthanne Lum McCunn, the college's guest lecturer last September. According to Nancy Remington, English instructor and organizer of this humanities series, "The film is an important contribution to the history of Asian pioneer women on the American frontier."

During Spring, two lectures, Navajo Song and Native American Voices will be presented, as well as a photo exhibit entitled The Asian-American Experience in the Silver State.

For more information concerning this film or next semester's series, please contact NNCC, 753-2330.

93-94

D AND BEAT THOSE

Test Anxiety Blues!

Test Taking & Test Anxiety Workshops:

Monday, October 4
12-1 p.m.
Berg Hall 7

Wednesday, October 6
6-7 p.m.
Berg Hall 7

Thursday, October 7
9-10 a.m.
Berg Hall 7

Friday, October 8
12-1 p.m.
Berg Hall 7

JOIN THE BAND AND BEAT THOSE

Study Skills & Test Anxiety Blues!

Study Skills
Workshops:

Free!

Tuesday, September 14
12-1 p.m.
Berg Hall 7

Wednesday, September 15
6-7 p.m.
Berg Hall 7

Thursday, September 16
9-10 a.m.
Berg Hall 7

Test Taking & Test Anxiety
Workshops:

Monday, October 4
12-1 p.m.
Berg Hall 7

Wednesday, October 6
6-7 p.m.
Berg Hall 7

Thursday, October 7
9-10 a.m.
Berg Hall 7

Friday, October 8
12-1 p.m.
Berg Hall 7

NEED MORE INFO?

March on over to the Counseling Office,
Berg Hall.

Elderhostel?

What is an Elderhostel?

NNCC will offer Elko's first Elderhostel program this September 26 - October 3, Sunday afternoon to Saturday morning. The Elderhostelers will be on campus all day Monday and Tuesday, including lunch at the cafeteria. Wednesday through Friday, they will be on field trips.

Elderhostel is a non-profit educational program which provides an academic adventure for adults 60 and older who are looking for something different. Promoted through the national organization's catalogs, the fast growing organization currently has programs located on 1800 campuses across the country and throughout the world. Last year, almost 1/4 million people enrolled in Elderhostel.

The typical Elderhostelers are people who enjoy learning, and attend programs to learn about the special features and people of the area. Our 39 Elderhostelers are mostly from California, with five from Nevada, and others from Florida, Canada, Ohio and Virginia. Most are married couples or friends traveling together. Seven are traveling alone, including an 85-year-old. They are arriving to learn about and enjoy Elko's cultural heritage, history and beautiful setting.

Their fee of $350 pays for the 6-night program, including housing, meals, classes and any incidentals. Elderhostelers will stay at the Gold Country Inn. Breakfasts and dinners are taken at the restaurant in the motel. Newmont Gold and the Red Lion have donated buses to transport the participants.

The three non-credit, undergraduate level courses offered include:

- "Folk Arts of the Nevada Cowboy" with Hal Cannon
- "The Donner Party Through Nevada" with Charles Greenhaw
- "Exploring the Desert in Sketches" with Patty Fox

There is no homework, preparatory work, or grades. Each class meets for one and a half hours a day, and involves lengthy field trips. Evening activities are also planned during the week.

Our next Elderhostel program is already planned. It will take place the week of June 12- June 18, 1994. The courses offered will be "The Roots of Cowboy Music" with Blanton Owen, "Wagon Ruts in the Sage" with Charles Greenhaw, and "Islands in the Desert" with Lois and Mark Ports.

When you see them here on campus, please take the time to greet them. They are an interesting and enthusiastic group.

Larry Hyslop

93-94

Anxiety Bites.

Time to visit the Critical Skills Lab in Lundberg Hall 4.

ENGLISH TUTORING

MONDAY

9:00 a.m. — 2:00 p.m.

TUESDAY

9:00 a.m. — 8:00 p.m.

WEDNESDAY

9:00 a.m. — 3:00 p.m.
4:00 p.m. — 8:00 p.m.

THURSDAY

9:00 a.m. — 5:00 p.m.

FRIDAY

9:00 a.m. — 2:00 p.m.

SATURDAY

Not available

MATH TUTORING

MONDAY

4:00 p.m. — 7:00 p.m.

WEDNESDAY

4:00 p.m. — 7:00 p.m.

Math Tutor: Sue Malcolm
McMullen Hall 16

COMPUTER AID

MONDAY

10:30 a.m. — 5:30 p.m.

TUESDAY

3:30 p.m. — 10:00 p.m.

WEDNESDAY

10:30 a.m. — 5:30 p.m.

THURSDAY

3:30 p.m. — 10:00 p.m.

FRIDAY

10:30 a.m. — 5:00 p.m.

SATURDAY

10:00 a.m. — 4:30 p.m.

TUTORING FOR OTHER ACADEMIC SUBJECTS:

*Individual tutoring of other academic subjects
is available through the Counselor's Office in Berg Hall.
See Debbie Heaton-Lamp or Phil Smith.*

ED 10-6-93

NNCC designated Ford Regional Training Center

Northern Nevada Community College is the new site of a Ford Regional Training Center to provide training on Ford vehicles for dealers and fleet owners. All training is provided free of charge.

Barrick Goldstrike was instrumental in persuading Ford to locate in Elko, a distinction not easily earned. Representatives of the Ford Motor Company must approve the site and final approval is given through its main office in Deaver, Colorado.

According to Carl Cook, automotive technology instructor "We beat out Rock Springs and Twin Falls, and they shut down the Grand Junction, Colorado operation to relocate in Elko."

More information can be obtained by contacting Mr. Cook at 753-2315.

A new training partnership has also been instituted between NNCC and Caterpillar, Inc. and Cashman Equipment. Over a four-year period, the college diesel technology program will receive $200,000.00 as an outreach facility or training center for Caterpillar, Inc.

Only twenty-five other training centers exist in the entire United States with NNCC being one of only three chosen in 1993. Bret Murphy, diesel instructor instrumental in the selection of Elko, stated "The designation is not given indiscriminately, so we are extremely proud to be selected."

The Caterpillar-Cashman NNCC Diesel Technician Program' will utilize local instructors, over 2600 square feet of training space and recruit students from around the service area. NNCC will specifically recruit three students per year who will be given scholarships for this program.

NNCC announces new diesel program

Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC) has formed a training partnership with Caterpillar and Cashman Equipment.

Bret Murphy, NNCC diesel instructor, approached the two companies several months ago with a proposal to develop a curriculum and provide specialized training for students.

After meeting "rigorous standards," according to Murphy, NNCC qualified to become a training center.

Those enrolled in the Caterpillar-Cashman NNCC Diesel Technician

Program will receive technical assistance, components, training media, tools, and instructor training from the companies. Students will receive comprehensive heavy equipment training, according to NNCC spokesman Joyce Shaw.

Students will be recruited. Applicants will be tested for mechanical aptitude, math and English ability. Final selections will be made following an interview process, and each year NNCC will award three scholarships to the program, according to Shaw.

EDFP 10-6-93

UNR offers MBA class at NNCC

University of Nevada, Reno (UNR) is offering "Special Topics: Business and Environmental Law" at Northern Nevada Community College (NNCC) as part of the master's degree in business administration.

The three-credit course will be held on Fridays and Saturdays, Nov. 5-6 and 19-20; and Dec. 3-4 and 17-18 in Berg Hall. The Nov. 5 class will meet from 5 to 6 p.m. and future class times will be announced. A required pre-course meeting will be held from 5 to 6 p.m. Oct. 20 in the NNCC bookstore. A $232.50 fee is due then.

The course will focus on the process involved in developing environmental policy and law, and how those laws are implemented and enforced by federal and state regulatory agencies.

Those interested should call Angela de Braga at 738-7659.

10-6-93 EDFP

Dealing 21 course at NNCC

EDFP 10-6-93

Registration is under way for Northern Nevada Community College's "Techniques of Dealing 21" course, scheduled from 9 a.m. to noon Tuesdays and Thursdays beginning tomorrow.

Instructor Jennifer Rather, a pit manager at the Commercial Hotel, will teach students the basics of dealing blackjack, including shuffling, pitching cards, cutting checks and deck protection. Students will learn the fundamentals of good customer relations.

The cost of the three-credit course is $88.20, and students may register by calling Student Services at 738-9493.

The West is Home, photo exhibit at NNCC

ED 10-13-93

The second in a series of programs, entitled The West is Home will be presented Thursday, October 14, 7:00 p.m. and Friday, October 15, 12:00 Noon with the showing of the film The Milagro Beanfield War. The Ethnic Minority Affairs Committee of NNCC will host the presentation in the Greenhaw Technical Arts Lecture Room and invites the public to enjoy either showing of the free film and "nacho-fests" scheduled to follow.

A touring photo Exhibit is currently on display through October 28 in the NNCC Community Center foyer. The exhibit, Black Nevadans: Yesterday and Today, is a fascinating account of the substantial contributions to our state's history made by Black Nevadans. For instance, it is not widely known that the first Nevada Baptist Church was a Black church in Virginia City, or that one of the wealthiest ranchers in western Nevada during the 19th century was black. Of local interest, the author of the first book published by a resident of Elko, barber Thomas Detter (1871) was black.

This outstanding exhibition was produced in conjunction with the Nevada Black History Project and made possible by the Nevada Humanities Committee. For further information or to schedule group visitations, please contact Valerie Easterly at 753-2330.

Seniors take tour of NNCC

Members of Elko chapter No. 747 of the American Association of Retired Persons joined Elko chapter of Retired Public Employees of Nevada for an Oct. 11 tour of the Northern Nevada Community College campus.

Stan Aiazzi showed members through the Technical Arts Building, which has advanced closed circuit television for classes involving instructors at University of Nevada, Reno and University of Nevada, Las Vegas. He also showed the diesel and automotive shops.

Jeanne Blach showed members through the Community Building and pointed out areas for future buildings.

Following the tour, Leon Menke, AARP president, conducted a meeting. She also announced the subjects of future meetings. On Nov. 16, officer and chairmen training will be conducted by acting State Director Wally Kurtz of Reno and Ronald Stoller of Las Vegas and the annual meeting will be held at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 17 when members will vote for 1994 officers and board members. Reports also will be presented on the Northern Nevada State Meeting held this month.

Members are selling two-year pocket calendars for $1.

Channel 14 moves to 15

Elko's public television station will no longer be broadcast on channel 14, according to K14AO station manager Tony Salvatierra.

But viewers who have become attached to the programming on public TV need not worry; the station has not been canceled. Public TV is now being broadcast on channel 15.

"People think we're off the air," Salvatierra said. "We need to get the word out we have just switched channels."

Salvatierra said cable subscribers will not be affected by the change, only those who tune in to the channel using an antenna.

K14AO broadcasts from the Northern Nevada Community College.

Salvatierra said some of the programming includes children's shows such as "Sesame Street" and "Barney," National Geographic specials, mystery theater and musical performances.

RC Layne granted injunction by Ames

Elko District Judge Jack Ames has ordered a preliminary injunction against construction of the second phase of the Northern Nevada Community College community center, and ordered a Nov. 4 trial between RC Layne and the Nevada Public Works Board.

In court papers issued Friday, Judge Ames awarded RC Layne the work stoppage because the state board changed language in its notice for bid, which resulted in "ambiguity" in compliance. RC Layne sought the injunction after its low bid was thrown out by the state board earlier this month for failure to list subcontractors.

The state board then gave the contract for the 14,233-square-foot theater to Sierra Builders.

Judge Ames also stated that RC Layne "could suffer from irreparable injury in that it could be without a construction project for the winter months. This would have an effect not only on the company, but also on the people which it employs and could therefore cause widespread irreparable harm."

The non-jury trial was set Monday, court officials said yesterday.

4 ELKO DAILY FREE PRESS, Elko, Nevada Tuesday, October 12, 1993

RC Layne seeks halt to NNCC construction

Elko District Judge Jack Ames has denied a request from the Nevada Public Works Board for a change of venue in RC Layne's motion for a preliminary injunction against awarding of a bid for the second phase of the Northern Nevada Community College community center.

In a decision, announced Friday, Judge Ames denied the state's request to move proceedings to Carson City. "There are sufficient Elko County connections to consider Elko County as a place where the cause of some part thereof arose," he stated in court papers.

RC Layne has requested the injunction to stop Sierra Builders from starting construction on a 14,233-square-foot theater. Last month, RC Layne had the lowest bid, but the public works board threw out the bid because of RC Layne's failure to list subcontractors. RC Layne contends it did not have to list its subcontractors until after being awarded the contract.

RC Layne's base bid of $2.1 million was $40,000 less, according to court records.

In a hearing Thursday in Elko District Court, arguments were not heard on the motion for the injunction. The state has until tomorrow to submit documents against the restraining order, and RC Layne will have until Monday to reply, Judge Ames stated.

Judge Ames said he would make a decision based on the papers that are filed.

Attorney Michael Spring of Reno is representing RC Layne, while Jonathan Andrews, chief deputy attorney general of the civil division, is representing the state.

work, classes, lectures 12 E

Deposits due Nov. 8 for NNCC Etruscan tour

EDFP
Deposits are due Nov. 8 for the Northern Nevada Community College tour to Provo, Utah, to see the Etruscan Exhibit at Brigham Young University Dec. 3-5, announced Sarah Sweetwater, head of the NNCC art department.

Cost for each traveler is $144 for charter bus transportation, lodging, one college credit and a ticket to the exhibit. Food is not included in the price.

"BYU is the only place anywhere in the Western United States where the traveling exhibit can be seen," Sweetwater said.

She compared the Etruscan exhibit in importance to the Ramses II Egyptian exhibit that traveled to BYU a few years ago, and explained the Etruscans lived in north central Italy between Florence and Rome from about the eighth century B.C. to the fourth century A.D. The area is known today as Tuscany — a name derived from Etruscan.

"Where they came from, where they went and who they were is still the subject of lively debate among scholars," she said. "Their difficult language has no kin to any other known in history.

"The elaborate tombs of the Etruscans [like those of the Egyptians] are the window through which we view their culture. These tombs, in stone, imitate the interiors of actual dwellings.

"The exhibit will include sarcophagi, wall paintings, pottery enhanced with narrative drawings and impressive gold and metal work.

"The Etruscans were masters of 10-30-93

architectural engineering, town planning and surveying."

In pre-trip classes, Sweetwater will discuss some of the important characteristics of the Etruscans and their impact on art, architecture and civilization.

Tourists will leave Elko at 4 p.m. Dec. 3 to spend two nights at the Red Lion Inn in Salt Lake City. Early on Dec. 4, they will travel to BYU to see the exhibit in Provo.

After returning to Salt Lake City on Saturday, students may choose to attend a Christmas matinee concert by Mannheim Steamroller (Fresh Aire) for $25, an Abravanel Concert Hall evening performance of Mozart's 29th Symphony and Bruckner's Sixth Symphony conducted by Yoel Levi ($15 or $20 tickets) or go shopping. Seats for the musical events need to be reserved immediately, Sweetwater said.

Scheduled events Sunday that students may enjoy include attending a Mormon Tabernacle Choir recording performance at 9:30 a.m., visiting the refurbished historical Hotel Utah and/or attending a guided tour of the newly restored Cathedral of the Madeline.

Other options are Christmas shopping, seeing a movie, "The Legacy" in the Hotel Utah, viewing watercolor and Nutcracker exhibits at the Salt Lake Art Center, looking at decorated Christmas trees at the Festival of Trees in the Salt Palace or touring the Lion and Beehive Houses.

Those interested should call 738-8770.

RC Layne suit settled

A settlement between RC Layne and the Nevada Public Works Board will mean rebidding of the second phase of the Northern Nevada Community College community center, said Stanley Brown Jr., attorney for RC Layne.

The settlement was filed Monday in Elko District Court. Brown stated that all bids for the project have been rejected and rebidding will be held in the spring.

RC Layne sued last month after the state board awarded the contract for the 14,233-square-foot college theater to Sierra Builders. RC Layne had the lowest bid, but it was thrown out for the company's failure to list subcontractors. RC Layne stated in court papers that it did not have to list them until after being awarded the bid.

RC Layne's base bid of $2.1 million was $40,000 less.

Last month, Elko District Judge Jack Ames issued a preliminary injunction stopping Sierra Builders from starting construction. But Brown said the judge could not compel the board to award RC Layne the bid.

EDFP 11/17/93

FFA meets at NNCC

Ruby Mountain Future Farmers of American chapter held a meeting Oct. 28 at Northern Nevada Community College, reported James Riordan, chapter reporter.

Gwen Spratling, Nevada state secretary, was the guest speaker. She spoke on problems facing today's agriculture.

The chapter discussed current activities and future plans. Members reviewed the jerky sale and made plans for a masquerade ball.

Travel plans for the upcoming national FFA convention were also discussed.

EDFP 11/6/93